AGED WOMAN CRUELLY SLAIN BY FIEND

EX-CONVCIT IS ARRESTED

'Baby John' Martin to Tell of Dynamiting

WILL RELATE STORY OF CRIME

Foster Mother to Cross-Examine Boy When He Takes Witness Stand.

Mrs. Frank Ogden and Judge Are Called and Tell of Explosion.

"BABY" JOHN MARTIN as he appeared this morning in the District Attorney's office.

While "Baby John" Martin, tall, slender and wearing a neat-fitting suit of blue serge, waited nervously in the office of the district attorney this morning to be called as the state's principal witness in the case against Isabella J. Martin, his erstwhile punative mother, Mrs. Laura I. Ogden, graphically retold from the witness stand in Superior Judge William S. Wells' court of how, on the night of March 19, 1907, the front of her home in Alice street was blown out by a dynamite bomb.

Mrs. Ogden testified during her direct examination that she was alone in the house with her two children when the explosion occurred, going into details of what she heard and saw after the infernal machine had done its work of destruction, and then told the jury about several calls that Mrs. Martin had made upon her husband, Judge Frank B. Ogden, at intervals covering several years prior to the dynamiting.

SOUGHT HER ASSISTANCE.

On one of these occasions Mrs. Ogden said, Mrs. Martin called on her and asked her to use her influence with her husband to decide a case pending against her before him in her favor. The witness also related a conversation she had on another occasion with Mrs. Martin with reference to the neglected education of "Baby John," saying that a few days afterward she received a letter from Mrs. Martin telling her in substance that she did not wish Mrs. Ogden or anybody else to meddle with her rearing of the boy, because that was none of her business.

Reverting to the explosion Mrs. Ogden described to the jury the complete wreck

Grape and Canister Do Death's Work

Nicaraguan Troops at Leon Mow Down Populace in Streets of the City.

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Nov. 14.—Troops were called out to suppress a political demonstration at Leon yesterday and meeting with resistance swept the streets with grape and canister. Many persons were killed or wounded. The excitement is intense.

The government recently postponed political demonstrations. In the face of this prohibition the Leon Liberals gathered in the streets and attempted to hold a meeting. The police interfered, but were unable to disperse the crowd, which attacked the officers. Troops were then summoned, and reaching the scene, drove the rioters to cover.

OAKLANDER IS SLAIN IN MEXICO

Joseph C. Ellick Is Murdered and Robbed by Band of Thugs.

Body Found in Mountains by Partner; Assassins Make Their Escape.

Joseph C. Ellick of Oakland, secretary of the La Purisima Mining Company in Sinaloa, Mexico, was murdered by a band of robbers as he was returning to his mine with money with which to pay the help, September 30 last. His nude and mutilated body was found on the lonely trail the next day by his partner, T. F. McAvoy, who went out in search of him. The information regarding the murder has just been received in this city in private letters from McAvoy.

FINDS FRIEND'S BODY.

According to the letters received Ellick had gone to another mine to get some money with which to pay the hands before he should leave there for Oakland, where he expected to arrive before Christmas. He and his partner were the only Americans within a three days' trip on mules over a lonely mountain trail and the two of them were in constant fear of their lives. When Ellick did not return on schedule time his partner, becoming alarmed, went out in search of him.

Within a short distance of the camp McAvoy was shocked to find the mutilated body of his friend lying near the side of the trail. The remains had been stripped of their clothing and placed in

CHARGE INN VIOLATED LIQUOR LAW

District Attorney Declares Hunter's Inn Should Lose License

Batchelders Swear They Were Served After Midnight at Roadhouse

Next Monday afternoon, Maloney & Fenton, proprietors and managers of Hunters' Inn on the foothills boulevard near San Leandro, will have to disprove the charge of having sold liquor between midnight and 5 o'clock in the morning or suffer the loss of their liquor license.

That was the time set for the hearing of testimony under the charge which was filed this morning by District Attorney Donahue who supported the charge with affidavits of people setting forth that, at divers times, after midnight and before 5 o'clock in the morning, they had made various purchases of spirituous liquors.

In filing the charge and affidavits, District Attorney Donahue said that Maloney, one of the proprietors of the resort had been warned against the violation of the law and, continuing, the attorney said:

"The assistant district attorney sent for Maloney and told him that he ought not to violate the law and that it would be better for him to discontinue the sale of liquor after midnight. The most aggravated feature of the case is the selling of liquor to women. We ask that the board set a day for the hearing of the case and we will produce the witnesses to sustain the charge."

MONDAY IS SET.

The board accordingly set next Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock for the purpose.

The district attorney then stated that the subpoenas of Maloney & Fenton would have to be served by the sheriff and the clerk was instructed by the board to forward the subpoenas to that officer.

The affidavits filed by the district attorney were made by J. O. Batchelder, 613 Nineteenth street; Leonard Chapman, 864 Brush street; Charles L. Hough, chauffeur, Alice Batchelder; Al H. Riehn, 868 Union street; W. G. Hewitt, 4326 Glen avenue; Henry Schultz, 2021 Magnolia street; B. Winnie, 265 Twelfth street.

DONAHUE'S STATEMENT.

District Attorney Donahue had the following to say today:

"There have been a number of complaints made to my office of the open, notorious and wanton violation of the liquor law by the proprietors of Hunter's Inn.

"An unenforced law is more dangerous, in many instances than the absence of a statute. There is an ordinance in the County of Alameda, as in every other county, regulating the sale of liquor and men who obtain a license under this ordinance should have enough respect for the law to obey the ordinance. If the liquor ordinance is allowed to be violated, it is an invitation to others to violate other laws and shows a breaking down and a disrespect for all law. It is not fair to other men who are engaged in this business that any one man, or any one firm, should be allowed to violate the ordinance. So far as I am concerned as District Attorney of Alameda County, every statute and ordinance will be enforced and in this instance, I intend to press the matter before the Board of Supervisors, to the extent that this license be revoked, and that a lesson be given to every man in the County of Alameda that the liquor ordinance, as well as every other law, must be obeyed."

WOULD REVOKE LICENSE.

District Attorney's letter to the Supervisors is as follows:

"The Honorable, the Board of Supervisors, County of Alameda, State of California.

"Gentlemen: Maloney & Fenton were, upon the 15th day of May, 1910, granted a liquor license by your honorable board to conduct a saloon known as Hunter's Inn near San Leandro, in the County of Alameda, State of California.

"Section 10 of your liquor ordinance provides:

". . . that the applicant or appli-

TWO GIRLS SHOT BY TEN-YEAR-OLD BOY

Vincent Fertietti Wounds His Cousins With a Big Shotgun

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—While playing with a double-barreled shotgun which he had taken from the wall in the absence of his parents, Vincent Fertiette, a 10-year-old boy, shot his two cousins, Clara Serle, aged 8 years, and Veronica Serlo, aged 11 years, the former being in a serious condition at the Central Emergency Hospital. After the shooting the lad, terrified at what he had done, ran away from his home at 1738 Greenwich street, and thus far has not been found.

The Fertietti and Serlo families live in a double house, each occupying one side. Today the three children, as usual, began to play together, and while searching for some new kind of amusement the boy got hold of the heavily loaded old field piece.

PULLS TRIGGER.

The little girls were much interested in the manly way in which he handled the firearm, and were laughing with glee when of a sudden the boy pulled the trigger. Two girlish voices sent forth a wail of agony, and both fell to the floor, Clara with her lung torn and her sister with a wound in the neck.

Vincent stopped but one moment to look at his cousins, and then rushed away. The mother of the little girls, hearing their cries and terrified at the report of the shots, rushed into the room and gathered them into her arms.

BOTH WILL RECOVER.

The Central Emergency ambulance was summoned and the children were soon under the care of a physician. Clara Serlo has a chance of recovery, while Veronica's injury is of a superficial nature.

Detective Mackey was detailed from headquarters to investigate, but satisfied himself that the whole affair was an accident. The police of the North End station are looking for Fertietti, the family fearing that the boy may be led to do something desperate, fancying that he has killed his playmates.

Aviator Succeeds In Daring Flight

Birdman Soars Aloft From the Cruiser Birmingham While At Sea.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 14. — Eugene Ely, flying in the Curtiss biplane "Hudson Flyer" made today the first successful aeroplane flight on record from the deck of a vessel.

From a point in lower Chesapeake bay, presumed to be about 30 miles from the Norfolk navy yard, his objective point, Ely this afternoon sailed from the deck of the United States scout cruiser Birmingham, landing 15 minutes afterward at Willoughby Spit a narrow strip of sand running out from the mainland on the south side of Hampton Roads, just opposite Old Point Comfort and about eight miles from Norfolk.

Wife Kills Husband And Slays Herself

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Dr. Theodore R. Burglorf was shot and killed by his wife, Anna, in their home in Bronx Borough today. After shooting her husband Mrs. Burglorf shot herself. The cause of the tragedy is not known.

It developed that Mrs. Bergtorf had long been the victim of a facial disease which caused her excrutiating pain. This, she gasped out at the hospital, made her wish to die, and she shot her husband, who is a prominent physician, because she could not bear to leave him behind.

Packing Company Wins In Court of Errors

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 14. — The state court of errors and appeals this afternoon reversed the decision of Supreme Court Justice Swayze, directing the National Packing Company and the other big packing concerns to produce their books before the Hudson county grand jury.

STATEMENT MADE TO THE POLICE BY MURDERER SUSPECT

I did not do it. I don't know anything about it. It is true that I am an ex-convict. I was sent up from Humboldt county. It was in 1875 that I killed James Quinn. He was a sure-thing gambler and he had robbed me of my money. I protested and in the fight he drew a pistol. I grabbed it from his hand, a struggle ensued, the gun was discharged and he was killed. I was sentenced to twenty-one years. I served thirteen years and five months and was released in 1888. That's the only trouble I've ever been in. I've been straight since and I didn't do this thing. I don't know how the blood got into my room. I don't remember anything about it. I went home about midnight. I had been playing cards in Gene Bill's saloon, Golden Gate avenue and Jones street, and I went home to bed. Yes, it is true that these clothes are mine and these are my shoes, but I don't know how the bed got covered with blood. I didn't know that anybody had been killed.—Statement made by John C. Knapp, the murder suspect.

BEATEN TO DEATH WITH AN IRON WEIGHT

Mother, Thought to Be Victim, Is Found by the Police

Scarlet Crime That Reads Like a Chapter From the Pen of Emil Zola.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Beaten to death in a horrible manner with a heavy window-weight, her body covered with blood and her face an unrecognizable mass, Mrs. Julia Cary, 85 years old, was found lying concealed behind a bill board fence in a vacant lot on Leavenworth street, a few feet from McAllister, shortly before 9 o'clock this morning, and several moments later John C. Knapp, a stableman and an ex-convict, who has already served a term for murder, was taken to the city prison and charged with the killing. A rumor to the effect that the woman was his mother is denied.

The discoveries by the police revealed the fact that the crime was one of the most atrocious and ghastly in police annals, and the alleged murderer, when he was traced to his lair, was found in a dazed condition, his clothing covered with blood and his room fairly reeking in gore.

The finding of the body was made by Frank Smith, a milkman, who noticed blood stains on the sidewalk and notified Policeman Walsh. Together with Officer Rauhl, Walsh traced the blood stains to the stable of L. E. Clawson, 16 Leavenworth street. On the sidewalk near the entrance, in a little room 6x8 feet, in the stable, they came upon Knapp. He was literally covered with blood, the entire cubby hole of an apartment was bespattered and splashed with the vital fluid which had been pounded from the face and head of the woman.

When questioned by the police, Knapp awoke as though from a stupor. He declared he could not account for the ghastly appearance of the room. In one corner lay a bloody window-weight, with a few hairs still clinging to it. The walls were crimson, the sheets of the bed were soaked in gore. One of the man's shoes was literally a cup of blood and his coat and shirt were badly stained.

MURDERED WOMAN KNOWN TO POLICE AS CHRONIC DRUNK

Mrs. Love, a matron at the city prison, accompanied Detectives Collins and Esola to the morgue shortly before noon today and identified the woman positively as Mrs. Julia Cary, 85 years old, who was one of the habitual drunkards booked at the city prison, coming in every few days and therefore being well known to the officials on duty.

Mrs. Cary had just completed a sentence of thirty days at the county jail and was last locked up in the city prison Saturday night, when she was charged with intoxication by Policeman C. W. King, who picked her up on Chenery street.

Detectives on Trail

No time was lost by the police in notifying headquarters, and Detectives Collins and Esola were detailed to investigate. They reached the scene within fifteen minutes, and carefully went over the ground. It became evident at once that the crime had been committed about three hours before, or in the neighborhood of 5 o'clock this morning. The murderer probably quarreled with the woman in the room and attacked her without giving her a chance to defend herself.

The neighborhood is a lonely one at night, and there would scarcely be a passerby at that hour to hear her screams for help, her vain implorings and her piteous appeals for mercy. It is easily apparent that the assassin beat her in a frenzied fury, smashing repeatedly at the skull and face, and as the evidence shows, even deluging her with blows as she lay unconscious or dead at his feet.

Work of a Fiend

Realizing then the enormity of the offense, and desiring in a maudlin sort of way to dispose of the body, with the caution, but not the skill of a beast, he dragged the grewsome remains a distance of fifty feet from the scene of the murder. The body was hauled along the floor, out to the sidewalk, and down Leavenworth street until a break occurred in the signboard fence, when it was drawn around and concealed in the lot. The culprit had taken no thought

Striking Expressmen Go Back to Their Work

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Four thousand striking expressmen went back to work today wearing their union buttons.

For the first time in two weeks the 1000 teams of the Adams, Wells-Fargo, United States and American Express Companies were traveling unhampered about Manhattan, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Hoboken. Slowly the great congestion of express packages was being relieved.

The only dispute of the morning took place on the Communipaw dock of the United States Express Company when the company objected to taking back ten former employes. About 150 men gathered about the place and the strikers announced that if these ten were not allowed to return to work no one formerly employed there would go back.

Later the trouble was adjusted and the strikers returned to work.

Man Drowns in Reservoir; Stops Operation of Mine

JACKSON, Cal., Nov. 14.—Because he selected the reservoir of the Argonaut Mining Company as a place to end his life, the mill and mine was forced to practically suspend operations for two days during the search for the body of O. Johnson.

Incidentally the owners of the mine and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company clashed over the expense of emptying the reservoir, and it was only after the public company had agreed to stand for the cost that the storage pond was emptied. The body was recovered early Saturday morning.

Johnson committed suicide by jumping into the reservoir from a raft. During the search for the body the power ran low and the machinery at the mill and mine could not be operated. A brother of the drowned man, who came here from Nevada, took charge of the body.

Body Seventy-Fifth Mine Disaster Victim Recovered

TRINIDAD, Colo., Nov. 14.—The mangled body of Jas. Young, the master mechanic, was removed from the wrecked Delagua mine today, raising the total number of victims recovered to 75, with 4 more known to be in the mine. Yesterday the body of F. M. Lewis, the superintendent, was found in the main slope and that of a Slav miner was also taken out.

Following the action of John R. Palmtech, representing the Montenegran government, in demanding that the coroner take official action before the bodies be buried, death certificates ascribing an explosion in the Delagua mine as the cause, were issued and the funerals were held.

Heifer Makes Meal of Greenbacks and Silver

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Nov. 14.—While milking her cows today Mrs. Luther Calvert, who lives at Clinton, dropped a pocketbook containing five twenty-dollar bills, a ten, a five and three ones and a silver quarter. The money was missed an hour later and thorough search revealed the quarter, which showed signs of having been chewed on.

A young heifer in the yard had a guilty look and a veterinary surgeon was called in. The roll was extricated from the stomach of the heifer, in a badly mutilated condition. The bills were sent to Washington to be redeemed.

AGED WOMAN SLAIN IN BRUTAL MANNER

of the crimson street which blazoned to the passerby the story of the crime He had apparently not realized the line which led to his abode until the officers swooped down upon him

Despite the evidence of their eyes the bloody aspect of the little hole in the wall where he slept, the man bravely denied the crime

Denies the Crime

"I did not do it I don't know anything about it he cried to the police men when they first taxed him with the atrocious deed

He claimed not to know the identity of the dead woman and up to this time he has not been taken to the morgue in an effort to see if he could, or would, recognize her

While the police were at the scene James Stevens, a stableman, in a somewhat intoxicated condition put in an appearance, and owing to Knapp's denial of the offense Stevens was taken into custody and booked in detinue until such time as he can divulge whether or not he knows anything about the commission of the crime or Knapp's alleged connection with it

He Is Ex-Convict

When Knapp was taken to the city prison and questioned by the detectives detailed to investigate he admitted at once that he was an ex-convict and freely and voluntarily told of the commission of a crime in 1875, but a expressly maintained and protested his innocence of the horrible deed of the early morning hours

Killed His Man

"It is true that I am an ex-convict" he said "I was sent up from Humboldt county It was in 1875 that I killed James Quinn He was a sure thing gambler and he had robbed me of my money I protested and in the fight he drew a pistol I grabbed it from his hand a struggle ensued, the gun was discharged and he was killed I was sentenced to twenty-one years I served thirteen years and five months and was was released in 1889 That's the only trouble I've ever been in I've been straight since and I didn't do this thing I tell you I didn't have anything to do with it I don't know how the blood got into my room I don't remember anything about it

"I went home about midnight I had been playing cards in Gene Bill's saloon Golden Gate avenue and Jones treet and I went home to bed Yes it is true that these are my shoes and these clothes are mine but I don't know how the bed got covered with blood I didn't know anybody had been killed I tell you I didn't do it"

The Third Degree

The officers put Knapp through the third degree He was much unnerved but would not admit knowing the identity of the dead woman He was asked if she was his mother but he quickly convinced the officer that this was impossible as his own age is 7 while his mother is 85 and Knapp claims is now living in San Jose

The dead woman who had nothing on her person to aid in identification save a set of rosary beads and a snuffbox is described as follows

She was between 70 and 75 years old five feet six inches tall weighed 160 pounds and was dressed in a dark polka dot waist and skirt with a black straw hat trimmed with white flowers Her face is absolutely unrecognizable but her features were evidently large and well formed Death undoubtedly resulted from a fractured skull from the awful beating

The Deadly Weapon

The window weight which shows plainly the marks of the blood stains which are visible to the untrained eye of an ordinary citizen was booked as evidence against Knapp

The only thing of interest found in the room of the accused was a picture which he claims is that of his mother

May Be Mother

Detective Collins on returning to headquarters after a second investigation at noon stated at first it was believed the dead woman was Knapp's mother

"When I reached the scene with Sergeant Donovan this morning I learned that Knapp had been arrested immediately in front of the stable as he was apparently walking up from the vacant lot where the body of the dead woman was discovered He denied absolutely that she is his mother and says we will find her alive in San Jose We are not convinced of this however and my examination of the body seems to indicate a slight resemblance between Knapp and the dead woman I am going to take the picture which Knapp says is that of his mother to the morgue and see for sure this afternoon

A Second Suspect

Stevens was arrested on his coming up to the scene while we were there We of course do not know whether he knows anything about it Knapp was sober enough when he was arrested but claimed to have been drunk when he retired at midnight When the officers got there his room was locked and when it was opened the blood-bespattered walls and clothing were the first things that greeted the eye"

Woman Companion

It was learned today that a Mrs Winifred Hogan, who had been a companion of Knapp had been arrested yesterday by the police for disturbing the peace and her little boy George sent to the detention home She is still in custody and Policeman Pichl who made the arrest is investigating

Makes Further Denial

Knapp when interviewed at the city prison this afternoon relative to the identification of the body as that of Mrs Julia Cary, denied knowing any such person

I never heard of her I don't know who she is he exclaimed vehemently and would not be questioned further on the subject

He supplemented his statement of the morning by declaring he has a wife and four children in this city

Sure of Identification

Mrs Love matron at the prison asserted that she could no be mistaken in her identification

The woman has been in here and out in so many times that I could not be wrong she declared she was on Saturday night I remember searching that wide pocket and finding the rosary beads and the snuffbox Anyone would recognize her clothes immediately Besides she has no teeth and this made a double positive There can be no doubt about it whatever"

Looks Like Mother

Autopsy Surgeon C E Glove this afternoon after a careful examination of the body of Mrs Cary and a comparison with the picture which Knapp says is his mother believes that they are one and the same Knapp asserted that his mother was 80 years old and this is the fact that Mrs Cary has always given when booked for drink at the prison

Either the Cary may be at fault and Knapp's statement that he does not know her a false one or his assertion that the photo of that of his mother may not be correct

At any rate he denies knowing Mrs Cary and the police realize that they have a great deal of work before them before all of the mystery surrounding the case is cleared up

MOTHER IS ALIVE AND SAYS KNAPP IS A GOOD SON

SAN JOSE, Nov. 14 — The woman alleged to have been killed by John Knapp is not his mother, the mother is here in San Jose at her home, 15 Herron street.

John Knapp, says his mother, has been a good son to her, and ever since he came out of prison he has visited her frequently and has sent her money regularly for her needs

There are three other sons, one of whom resides here Mrs Knapp is 85 years of age. her husband has been dead many years.

FEARS FOUL PLAY IS FATE OF GIRL

Mother Asks Police to Find Seventeen-Year-Old Daughter.

Leaving her home last Friday morning ostensibly to attend services at church seventeen-year old Elvera Rose daughter of Mrs M Rose of Twenty-sixth and Railroad avenues in Emeryville, has disappeared and the efforts of her family and of the police have been unavailing in finding a trace of the girl It is feared by her mother that she has either met with foul play or has been decoyed away by a young man with whom the girl was known to be friendly

The girl was happy in her home life and never spoke of being discontented or anxious to leave, and for this reason the mother fears she has suffered some injury or is being held a prisoner She is described as a pretty girl with brown hair and blue eyes fair complexion with few freckles weighed 125 pounds and when last seen wore a black dress and lace straw hat

Mrs William Ross of 11584 Seventh street has asked the police to search for her husband who has been missing from his home since the morning of November

Ross left his wife with the announcement that he had obtained work at the shipyard of Moore & Scott He has not returned and his wife who is left destitute has made inquiries at the shipyard only to find that he had not called there that morning He was 50 years of age five feet ten inches in height weighed 160 pounds, and had light hair and blue eyes He was dressed in workman's clothes

STOPPED SHORT

Taking Tonics, and Built Up on Right Food

The mistake is frequently made of trying to build up a worn-out nervous system on so called tonics—drugs

New material from which to rebuild wasted nerve cells is what should be supplied, and this can be obtained only from proper food

Two years ago I found myself on the verge of a complete nervous collapse due to overwork and study and to illness in the family" writes a Wisconsin young mother

"My friends became alarmed because I grew pale and thin and could not sleep nights I took various tonics prescribed by physicians but their effects were off shortly after I stopped taking them My food did not seem to nourish me and I gained no flesh nor blood

"Reading of Grape Nuts I determined to stop the tonics and see what a change of diet would do I ate Grape Nuts four times a day with cream and drank milk also went to bed early after eating a dish of Grape Nuts

"In about two weeks I was sleeping soundly In a short time gained 20 pounds in weight and felt like a different woman My little daughter whom I was obliged to keep out of school last spring on account of chronic catarrh has changed from a thin pale, nervous child to a rosy, healthy girl, and has gone back to school this fall

"Grape Nuts and fresh air were the only agents used to accomplish the happy results"

JUDGE OGDEN ON STAND

Shortly before the noon hour Assistant District Attorney W H L Hynes finished the direct examination of Mrs Ogden and turned the witness over to Mrs Martin who is acting as her own attorney for cross examination The prisoner treated the witness most courteously while questioning her and carried her testimony through a considerable portion of the afternoon session Judge Ogden was called to the stand after the dismissal of his wife and remained there the balance of the day

It is altogether probable that "Baby John Martin will go on the stand tomorrow, probably during the forenoon session Since his appearance as a witness at Mrs Martin's first trial the boy has grown tall and strong He is now 16 years of age and has a good home in Weaverville where he is a pupil in the High school The boy was never permitted by Mrs Martin to attend school and the education she denied him he is now eagerly securing

EARLY LIFE A MYSTERY.

"Baby John's" early life is a mystery and so closely interwoven with Mrs Martin's criminal career that one can hardly be referred to without mention of the other Of Mrs Martin's childhood little or nothing is known but many years ago she married a respectable meat packer in New York City She bore him two children—a son and a daughter—but from all accounts both have long ago lost all interest in her

When Hoffman died the widow went to Chicago and married a miner man named John Martin With him she acquired an interest in valuable mining properties in Trinity County California and developed into a skillful prospector Soon after Baby John became a member of the Martin household Martin died and his widow removed to San Francisco where she remained until the boy was 4 years old Then she established her home on West street in Oakland since made famous as a veritable magazine of explosive During the next four years Mrs Martin alternated between Oakland and Weaverville Her ranches grew more and more valuable until she was recognized as one of the richest women in the district

CONTRACT FOR BRIDGE GOES TO CONTRA COSTA COMPANY

Representatives of Two Concerns Decline to Sign Contract With Supervisors Because of Wording of Document

The board of supervisors this morning awarded the contract for repairing the Webster-street bridge to the Contra Costa Construction Company, the amount of the bid being $29 420 regardless of the fact that the representative of the company in question stated before the bids were opened, that he would not sign the contract in the event that the award should be made his firm

The action of the supervisors was determined by the opinion of the representative of the district attorney's office Leon Clark, who was present at the time and to whom the matter was referred

The bids were not opened until five minutes after noon, for the reason that the advertisement calling for bids set no hour for the opening of the proposals, the time being fixed in the notice to contractors by the words 'November 14 a. m.'

Shortly after the session of the board opened a representative of the Contra Costa Construction Company appeared before the board and asked that he be returned the bid for the improvement of the bridge which his concern had made Several members of the board doubted that a bid which had been filed with the clerk could be returned without being opened and referred the question to the district attorney

Mr Clark representing that official, said the bid could not be returned after it had been filed

ANOTHER REFUSES TO SIGN

An hour later just before the bids were opened Charles McCarthy of the Pacific Construction Company addressed the board directing the attention of the members to the fact that the advertisement calling for the bids did not specify any special hour of the day at which the latter were to be opened His company he said had sent in a bid but in view of the fact that there was no definite time specified as to when the bids were to be opened, save the words 'November 14 a m" he did not feel that there could be a legal award made and, so far as his company was concerned, in the event that the contract should be awarded to it the contract could not be signed He said that under the circumstances any person might enjoin the collection of the money and tie it up indefinitely

It was then that the deputy district attorney Clark gave his decision that there was nothing in the premises to prevent the supervisors making the award and nothing he could see which would prevent the contractors from collecting their money in the event that they complied with the terms relating to the satisfactory performance of the job

McCarthy took issue with Clark, but under the decision of the district attorney, the clerk of the board was instructed to proceed with the opening of the bids

At this instance, the representative of the Contra Costa Construction Company stepped forward again and said, for the reasons advanced by the representative of the Pacific Construction Company, he would refuse to sign the contract in the event that it should be awarded to his concern

PROTESTS ARE IGNORED.

The board took no notice, however of the protest feeling that the certified check which accompanied the bid would have something to do in the event of lack of compliance with the law on the part of the bidding company

It turned out that the Contra Costa Construction Company was the lowest bidder and when this fact was ascertained the representative of the concern made no objection to the award even though the representative of a rival concern and one of the competitors recalled to the attention of the supervisors the declaration of the Contra Costa company's man and declaring, at the same time, that the event that the Contra Costa company refused to sign the contract the bid of his company the Mervey Elwell Company was the next lowest and he would like to have the award made to him and he would be pleased to sign the contract

The board however, continued to act under the advice of the district attorney and awarded the contract to the Contra Costa concern In the event that the contract is not signed by the company the certified check for $2900 of that concern will find its way into the county treasury

The bids for the work received by the Board as as follows Mercer Fraser Company $35 890 Mervey, Elwell Company $30 440 Hyde Harjes & Company, $28 886, Pacific Construction Company, $28 824, Burrell Bridge and Construction Company $32 725 Contra Costa Construction Company, $29 420 American Construction Company, $41 000 Cotton Brothers Construction Company $84 837 Ransome, Crummey Company, $30 741 Heath Tibbitts Construction Company $32 780

MAY CONSOLIDATE SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Board of Supervisors Refer the Question to Attorney for an Opinion.

At the instance of County Superintendent of Schools Frick this morning the supervisors referred to the district attorney the preparation of a resolution for the consolidation of the Rosedale and Sheridan school districts

The Rosedale has lapsed by reason of an inadequate number of school children and there is a desire on the part of the residents of the Sheridan district to have the territory annexed to theirs for the reason that there the Rosedale school contained a fine library as also an organ which could thus become the property of the Sheridan district

Supervisor Bridge raised the question as to whether there could be such a consolidation without an election Frick said that such a consolidation had taken place before and the matter was accordingly referred to the district attorney to take action in the premises

WOULD BE FRIEND OF CUMMINS

There Will Be No "Scenes" in Senate, Lafayette Young Declares.

DES MOINES, Nov. 14. — United States Senator Lafayette Young in an interview here today said that he would make every effort in the senate to be on the best of terms with Senator Cummins, whom he formerly opposed through his newspaper, the DesMoines Capital.

"I shall have no trouble in getting along with Senator Cummins," said Young. "We are the best of friends. He is big enough to act on his own judgment, and I expect to do the same. The people of Iowa can rest assured that there will be no unseemly scenes. My policy in the United States senate will be constructive, and not destructive."

THEATRICAL STAR HAS ODD HISTORY

George Manship Labored in English Coal Mines to Educate Brothers and self.

George Manship, the English lad who labored in the coal mines of Devonshire in order to obtain an education, at the same time supporting four younger brothers while they went through the primary and secondary schools in England, has now come into his own in the light of a dramatic star, appearing at Ye Liberty as a regular member of the local stock company.

He first came into prominence in the roles of Nero and Caesar Jr. University of California plays at the Greek Theater, where he won the commendation of Benjamin Ide Wheeler, who conceded him as being the foremost amateur who he dappeared in any university productions. He worked his way through college and is now a member of Ye Liberty stock company, with which he will play until Christmas, when he will go to London and Frank Benson. Among the productions in which the youthful thespian has taken part are, as Saul in Constance Skinner's production of "David" at Carmel-by-the-Sea last summer, and as Jacques in "As You Like It," which was produced in the Claremont hills last summer.

His first role at Ye Liberty theater will be as Mr. Allen in "Richard Carvel."

CHILD IS BITTEN BY BAD MONKEY

Organ Grinder's Dancing Pet Proves Vicious When Crowd Collects.

Elwood Leonard (colored), the little 6-year-old son of G. L. Leonard and wife, 824 Magnolia street, was severely bitten by a vicious monkey belonging to an Italian organ grinder as he was returning from school today at noon.

The police have been asked to take the monkey from the streets, but so far neither the monkey or its owner can be found.

The child was in a crowd that had collected to see the monkey dance when the animal made a fierce lung at a woman standing near by. She stepped back out of the animal's reach when, without warning, it sprung at the child's face.

The little fellow threw his hand in front of his face, which is probably all that saved him from serious injury, as the bite which was intended for the face was placed upon the child's finger. The Italian and the monkey disappeared as soon as the accident happened.

PINCHOT URGES COAL LAND PROBE

Former Forester Again Declares Cunningham Claims Are Fraudulent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Expressing the fear that the Interior Department will recommend the patenting of the Cunningham Alaskan coal land claims, which he believes to be fraudulent, Gifford Pinchot, former forester of the United States, has appealed to the President to allow him to submit a brief before any such action is given executive approval.

Pinchot has written to the President under date of November 7. He says in part:

"It unfortunately is impossible to look with confidence to the officials of the Interior Department for an unbiased judgment in this matter, and it is clear the protection of the public interest in these Alaskan coal lands must depend directly upon the President himself.

BALLINGER'S CONNECTION.

"Secretary Ballinger's connection with these claims, which have been before the Interior Department since he was Commissioner of the Land Office, precipitated the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot controversy and the Congressional inquiry of the Interior Department and the forest service which resulted therefrom."

The letter also bears the signature of the former forester's brother, Amos Pinchot.

BALLINGER IN DENIAL.

Secretary Ballinger issued a statement Saturday night in which he declared that "wholly unfounded charges have been spread broadcast involving the attitude of department officers toward these cases," and that in view of these conditions he "deemed it of the highest importance that all of these cases be transferred from the jurisdiction of the General Land Office directly to the court of appeals of the district of Columbia for consideration and adjustment."

He indicated that he would recommend Congressional authorization of this transfer in his annual message. Ballinger added that for several months at his own instance the cases had been placed under the special direction of the President with a view that no action be taken without his special sanction.

AIDS WAR AGAINST 'WHITE PLAGUE'

J. P. Morgan Gives Funds for Erection of New Tuberculosis Hospital.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—J. Pierpont Morgan's latest philanthropy consists of the erection of a free tuberculosis hospital on modern American plans in the little French watering place of Aix-les-Bains, where Morgan has gone for treatment at frequent intervals since 1890. The building, which will cost upward of $40,000, will be a subsidiary department of the Aix-les-Baine municipal hospital to which Morgan gave $50,000 some years ago.

Dr. Paul Guyenot, one of the best known medical authorities in Europe, is now in New York at the invitation of J. Pierpont Morgan to study the methods used in this country for isolating tuberculosis patients. On his return to France next month he will make his plans for the erection of the new pavilion.

PRAISES AMERICAN HOSPITALS.

"This country is very much in advance of Europe," says Dr. Cuyenot, "in its care of tuberculosis. The hospitals I have seen impress me as exceedingly progressive and thorough. Of course, in Europe, there are not such large sums of money to be expended on these institutions. The New York Lying-In Hospital and the Rockefeller Institute Hospital are the finest institutions of their kind in the world."

Dr. Cuyenot will visit hospitals in Boston, Chicago, Baltimore and other cities before sailing.

DEATH OF MRS. WARD, PIONEER OF CALIFORNIA

RENO, Nev., Nov. 14.—Vain were the efforts of Mrs. Sarah A. Ward of Oak Park, Cal., in her race against death, for while speeding across the continent bound for Rochester with the intention of there placing herself in the hands of specialists, she suffered a relapse, and though oxygen was administered in an effort to keep her alive till the journey's end, the endeavors were useless and she expired just before it reached Reno last evening.

Mrs. Ward, who was 71 years of age, was accompanied by her son, Dr. J. M. Ward, of Oak Park. She had been operated on for cancer by specialists at Rochester a short while ago, but on returning home it was found that a second operation would be necessary. Shortly after her son placed her on the train she began to fall. He worked over her constantly, administering oxygen hoping to prolong life until the specialists could take charge of her again.

Mrs. Ward is well known in California and has lived with her son, Dr. J. M. Ward, at Oak Park for many years. She has another son, also a physician, Dr. M. B. Ward, who lives in Arbuckle, Cal.

SCOUR MOUNTAINS FOR MEXICAN BANDITS

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 14.—Rurales are scouring the mountain sections of the state of Chihuahua, searching for a band of highwaymen who attempted to rob the Santa Gertrude mines near Parral, Mexico, according to dispatches.

After a battle, in which Adolpho Soto, assistant superintendent of the mines, was wounded, the bandits were driven off. It is believed that at least one of them was shot, as a trail of blood was left behind as they escaped.

The band is supposed to be the same one that has terrorized that section for some time, robbing ranch houses and driving off cattle.

ROOSEVELT STILL ISSUE, SAYS RIIS

Friend of Colonel Declares He Will Be Candidate if Wanted.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 14.—Fresh from four months in Baden-Nauheim, Germany, Jacob A. Riis of New York, personal friend of Theodore Roosevelt, spoke in St. Paul Saturday night.

"How foolish it is," he said, "for people to regard the election of last Tuesday in the light of a Democratic victory. Back of all the votes cast Tuesday there is a principle that is greater than Democracy and Republicanism, the principle of progressivism. The people who in the light of the result are predicting a Democratic President in two years are allowing themselves to be blinded by an apparent victory."

"Will Roosevelt be the party's candidate in 1912?" he was asked.

"He does not seek that. With him it is always methods and not men."

"If Mr. Roosevelt sees that the direct demand of the people is for him to lead this new party, will he accept the 1912 candidacy?"

"He will not dodge such an issue."

"Is there any other candidate?"

"None that would so fully represent the issue."

Riis has been for thirty years Roosevelt's confidant, fellow-fighter, biographer, and fast friend.

ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. — Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will deliver a lecture on the subject of big game hunting in the African wilds before the National Geographical society in this city next Friday night.

Besides being the Colonel's first public deliverance on the subject of his long trip in Africa, it will also be his first public appearance in Washington since he retired from the presidency nineteen months ago.

The Geographical society made the arrangement for the Roosevelt lecture several months ago. During his short stay in Washington, Roosevelt will be the guest of his son-in-law, Representative Longworth.

PICKPOCKETS GET MERCHANT'S PURSE

Victim Chases Thief Down the Street, But Fails to Recover Coin.

An attempt by two pickpockets to obtain a purse containing $79 from N. Milano, an Oakland merchant, by jostling him in a crowd in San Pablo avenue Saturday night, was almost frustrated when Milano turned and grasped one of the men by the collar while he struck at the other. The captured pickpocket tore himself free from his victim's grasp, still retaining possession of the purse. He ran down Sixteenth street, followed by Milano. At Fifteenth and Grove streets the thief eluded Milano and made good his escape, when the merchant gave up the chase and reported the matter to the police, then returning to his residence at Eighteenth and Cypress streets. He gave a good description of the pickpockets.

Burglars broke into Max Schultz's grocery at 911 Washington street Saturday night by a rear door, and stole a silver-mounted toilet set and other articles of small value.

LABOR OFFICIAL SLAIN; BODY HIDDEN IN MARSH

WARSAW, Ind., Nov. 14.—With a bullet hole through the head, the body of Roy Mason, a labor official residing in Kalamazoo, Mich., was found in a marsh on the outskirts of the city yesterday. The body evidently had been in the marsh for more than a week. That Mason had been the victim of hold-up men and had been killed and dragged to the marsh in an effort to conceal the crime is the theory of detectives. A revolver was found near the body. It was smeared with blood, although there was no blood on the hands of the victim.

POSSES SEARCHING FOR HUNTER WHO SLEW MAN

MELLAN, Wis., Nov. 14.—Bloodhounds are leading a posse of armed woodsmen on the trail of an unidentified hunter who Saturday shot and killed City Clerk Lewis Olsen of Abbotsford, apparently under the impression that he was a deer.

If Olsen's slayer is captured he may be roughly handled. The victim was wearing a red coat, and it was for the purpose of lessening the chances of any one taking him for a deer.

SENATOR CLAY DIES SUDDENLY

Georgia Solon Falls Back Lifeless While Speaking With Son.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—Alexander Stephens Clay, United States Senator from Georgia, died of heart disease at a local sanatorium yesterday afternoon after a long illness. He had been talking to his son Herbert, when he suddenly ceased speaking and fell back with a slight gasp.

During the morning and afternoon the Senator appeared in better spirits than usual. Mrs. Clay came from their home at Marietta, but when she found the Senator so much improved, returned home about noon. The only member of the family present at the death bed was the Senator's son Herbert, who is mayor of Marietta.

According to the physicians, Senator Clay's death resulted from dilation of the heart, superinduced by arterial sclerosis. The Senator had been ill for nearly a year and came to the sanatorium here on November 1 to take the rest cure. The body was removed to the Clay home at Marietta, where the funeral services will be held on Tuesday.

SERVED FOURTEEN YEARS.

Alexander Stephens Clay served in the United States Senate for fourteen years, having been elected to succeed John B. Gordon in October, 1896, and re-elected for three succeeding terms. He commenced his political career in early life, being admitted to the bar in his twenty-fourth year and elected a member of the city council in Marietta, his home town, three years later. Since that time he had continuously held public office, with the exception of three years, during which he acted as chairman of the State Democratic executive committee.

He served several terms in each house of the Georgia legislature, having been speaker of the assembly and president of the senate. He was born in Marietta, Cobb county, Georgia, on September 25, 1853. A widow, five sons and a daughter survive him.

ARIZONA COPIES CALIFORNIA LAWS

Constitutional Convention Indicates Intention of Adopting Majority Report.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 14. — The constitutional convention indicated today that it will accept the so-called California judiciary system as recommended by the majority report of the judiciary committee. A determined effort was made to substitute the present probate court system. The division on the question being geographical rather than political, members of the northern part of the territory opposed the abolition of the present probate court system. The entire morning was spent in debate, during which a severe arraignment was made of the probate court and present district court system in Arizona.

A vote on the substitution of section 1 of the minority for section 1 of the majority report, which names a court system, was reached at noon and resulted in a defeat of the minority proposition, 14 to 3[illegible].

The entire majority report will be adopted later. It provides a superior court in each county except Navajo and Apache, which are combined with salaries ranging from $5000 to $3500.

NATION SHOULD HOLD RESOURCES

Dr. C. W. Eliot Sounds Note of Warning Against Monopolies.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 14. — A note of warning against monopolistic control of the nation's resources is sounded by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university.

Addressing a large assemblage of citizens at the Prospect Union last night, he said the two principal things to be considered in the conservation of natural resources were the aggrandisement of a comparatively few capitalists and the necessity of collective force for legislation for the common government.

The government, Dr. Eliot asserted, should not part forever with any of its resources, but should bestow them on others only temporarily. Congress, he thought, had been altogether too slow in making provision for the preservation of the forests.

LABOR FEDERATION HAS POLITICAL RALLY

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—The opening session of the American Federation of Labor was turned into an insurgent political rally by Owen Miller, president of the Missouri Federation of Labor. Jeers greeted the name of Jos. G. Cannon and loud applause welcomed the name of Champ Clark.

Seventy-five women were in the convention as delegates. One of them is Miss Zula Taylor, 20 years of age who will cast the entire vote of the State of Kansas, having been elected the representative of the Kansas Federation of Labor. She is secretary of the Kansas Garment Workers' Union.

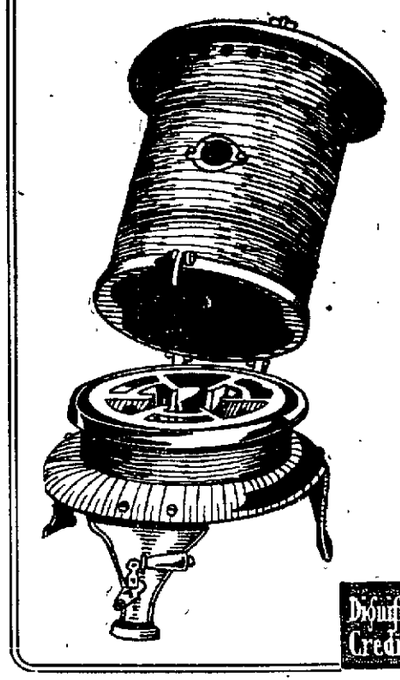

Victor Berger of Milwaukee the first Socialist to be elected to Congress, received many congratulations from his fellow delegates.

OAKLAND WOMEN SEEKING ESTATE

They Begin Investigation to Get Share of J. T. Boyd's Large Fortune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Declaring that they are justly entitled to a share in the estate of their uncle, the late Jas. T. Boyd, a pioneer attorney of this city, Mrs. Adolph L. Bobet and Miss Flora S. Boyd of Oakland say they will commence an investigation to learn the exact value of the estate and that they will take necessary legal steps to protect their interests.

Their father Theodore Chauncey Boyd, died here eight years ago. On his death he is believed to have merged his estate with that of his brother, James T. Boyd, who later married the widow of Robert T. Van Norden. All the property was then in the former brother's name, but upon his death it went into the control of a trust company. Later, it is said, the property was transferred to James T. Boyd, who gave $45 monthly to his brother's widow and the two daughters. Six months after James T. Boyd married Mrs. Van Norden, it is said, this payment stopped.

ONCE WORTH MILLION.

Although Attorney Boyd was at one time said to be worth more than $1,000,000, his widow has told the two nieces that he left practically no estate.

"We intend to investigate," said Mrs. Bobet. "We know that he was an extensive stockholder in the Mount Olivet Cemetery Company; that he owned property at Ninth and Mission streets; that he owned the corner of Hyde and California streets on which the California hotel is erected, and that he owned vast interests in Oakland. Dr. C. W. Boyd, my brother, will also expect an interest in the estate."

Attorney James T. Boyd died Wednesday morning at his home, 800 Baker street. He was 86 years old and had been practicing in this city since 1850. During that time he was engaged in some of the most famous of the old time litigations and drew large fees. He was one of the founders of the Pacific Union Club and was its first president and only honorary member.

LIVE IN OAKLAND.

Miss Boyd lives at 200 Ayala street, Oakland, and her sister, Mrs. Adolph Bobert, lives at 5812 Telegraph avenue, Oakland.

Mrs. Boyd declared yesterday that her husband had left a will making her sole legatee and that the nieces were not entitled to any share of the estate, the value of which, she says, is at present unknown. On the other hand, the nieces say that she is entitled to but a third and that the estate is sufficiently large enough for a division.

ECLIPSE OF MOON DUE WEDNESDAY

It Will Be Seen in the East, But Not West of Rocky Mountains.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—It is announced at Columbia University that there will be a total eclipse of the mooh Wednesday night. The eclipse occurs at a time convenient for observation, beginning at 5:44 p. m., Eastern time and becoming total at 6:55 p. m.

The moon remains immersed within the shadow of the earth until 7:47, when it begins to emerge, and the eclipse is over at 8:59. The whole eclipse lasts a little more than three hours from beginning to end.

WILL NOT BE SEEN HERE.

Prof. Charles Burckhalter, who is in charge of the Chabot Observatory in Oakland, announced today that this eclipse of the moon would be of no interest on this coast, as at no time would it be seen here.

"I have known of this eclipse for some time," said Prof. Burckhalter, "but have not followed it, for it is of no interest to the people here. I cannot give you the exact time without calculating it, but roughly estimating, the moon will leave the shadow at 6 o'clock, Western time, or about the same time it is due to rise here."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Two sailors who had returned from a long cruise, and who called on Miss Queenie Campbell in the Admiral hotel on East street last night and spent the evening talking old times and old associations, are believed by her to be responsible for the theft of three diamond rings and money to the amount of $396.

The valuables were kept by Miss Campbell in a purse which she had laid carelessly on a table, and she did not miss them until after the pair had gone. She reported the theft to Corporal de Grancourt of the Harbor station, and has furnished a description of the suspects.

ANNOUNCEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE SOME MONEY; A REAL ESTATE BARGAIN SALE

HOUSES LIKE THIS SURROUND THE PROPERTY THAT THE REALTY SYNDICATE ARE SELLING.

The Realty Syndicate Overcame the Handicaps of Building Operations by Offering Special Prices on 50th and 51st Street Properties---Some Fine Lots at $25 a Foot, All Street Work Done---Splendid Time to Buy.

The Realty Syndicate are making capital out of the fact that their office is somewhat cluttered up on a count of building operations. Instead of resigning to fate, as is so often the case they are entering the business field more aggressively than ever in an attempt to overcome the handicap of building operations. In order to accomplish this they have selected about 25 lots on 49th, 50th and 51st streets, between Broadway and Telegraph, which they propose to place on the market at special prices.

There is no more desirable residential location for bungalows and cottages in Oakland, and the announcement that they are selling this property for as low as $25 per foot, when there is nothing else to equal it in the neighborhood for less than $35, has created considerable interest.

"We are going to do business during the next six months in spite of the fact that eight stories of our new building are being erected upon our present quarters," said Mr. P. W. Morehouse. "We have several hundred miscellaneous lots in Oakland, and we are going to offer special prices on almost all of them, at some time during the next six months, in order to stimulate business. Our expenses are altogether too great to warrant us in sitting by and doing nothing, and as we cannot depend on transient trade for a while, we have to force issue.

"The lots that we are selling on 50th street for $25 per foot are among the finest in Oakland. They are right in the heart of the Santa Fe tracts, close to the Key Route and near the car line. The property is really worth $10 per foot more than we are asking, but we are anxious to keep the ball arolling, and in order to do so, have adopted much the same plan that a merchant would adopt in the holding of an alteration sale."

The Realty Syndicate's new building will be the largest and finest building in Oakland. It will be ten stories high and Class A in every particular.

Their offices will not be moved while the building is being completed, and will remain at 1218 Broadway.

ASKS FOR ROAD OPENING IN THE MURRAY TOWNSHIP

Residents Petition Supervisors to Make Private Thoroughfare a Public One; Charity Woodyard Makes Request

At the meeting of the supervisors this morning all the members were present save Supervisor Horner, who is ill at his home in Centerville. In his absence, the chair was occupied by Supervisor Kelley.

A communication signed by Mrs. J. P. Petersen, Eugene C. Stanley, J. F. Bellem, Leland C. Stanley and a number of others asked for the opening of road No. 1781 "through the property of Messrs. Bray, Bello and Oliver in Murray township." It set forth, among other things, that the "present road is a private road and may be closed at any time, which would cut us off without any outlet."

The matter was referred to Supervisor Horner and the county surveyor.

J. Goodrich of the charity wood yard asked that discarded bridge wood be given to the yard, the management of which aimed to give deserving and shelterless men a meal and place to sleep for an hour's work at the place.

Supervisor Kelley said that, under the law, old bridge material would have to be sold. It was not known yet how much of the old material in the Webster street bridge would be discarded, but he advised Goodrich to bring the matter again to the attention of the board when the contractors had rooted out the timbers which they proposed to replace with new material.

OTHER ROUTINE MATTERS.

The Livermore Water and Power Company called attention of the board to the fact that its bills for the sprinkling of roads during August, September and October have not been paid. The matter was referred to the committee on finance.

The building committee was empowered to cut through a doorway in the main office of the County Recorder for the purpose of moving a safe.

Changes in the staff of the county infirmary were approved as follows: L. Hansen, cook, $25; J. Knight, officer in dining room, $25 per month.

The building committee was authorized to number book racks in the Recorder's office.

Auditor Lutgen asked for assistance to enable him to properly file and box papers in his office. The matter was referred to the building committee with power to act.

The request of the Sheriff to be permitted to use hard coal in his office heater and for the building of a coal heater was granted.

VAULT LEAKES.

County Clerk Cook announced that the vault in his office was leaking through the roof and needed repairing badly, especially at the present time, for the reason that it was filled with ballots and tally-books which told the result of the last election. Then Supervisor Kelley stated that there was another leak in the roof over the County Recorder's office. Recorder Mott was present and was asked to explain the situation. He said that there was a hole somewhere in the roof of the hall of records and that the rain poured through it and then fell on the false ceiling in his office and that it ran over the ceiling and then poured down on the floor and desks.

Supervisor Kelley asked if there was any danger of books being injured, thus making it necessary to prepare new ones at great expense to the county.

Mott said that such was the case.

GUARANTEED FIVE YEARS.

Supervisor Kelley stated he remembered that, several years ago the roof of the building was repaired by a firm which had guaranteed that no more repairs would be required for at least five years. He did not feel that the five years had expired and thought the firm in question should be called on to keep its promise.

Supervisor Mullins moved that the firm which had done the repairing be notified to repair the room in accordance with their contract, and the clerk was instructed to notify the firm in question to perform the work.

County Clerk Cook stated that he had been informed by Harry Travers that a number of awnings over the ballot machines had not as yet been returned and that it was not certain that those which had been sent back had been properly placed in the boxes containing the machines. In fact, some of the machines themselves had not as yet been brought back.

ONE MAN FOR WORK.

These facts suggested the advisability of employing some person to attend to the matter and it was decided that one man would be employed for a week to attend to it. If it were found necessary to continue the man at the work for a longer period, the matter would be determined at the next meeting. The wages of the employe is $3.50 per day.

The contract for the plumbing and gas fitting in the juvenile court was awarded to E. J. Sullivan, the amount being $171. The bid of George Stoddard for the same work was $234. The contract for gas fixtures for supplying the court in question was awarded to the T. H. Jenkin Fixture company, the amount being $358.

ASKS FOR RELIEF.

The application of George Faller, aged 50 years, of 733 Center street, for relief was referred to the Associated Charities.

The building committee was empowered to remove the toilets in the Court House to the Fifth street entrance, instead of to the basement, as was ordered October 24, 1910.

Recess was taken until 1:30 p. m.

OAKLANDER SLAIN; MONEY IS STOLEN

Joseph C. Ellick Murdered by Mexican Thugs in Lonely Mountain Region.

a position which would probably be the best to attract the birds of the air.

The whole top of the unfortunate man's head had been blown off with a shotgun in the hands of someone in ambush. Not a stitch of clothing a a paper of any kind had been left by which an identification could be made. Clothing, money and all was taken and not a trace was left by the murderers, who evidently had made their escape many hours before.

Ellick was well known in Oakland, where he had worked in the silk department at Capwell's during part of the year for the last three years. He became identified with the mine in Mexico through a friend and during the dry seasons in Mexico he would go there to superintend its workings. The prospects were good, but the dangers were many, and in more than one letter received by friends here Ellick expressed the belief that the Mexicans "would get him some day".

The mine was located in the high mountains about three days' ride on mules from Culican the capital of the state of Sinaloa. If the weather was good the miners would receive their mail about once a week, but following a rainstorm there was no telling when mail could be received.

THREATENED WITH DEATH.

When Ellick first became identified with the mine he had as a partner a man by the name of Root, who was part Mexican, and who was constantly trying to get possession of the mine. On one occasion, Ellick told his friends, he awoke just in time to see his partner creeping toward his bed with a large knife with the intention of murdering him. After this he bought Root's interest and shortly after he persuaded McAvoy a Grass Valley mining man, to join him.

Last Christmas Ellick announced that his prospects were so good in Mexico that he was going to stay through the entire year. For months all communication was shut off from the outside world and the two men labored almost alone.

Whenever it was possible to get a letter through the miners always spoke of their prospects and of the new mines they had purchased. In one of the last letters received here Ellick announced his intention of spending Christmas in Oakland and said he was looking forward to the time to come.

The deceased was about 38 years of age and was well liked by all who knew him. He was a thirty-second degree Mason as well as a member of the Shriners. He leaves a married sister in Los Angeles.

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR DOLLIVER'S TOGA

DES MOINES, Nov. 14.—Guy Feelin of Waterloo, speaker of the House at the last Iowa legislature, made formal announcement today of his candidacy for the seat in the United States Senate held by the late J. P. Dolliver. Choice will be made by the next general assembly.

Attorney General Byers also is expected to enter the race. Lieutenant Governor Clark of Adel and C. F. Frank, chairman of the Republican state central committee, are other contestants.

KNOWLAND WILL TALK OF RULES

Congressman From Third District Will Make Address to Unitarian Club.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 14.—"How the House of Representatives Is Governed," will be the subject of Congressman J. R. Knowland's address before the members of the Unitarian Club of Alameda Wednesday evening. The representative from the Third district has served six winters in Washington and with the convening of the new congress, a year hence, will rank second in the California congressional delegation of the house in point of time of continuous service.

He has naturally become familiar with the rules of the house, which, during the last few years, have been the subject of general discussion throughout the country.

Congressman Knowland's idea is to explain the methods of handling legislation, showing the necessity of rules that will expedite the business of the house and yet not deprive the individual member of his right. The speaker will trace the progress of a bill after its introduction and will give figures as to the great volume of legislation handled during each session.

WILL EXPLAIN RULES.

He will explain how the rules have been developed during the last century touching upon the ruling that made Speaker Reed famous and which are still a part of the house procedures.

As an illustration of how precedents govern the house, Congressman Knowland will exhibit large volumes of decisions handed down by former speakers, and which are followed in interpreting present rules.

Recent amendments will be explained and others which have been proposed discussed. Comparisons will be made with the rules of the house of commons. It is understood that the speaker will welcome discussions following the address.

As the subject is a live one at the present time a large attendance is looked for.

STEAMSHIP PORTLAND IS GOING TO PIECES

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 14.—All hopes of saving the steamship Portland, which was beached at the mouth of the Katalla river after striking a pinnacle rock in Katalla harbor, have been dispaired of. A cablegram has been received from Captain Franz Moore, master of the wrecked vessel, in which he expresses the belief that the vessel will go to pieces before help can arrive.

There are two tugs at Katalla, but they are not powerful enough to be of any assistance to the ship. All the passengers were landed at Katalla and have been furnished with transportation on the steamship Alameda.

Lurid Melodrama at The Orpheum This Week

LIONEL BARRYMORE ONLY EXCUSE FOR SKETCH

Gives Good Bit of Character Work to "Me Cheeild" Tabloid.

OLD SOLDIER FIDDLERS HAVE UNIQUE OFFERING

Frank Morrell Returns as Singing Minstrel, True to Traditions.

(By Leo Levy.)

If you hanker after that good old sere and yellow melodrama—pronounced drawma— and "me cheeild, 'tis cold tonight," is music in your ears, go around to the Oakland Orpheum this week. They have a sample of it, which is more than a sample, for which thanks will be duly given a week from next Thursday. Lionel Barrymore and McKee Rankin, assisted by Miss Doris Rankin, act a tabloid entitled "The White Slaver," which they will offer here for two weeks. It is nothing more than a poor excuse to display a wonderful piece of character work on the part of Barrymore and to keep Rankin on the stage.

McKee Rankin is the white slaver and he is living off the wages of sin. Marion, his victim, has been lured away from her Chicago home and is living in a cold and dreary room with two pieces of furniture and a stove. As per usual, there is no fire in the stove and no coal in the box. After five minutes of conversation, in which Marion tells the slaver the story of her life, in which her father had murdered a man and had been sent to prison, the coal man comes with a sack of the necessary fuel.

'TIS HER FATHER.

Yes, dear reader, the coal man is Marion's father and the two are reunited after the Italian runs his knife into McKee Rankin and leaves him dead over a table, with a ghastly yellow light playing on his still features.

Barrymore, as the coal man, alone deserves commendation. His is a piece of character work that is worthy of better things than his own lines. But he wrote the sketch, and having made his own bed will have to sleep in it.

OLD SOLDIERS A JOY.

There isn't much music in the violins of the Old Soldier Fiddlers, who are at the Orpheum this week, but there are gray hairs and young hearts and a fund of patriotism. Two boys who fought with the grays, and three who defended the federal flag, saw away on all the old melodies, tell stories of other days and fill twenty minutes with stuff that tickles the fancy of the older generation and rouses nation-love in the hearts of youth.

Frank Morrell, true to tradition, sticks to the type of the old minstrel. His voice still tops the rafters, pushed out by all the power of six-foot two by—but, we won't give away the other dimension. He has some new stories, and a few old jokes, and those in the audience who haven't made his acquaintance before are glad to do so now.

Mlle Fifi Onlaw, the only woman who has had the honor of riding "a bicycle on a slack wire while suspended from the teeth of two men" (that's what the program informs you), is a remarkably well-balanced woman, and that is more truth than witticism. She is perfectly at ease on a slack wire, the latter held in the teeth of her two male assistants, who do stunts in the meantime. The act is above the ordinary vaudeville gymnastic affair, and "goes."

Willard Simms is still trying to paper his flat and may succeed before the week is out. Augusta Glose, assisted by her father, is still a joy in her pianologues and spoken songs, and the Spissells will be on until next Sunday. Thurber and Madison are the other holdovers.

LIONEL BARRYMORE, with Barrymore-Rankin Company at the Oakland Orpheum.

MEXICANS IN SOUTH GUARDED

Governors of Texas and Oklahoma Will Aid Taft in Carrying Out Promise.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The fulfillment of President Taft's promise to President Diaz to bring about the punishment of the persons who burned the supposed Mexican, Antonio Rodriguez, at Rock Springs, Tex., and to protect Mexicans in this country appears to depend on the good will of the governors of Texas and Oklahoma.

INVESTIGATE LYNCHING.

Governor Campbell of Texas already has promised to make an investigation of the lynching and a telegram received at the state department last night from Governor Haskell, in answer to an urgent request from Secretary Knox to guard the safety of Mexicans in Oklahoma, and especially to prevent any attempt to lynch the man, supposed to be a Mexican, who killed the chief of police at Anadarko pledges the governor to comply with the request.

UNABLE TO CONFIRM REPORTS.

The State Department has not been able to confirm the report that Rodriguez was not a Mexican, but a native-born American, but it is expected that investigations now in progress will clear up that point.

A telegram from United States Ambassador Wilson in the City of Mexico informs the State Department that Sunday passed without any recurrence of the anti-American outbreaks.

MRS. EVA TURNBULL WEDS G. O. FREEBERG

The many friends of Mrs. Eva Turnbull of this city will be surprised to learn of her marriage last evening in San Francisco to George O. Freeberg of San Diego. Mrs. Turnbull is well known on both sides of the bay. Mr. Freeburg is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Freeberg of San Diego. The couple was married by Rev. Geo. Burlingas of San Francisco. They left on the evening train for the north to make their home.

GOVERNORS MEET WITH STRIKERS' DELEGATES

SEDALIA, Mo., Nov. 14.—The governor of Arkansas and representatives from various points in Arkansas and Kansas met here today in an effort to settle the strike of the machinists, boilermakers, blacksmiths and pipemen of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company.

HUSBAND ACCUSED OF KILLING WIFE

Indications Point to Suicide, But Man Is Lodged in County Jail.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 14.—Charged with the murder of his wife at Springstone, Idaho, a week ago, J. W. McDowell, a salesman in the employ of the Minneapolis Threshing Machine company, was placed under arrest in Spokane today.

The McDowells lived on a ranch near Springstone. McDowell and his eighteen-year-old son left the ranch early last Monday. Later the son returned to the house and found the dead body of his mother lying on a quilt on the floor, a blanket drawn carefully over her. Beside her was a chair on which was an inverted tumbler, about which could be detected the odor of laudanum. A letter nearby indicated that the woman had committed suicide, but the coroner's jury stated that she had come to her death from "unnatural causes, but whether at her own hands or at the hands of another we are unable to determine."

WATTERSON'S SON CLAIMS INSANITY

Indicted for Assault in First Degree for "Shooting Up" Saloon.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Ewing Watterson, son of Colonel Henry Watterson of Louisville, Ky., who "shot up" Michael Martin's Martin's saloon at Saugerties last summer and injured the proprietor, for which he was indicted for assault in the first degree today interposed a defense of insanity when arraigned in the county court.

A commission to determine his sanity will be appointed by Judge Cantine tomorrow.

PROMINENT DEMOCRAT HERE ON A VISIT

F. C. Lyons of New York, a member of the Democratic national committee, arrived in Oakland this morning and is registered at the Hotel Crellin. While here on private business, he has shown much interest in the political situation in this state and is at a loss to understand why the recent election here should have gone so strong Republican, when the Democrats had such a landslide in other states. He will probably be here for a few days, during which time he will confer with prominent Democrats of this county.

MAN'S COAT.

The clothing of mankind is surely a problem. To be well dressed, stylishly dressed, comfortably dressed and sensibly dressed and prepared for sudden and violent changes in the elements, has vexed men's minds for all these many years. Yet with all the vexation and all the minds, very little real improvement has been made in the last 50 years.

We lengthen a coat or widen a lapel, but until this year there has been no real structural improvement tending to clothe man more sensibly.

In a window on Washington street at Smith's money-back store, there is a man demonstrating the first real improvement in coats. It is mighty simple and sensible. It is a coat collar so constructed that by turning it up or down it transforms the entire garment from a stylish fall coat for sunny weather to a practical storm coat with the close-fitting military collar.

The change is made in an instant—more quickly than a man could take off one coat and put on the other—even if he had two coats with him. But the beauty of this new construction is that with one coat a man is dressed for every occasion, and for every change of weather.

Such a wrinkle is too good to be confined to men's coats, and down the street a little farther is a woman in a window showing the same kind of collar construction in women's coats. Clothing men say that this construction will revolutionize the making of all garments which have a collar, and from the ease and practicability with which a coat may be converted, this prediction may not prove too enthusiastic.

LOVE TRIUMPHS OVER ROYAL BARRIERS

Prince Victor Napoleon and Princess Clementine United After Romantic Courtship

PARIS, Nov. 14. — The romantic courtship of Prince Victor Napoleon and Princess Clementine is retold in the French and Belgian press on this, their wedding day. The nuptials, which were to be celebrated at Moncalieri, Italy, are described as the happy outcome of a true case of princely love triumphing over royal barriers.

The papers recite how the late King Leopold steadfastly refused to permit the marriage of his first daughter to the pretender to the throne of a friendly power. Since the accession of King Albert, it was known that the royal objections were removed. This was due largely to the tactful attitude of the Prince himself who always refrained from attending official fetes and ceremonies at Brussels and from in anyway embarrassing the relations of Belgium and France.

The situation of Princess Clementine in Belgium, where the two will live in sumptuous style, will henceforth be modified in conformity with the attitude of her husband. She will retain the rank of princess, but renounces official and state honors and gives up her residence at the royal palace, as well as the income of $15,000 a year which, under the Congo annexation law, ceases at her marriage.

Among the gifts for the bride, one of the most beautiful was that of "Dames de France," a dressing table emblazoned with a Bonapartist eagle and the Flemish lion.

MISSING HUSBAND RETURNS TO HOME

F. E. Clark Hurries to Wife After Reading Article From Tribune.

Learning through an article copied from THE TRIBUNE that his wife knew nothing of his whereabouts and was in destitute circumstances, F. E. Clark, a railroad section foreman who had left his home in Oakland in search of work, and whose letters to his wife had gone astray, hurried home from Los Angeles today and was greeted by his wife at their little home with a welcome he declares he will never forget. Although she had not heard from her husband since he disappeared October 19, Mrs. Clark kept her faith that he would return to her, and persisted in the belief that if he had not been the victim of foul play, he would come back to his wife and little boy. Her faith was justified when Clark returned this morning.

During the husband's absence, Mrs. Clark has been dependent upon friends for aid, as she was left almost destitute. Clark returned with some money and has made the little household at 765 Castro street happy again. He explains his absence by saying that he started out to find work at his trade as a section hand and foreman, and that the pursuit of a job led him to the southern part of the state. When he had at last found work he wrote to his wife, he says, telling her that he would send her some money.

He received no answer and finally came to the conclusion that he had made a mistake in the address, and so sent another letter before sending the money. It was while he was awaiting a reply that the account of his wife's destitute condition came to him through a story copied from THE TRIBUNE. He immediately hurried home to bring help and comfort to the wife who was mourning him as dead.

JEWELRY WORTH $500 STOLEN FROM RESIDENCE

BERKELEY, Nov. 14 — Interrupted by the return home of the family of D. W. Barnes, 2935 Ashby avenue, last Saturday night, a burglar who was at work in the house, escaped with diamonds and other valuable jewelry estimated to be worth almost $500. When the Barnes family arrived at home they found the front door unlocked and a pet dog, which is kept in the house, was barking vigorously in the rear of the dwelling. The back door, at which the dog stood guard, was found open. The police found that the burglar had gained entrance by cutting a wire screen on a side window.

The family discovered that the upstairs portion of the house had been thoroughly ransacked by the thief, who is believed to have fled from the house just as the family returned. Among the valuables obtained by the burglar were a large imperial ruby, a flawless white diamond, a brown diamond, several coral necklaces, pieces of Parisian jewelry, watches, pins and bracelets.

GUARD BIG C ON NIGHT BEFORE GAME

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Nov. 14. — Around blazing bonfires, 100 members of the sophomore class guarded the big C on Charter hill from possible desecration at the hands of Stanford-ites. At about 7 o'clock Saturday morning the watchers descended the hill, having been on the "C" since 8 o'clock Friday night. The committee had arranged to have the "C" illuminated and as it was a clear night the big letter could be seen from almost any point on the bay.

Owing to the fact that it rained Friday morning, the "C" was not painted as planned. This will be done in the near future. The committee of the 1911 class which has charge of the big "C" until Charter Day next semester is J. A. Stroud chairman, S. H. McPadder, J. J. Beck, T. Laine, J. H. McCormack and J. R. Douglas.

Knowland, former grand president; Mrs. A. Little, former grand president of the Native Daughters; Bismark Bruce, grand trustee, and H. B. Tormey, district deputy.

DEAD AND LIVING IN BAD ACCIDENT

Two Men and Corpse Thrown Into Roadway by Frightened Horses.

FRUITVALE, Nov. 14. — Suddenly frightened by a passing locomotive, horses attached to the undertaker wagon of Arthur A. Barber, deputy coroner, and undertaker, of Fruitvale, ran away on the Oakland mole late last evening and pitched Barber and his assistant, Taylor C. Drennan, into the roadway. The swinging doors in the rear of the wagon were sprung open and a corpse inside dumped into the middle of the road.

Both the undertakers were rolled in the mud and were picked up and carried to the receiving hospital unconscious. Barber received a broken arm, while his assistant was badly bruised about the head and face. The corpse was left by the roadside until another wagon could be secured, the former one being demolished by the runaway.

'IF IT'S WILSON, IT'S GOOD!' DOES NOT MEAN LIQUOR

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—"Wilson of Kentucky; if it's Wilson it's good."

Such a sign, big or little, is sure to attract attention and comment in the temperance town of Berkeley, but when painted in large letters on a canvas stretched above a two-story building on a prominent corner, where he who runs may read—and perhaps suffer an attack of thirst while doing so—the placard amounts almost to a sensation.

For more than a week this sign has loomed above a building at the northwest corner of Center street and Shattuck avenue. Were it standing alone one might search in vain for the answer, liquid or verbal, in Berkeley. But on the same roof, several hundred feet distant, is another canvas announcing the revival meetings which have been conducted for almost two weeks past by Evangelist W. C. Wilson of Kentucky at the Pentecostal Church of the Nazarene.

NO 'BLUE MONDAY' ON U. C. CAMPUS

Students on California Field Join in Celebrating Football Victory.

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—There was no sign of "blue Monday" on the university campus today. At 11 o'clock general jubilation over Saturday's football victory found partial expression in a congratulatory rally held on California field, following an old custom of holding a rally after a University of California victory.

Last year's rally was the first held in seven years previous to that time, owing to a successive defeat which the blue and gold team had met.

A cheering assemblage of students gathered on the field this morning to be addressed by members of the team, other students and President Wheeler. R. H. Moulton, chairman of the rally committee, presided. Elliott, a star member of the team who is to be captain next year, was not present, which was the only disappointing feature of the rally.

Four or five members of the team were also unable to be present and speak when called upon.

DWIGGINS FIRST SPEAKER.

Former Captain Dwiggins, who led the California Rugbyites to victory, was one of the first to address the gathering. It was the unanimous sentiment of all the players who spoke that the return of Coach Schaffer next year was sincerely desired.

President Wheeler aroused enthusiasm and merriment as well by telling of a visit which he made to the team's headquarters after the victory. He said that he told Captain Dwiggins that he was surprised that California allowed Stanford to score at all, judging by the play throughout.

"That you're satisfied, are you not, President Wheeler?" was the way in which Dwiggins "came back" in answer.

President Wheeler stated that he knew when Stanford made its six points that California would still emerge victorious.

PASTOR IS AUTHOR OF BIBLICAL PLAY

Rev. J. R. Perkins Writes Novel Founded on the New Testament.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 14.—"The Emperor's Physician" is a biblical novel founded on the New Testament, that has just been completed by Rev. J. R. Perkins, pastor of the First Christian church. The pastor will read the story from the pulpit for five consecutive Sundays, beginning Sunday, November 22.

The plot of the biblical tale centers on the young physician in attendance on Tiberius Caesar, who is sent to Judea and Galilee to make a study of the mental and physical maladies of the people, of lepers and of those possessed of the demon. The young physician, Serghus, is accompanied by Luke at the emperor's command, and the meeting with and the conversion of the two Romans by the Christ is the climax of the plot.

The play has been carefully revised and has occupied a great portion of the author's time for two years. The play has received the highest commendation from the critic, James Knapp Reece, the work having been submitted to the Fred A. Stokes Company for publication.

ASKS SUPERVISORS TO BLOCK ROADS

Motor Cycle Club Declares It Will Facilitate Travel in Country.

The matter of blocking and numbering county roads was brought up before the Board of Supervisors this morning in a communication from the San Francisco Motorcycle Club. The letter closed by stating that the members of the club could not too strongly urge the proposed improvement upon the board. Accompanying the communication was a statement to the effect that the proposed idea was not a good roads matter but an application of a system to the roads which "will enable the stranger to find his way about the country with as much ease and even more pleasantly than he can in the city and always know his location and be able to calculate his distances in both roads, blocks and miles, instantly."

Its usefulness is even greater than are the street names and house numbers in cities, which are a necessity of untold value, because it fits country conditions more perfectly than the best city system meets the needs of the city man, where a block is a block, whether it is ten times as long as other blocks or of the average city block length."

The matter was referred to the committee of the whole.

FATHER ACCUSED OF KILLING TWO SONS

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 14.—Frank Kunkle, 72 years of age, a farmer of White Mills, Wayne county, is suspected of causing the death of his two sons, Edward, aged 42, and Charles, 49, at the homestead Friday and Saturday last.

The body of Edward was found in the barn Friday, and on Saturday morning the other body was discovered under a bed in an upstairs room in the house. The father was arrested. It is thought poison was used, as neither body showed marks of violence. Kunkle denies he killed his sons.

THREATENED ROCKEFELLER.

The prisoner said he had no home and wanted to be arrested to obtain shelter.

SCOTT ANXIOUS TO BEGIN 3-YEAR PRISON SENTENCE

PERCIVAL R. SCOTT, sentenced in the Superior Court today to three years in the penitentiary at San Quentin for embezzling funds of the First National Bank of Berkeley while acting as teller.

Refuses Investigation That May Have Lead to Probation

Rather than have his case investigated by Probation Officer Juess, with a view to securing probation which privilege was extended to him this forenoon by Judge Everett J. Brown, when he was called up in the criminal department of the superior court for sentence, Percival R. Scott, who pleaded guilty to embezzling $390 from the First National Bank of Berkeley, when employed there as a teller, said he preferred to "take his medicine," and was sent to the state's prison across the bay for a term of three years. Scott strongly intimated to the court that he did not believe his record would stand investigation and declared that the sooner he was allowed to begin his sentence the quicker it would be ended.

GETS DIVORCE.

Scott's arrest for grand larceny was instigated by the officials of the First National Bank of Berkeley several weeks ago, following testimony he gave in his suit for a divorce from his wife, Emma M. Scott, to the effect that his wife had deserted him and eloped to China with an army officer and that he had sent to her in Hongkong $600 to return home on after she had written to him that she wanted to come back. Scott obtained an interlocutory decree but almost immediately after the superior court severed the marital fetters which bound him he found himself in still deeper trouble with the Berkeley bank that employed him. His testimony about the $500 caused the bank officials to suspend him from his position and put an expert upon his accounts. The latter found a shortage of $390 in one of the safe deposit accounts over which Scott had an accounting supervision.

WIFE RETURNS.

While Scott was under suspicion at the bank Mrs. Scott returned from China and, according to her story, learned for the first time of her husband's divorce. She immediately engaged an attorney and filed a motion, supported by an affidavit, to have the interlocutory decree set aside on the ground that it had been secured by fraud and that she had never deserted Scott. This action is still pending.

CHANGES HIS PLEA.

When Scott was arraigned before Superior Judge Brown on the criminal charge he pleaded not guilty. Afterward he changed the plea to guilty and this forenoon was set as the time for entering judgment. To the end that the court could better execute the law in the interest of both the people and the prisoner, Judge Brown desired the presence of Mrs. Scott to have her confirm, if possible, her husband's assertion that the money he stole from the bank was part of the $500 he claimed to have sent to her. He asked the district attorney's office to bring her into court on a subpena, but when the case was called this forenoon Chief Deputy District Attorney Carey announced that although the process server had made a diligent search for the woman he was unable to locate her. The nearest the court officer could get to her domicile was the information that she was living somewhere in San Francisco.

Scott will be taken to San Francisco either this evening or tomorrow morning.

ATTORNEY TO ANSWER QUESTION OF REFUND

At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning District Attorney Donahue stated that by Monday next he would be able to give the Board an answer to a question which had been asked of him by a number of residents in the various sanitary districts which had been disbanded as to whether there was to be any refund of the taxes paid in these districts for improvement which it was thought would have to be made under the direction of the city of Oakland. He said that there were a number of these claimants present who had asked him for an opinion on the subject, but he had not yet been able to arrive at a conclusion. Before next Monday, however, he would have a case brought up before the judges in this city and would get an opinion in that way and would lay it before the supervisors at their next meeting.

FAVOR COMMISSION RULE.

CHICO, Nov. 14.—Chico probably will be given an opportunity to vote soon on the question of adopting the commission form of government for this municipality. The discussion showed such an overwhelming number in favor of the plan that a committee, consisting of C. F. Reynolds, Guy R. Kennedy and John C. Burdon will look into the legal aspects of the question. This committee will report within a day or two and the matter will be referred to the city trustees.

TELEGRAM BEARS NEWS OF MURDER

Alamedans Receive Report of Tragic Death of Brother in North.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 14.—A telegram received at the Nelson home, 1115 Regent street, yesterday, bore the news that John Thompson, brother of Mrs. John Nelson and Miss Jeanie Thompson of this city, had been murdered on the docks at Astoria, Ore. The body will be brought to this city for burial.

The telegram was sent by the coroner's office. It stated that Thompson's body had been found on the wharf with his pockets rifled. It is supposed that the victim, who was a seafaring man, was beaten to death by thugs who robbed him.

STUDENTS PLAN FOR CROSS COUNTRY RUN

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Nov. 14. — Preparations are being made for the annual Class Team Cross-Country Championship, which is to take place Wednesday, November 23.

Rules for the cross-country championship will be the same as last year; that is, the first five men of each class, the sum of whose places at the finish is the lowest number, win the run for their class.

Trainer Walter Christie urges that entrants for the cross-country sign up at the training quarters at once. He also announces that any men desirous of learning about the event see him at the training quarters on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 11 to 12 and from 3 to 5.

If baseball players are to report Mondays, Wednesday and Saturdays from 11 to 12 and from 3 to 5 at the old baseball field. Coach Christie urged that all baseball candidates get in a few good workouts before examinations.

Child Wonder No Salome Dancer, Mother Declares

PHYSICAL CULTURE GIRL CANCELS PROMISE

Marguerite Edwards Will Not Appear in the Y. M. C. A. Minstrel Show.

MOTHER IS INCENSED BY THE ANNOUNCEMENT

Declares Her Daughter Knows Nothing of Semi-nude Terpsichore.

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—Miss Marguerite Edwards, the thirteen-year-old wonder in the way of physical development, will not appear at the Y. M. C. A. minstrel show this week in any capacity. This was the announcement made this morning by her mother, following the published statements that the girl would appear in the Maud Allan Salome dances for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. members.

Mrs. Edwards is incensed that such an announcement should have been made, and asserted this morning that her daughter knew nothing of the Maud Allan dances, and it only had been arranged that she should appear in costume to show the result of a careful physical training. This was intended as an object-lesson to parents, showing what could be done with their children.

Mrs. Edwards supervised the training of her daughter from the time she was a baby in arms. As the child grew she developed wonderfully both mentally and physically. She was the marvel of the age and magazines and Sunday newspapers devoted columns to Mrs. Edwards' achievement.

ALMOST PERFECT FIGURE.

The girl, who is but 13 years old, has a figure that is as near perfect as it is possible for a human being to attain. Her figure is that of a woman of 20 years and her intellect is far beyond her years. In disposition she is modest and retiring.

Her mother declared this morning that it was with great reluctance that the child consented to appear at the Y. M. C. A. benefit to demonstrate what can be accomplished by physical culture.

"Now," said Mrs. Edwards, "my daughter absolutely refuses to have anything to do with the entertainment because of the notoriety attending the announcement. She would do Maud Allan dances. Had she not made this decision I would have forbade her going out. Why, it is ridiculous to say that she would do dances. She knows nothing about them."

FOOTBALL PLAYER CHARGED WITH SLAYING OPPONENT

Captain Munk's Death Was Murder, According to Coroner, and Warrant Is Taken Out for McCoy

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 14.—A warrant charging Thomas McCoy, right end of the Bethany College football team, with the death of Captain Rudolph Munk of the West Virginia team, was issued here yesterday by Magistrate Hobbs. The action followed a partial inquest by Coroner Rogers.

Munk sustained injuries in the game between the two teams Saturday from which he died five hours later without regaining consciousness.

The testimony was furnished principally by Homer N. Young, a Pittsburg attorney, who umpired the game.

Young testified that Munk was making interference and was a few yards in front of the scrimmage line, when McCoy came up to the West Virginia captain, striking him in the head. Munk fell to the ground unconscious and Young ordered McCoy from the game.

The autopsy disclosed that Munk's death was caused by a blood clot at the base of his brain and could not have been the result of a former injury.

McCoy lives at Canton, Ohio. The warrant for his arrest was served yesterday.

In giving details of the way in which Munk was injured, Young said the ball was on Bethany's thirty-yard line when Munk started down the field for interference.

"He was near the player with the ball," Young said. "Munk was met by McCoy, who ran toward Munk as they both were running down the field. Ten yards behind the scrimmage line, when Munk was in front, McCoy struck him in the back of the head with his fist. Both Munk and McCoy fell, but the latter quickly regained his feet, looked at Munk and started off the field."

Umpire Young said that as the blow appeared to him clearly intentional, he immediately put McCoy out of the game.

No other witnesses were heard today, but several players have been summoned for tomorrow night, when the inquest will be resumed.

M'COY LEFT COLLEGE.

McCoy left college this fall without notifying the faculty and had not played on the team for two weeks. President Cramblett of Bethany said last night that he was unaware that McCoy was to play in Saturday's game.

It was announced last night that all the remaining games scheduled by West Virginia university will be canceled, including the Thanksgiving Day game with Washington and Jefferson, which has heretofore been one of the biggest games in this section.

The body of the dead player was sent to his home in Connellsville last night.

CANTON, Ohio, Nov. 14.—"I was in no way responsible for the accident that caused Captain Munk's death," said Thomas McCoy at his home here. He came here immediately after the Bethany-West Virginia game at Wheeling yesterday.

McCoy, on the advice of his attorney, would say nothing more.

BLAMES MUNK'S TEAM.

BETHANY W. Va., Nov. 14.—President T. E. Cramblett of Bethany college last night upon his arrival from Wheeling, said the faculty would meet tonight to consider the tragedy of the football game. President Cramblett, who saw the game, said: "The game was a rough one and several times the coaches asked the officials to stop the slugging. The Morgantown players were the chief offenders and the opinion is that McCoy took a chance to get even."

The inquest into the death of Munk will be completed tonight. Thomas McCoy, the Bethany player, charged with being responsible for Munk's injuries, will come here from Canton, Ohio, and tell his side of the case.

The authorities were notified here that McCoy had left his home and had gone to Bethany, where the warrant will be served.

FACULTY DEPLORES DEATH.

BETHANY, W. Va., Nov. 14.—The faculty of Bethany College met today to take official action on the football fatality at Wheeling on Saturday. President T. E. Cramblett brought the matter to the attention of the students at Chapel today, deploring the accident and announcing that he had been unable to find any Bethany student who had seen Thomas McCoy strike the blow as charged.

Resolutions deploring the accident were adopted by a committee of the faculty and these will be forwarded to the faculty of the Morgantown university. McCoy was expected to return to the university today to resume his studies.

Coach J. N. Townsend, Captain Henley and several other players have been summoned to Wheeling for the inquest.

HIRES ATTORNEY.

CANTON, O., Nov. 14.—Attorneys Day and Ammerman, consul for Thomas McCoy, left for Wheeling today to attend the coroner's inquest in the death of Rudolph Munk. McCoy was prepared to go with them but just before train time it was decided that he should remain in Canton pending developments. He and his father may leave for Wheeling tonight. It is probable that McCoy's counsel will fight extradition if a definite charge is made against him. McCoy said today that he did not strike Munk.

BURGLAR CAUGHT IN A BATH TUB

Found by Landlady Who Locks Door and Sends for Policeman.

Trapped in a small bathroom whose window was so small that he could not climb through it, Harry Delt, a burglar who had been looting rooms in the apartment house at Twelfth and Jefferson streets last night, lay down in the tub and pretended to be asleep. The landlady of the house, alarmed when she found a stranger in the bathtub, hastily locked the door and called the police. Delt was captured by Patrolman Evers, who was summoned to the place, and when searched money and jewelry were found on his person.

The capture was effected at 2:40 this morning and Delt, after giving his name, refused to divulge any further explanation as to his actions than his first statement that he had been drinking and had crawled into the bathtub to go to sleep.

About 7 o'clock this morning John Hildreth, a lodger occupying room 15 in the apartment house, missed his diamond cuff links, valued at $40, and about $20 in cash, and hastened to the police station. He there identified the loot taken by Delt, the denominations of the coins being as specified by the owner.

SILENT ABOUT PAST.

Delt was examined by detectives this morning, but remained silent as to his antecedents, and the police will make an attempt to search out his record in police annals. He will be charged with burglary this afternoon.

Burglars attempted to enter the Owl drug store at Sixteenth and San Pablo and also a store at 1112 San Pablo last night, but were frightened away by passing pedestrians. In both cases a chisel was used in attempting to pry open a rear window.

Several minor theft were reported to the police this morning, among them being the following:

Jefferson Vangundy of 4626 Fleming avenue, $6 buggy robe taken from buggy at 1414 Forty-fifth avenue; John Dowell of 3232 Milton street, $20 in cash taken from bureau drawer; Mrs. Brandon of 2003 Fruitvale avenue, garments taken from rear porch; G. O. Cranmer of 856 East Fifteenth street, clothes and money valued at $43; E. Gemberling of 1828 Grove street, purse and watch stolen by pickpockets while at Macdonough Theater, loss $24.

W. E. DARGIE
President

Roosevelt the Cause of Defeat.

Some of our contemporaries in California have rather heatedly denied THE TRIBUNE'S assertion that wide-spread fear of Roosevelt's ambition was the chief cause of the Democratic sweep in the Eastern States. Apparently they took little heed of the discussion on the stump and in the press that preceded the election. Had they done so they would have perceived that the heads of nearly all the universities and colleges in New York came out in favor of the Democrats expressly on the ground that a Republican victory would mean the nomination of Roosevelt in 1912, and that Roosevelt's policies and methods were a menace to the republic. The published utterances of President Schurman of Cornell University and President Strycker of Hamilton College prove this.

A further proof of this is furnished by a letter which Professor Edwin A. Grosvenor of Amherst College addressed to the Springfield Republican on November 4, giving reasons why he, a Republican, intended to vote the Democratic ticket.

"To be sure, now as the campaign is drawing to its close, Mr. Root dwells upon the necessity of standing by the Taft administration. It is peculiar that that necessity did not occur to him earlier and before disaster in New York seemed staring the Roosevelt ticket in the face. Some months ago, just before the Saratoga convention, Mr. Roosevelt rushed across the Sound to President Taft in New Haven. Since his return to America Mr. Roosevelt and his immediate partisans have manifested desire to support or to identify themselves with or even to refer courteously to President Taft only when something might be got by it. Faithless to his friend, unchivalric to his successor, disloyal to the official head of his party and to the Republican President, Mr. Roosevelt has stood by President Taft only so far as he could use him.

"A Republican victory in New York would be Mr. Roosevelt's victory, wholly, absolutely his. Upon the convention he imposed himself and dictated its committees, platform and candidate. Since the convention he has been the ubiquitous, domineering figure in the fight. Reckless in statement, careless of fact, indifferent to means, he has known no check and taken no counsel except of himself. The other Republican speakers in New York have seemed hardly more than faint echoes or pale shadows of their chief. One is astounded with an astonishment in which a measure of admiration mingles at the completeness and the intensity of his domination. There has never been anything like it in American history.

"A Republican victory this year in the nation—in Connecticut, New Hampshire, Indiana, Massachusetts or wherever his voice has been heard—would be hardly less his victory. It would be so claimed by his personal adherents and so believed by himself. It would be interpreted as a national mandate to him to work his will. Every other American, no matter how great in ability or how high in office, would be comparatively insignificant. Even the President of the nation would occupy a position of humiliating political inferiority, and, during what remained of his term, of political paralysis.

"The defeat of the Republican party in New York and in the nation would be above all Mr. Roosevelt's defeat. Though others would share that defeat, yet upon him specifically the blow would fall. It would not cause his disappearance from politics, but he never could occupy again that astounding and ominous position which he holds today. The defeat of Mr. Roosevelt this November would mean the emancipation of the Republican party, of the nation, and, regardless of 1912, of President Taft himself."

The result of the poll showed how generally Professor Grosvenor's views were held by voters in the Eastern and Middle States. Thousands of Taft Republicans openly stated their intention of voting the Democratic ticket as a protest against Roosevelt's assertion of leadership and the extraordinary personal claims he put forth. The belief that he intended to substitute his "new nationalism" for the principles of the Republican party, and that he proposed to run on it for President in 1912 became a conviction as election day approached, hence the tremendous revolt among educated and intelligent Republicans who conceived it to be a patriotic duty to assist in suppressing a noisy disturber who proposed to establish a benevolent despotism on the ruins of a constitutional republic. Since his return from Africa Colonel Roosevelt has done more to dethrone the Republican party from power than all other causes combined.

We had supposed that the adoption by the State at large of the constitutional amendment permitting San Francisco to bond herself for $5,000,000 to aid the Panama-Pacific exposition settled the question, more particularly as the city voted overwhelmingly for the amendment. But the urgent appeals of the San Francisco papers would lead one to believe that there was some doubt about the bond proposition carrying at the charter election tomorrow. There seems no other reason for doubt as to the result. Everybody seems to be in favor of the proposition — the press, all public bodies and the citizens individually. Nobody is lifting a voice in opposition. Hence it must be assumed that the city will vote yes. Still the majority should be made as impressive as possible. Everybody should turn out and vote for the fair bonds as a proof of the deep popular interest taken locally in the exposition project.

Pinchot's letter to President Taft is a characteristic bit of gallery playing. It is an endeavor on the part of the writer to make the public believe that all the coal lands in Alaska would be stolen if Pinchot were not standing on guard to protect the people's rights. Justice will be done without Pinchot's interference. The crooked entries will be thrown out and the entries made in good faith and in accordance with law admitted to patent. That is the only honest way to settle the Alaska coal controversy, so that the coal lands of Alaska can be developed and the Territory given a cheap fuel supply.

Probable Reapportionment Changes.

In all probability a new apportionment bill will be passed at the short session of Congress which begins in December. Had the Republicans elected a majority of the next House the matter of reapportionment might not have been taken up at the short session; but, as the next House will be largely Democratic, it is almost certain that a reapportionment bill will be passed, if the census returns can be compiled in time.

Very likely the basis of apportionment will be increased anywhere from 20,000 to 25,000, in which case the re-rating of the States will have considerable influence on the next Presidential election. For instance, Iowa is certain to lose one Representative while Texas will gain three or four. New York will make a similar gain, while Virginia stands to lose one.

No other Southern State is in danger of having its representation cut down, but the Democratic State of Missouri is in peril of losing a Congressman. California, Minnesota and Oklahoma will gain and so will Massachusetts. On the whole, however, the other gains will be few and far between unless the membership of the House is enlarged, for the gains in some States will be offset by losses in other States.

However, the political balance of power will not be greatly disturbed, but the relative importance of New England will be considerably diminished. New England will gain one or two electoral votes, but the admission of Arizona and New Mexico will increase the electoral vote of the Southwest by six. Oklahoma will gain two or three more. The South Atlantic States will remain practically stationary.

The lone Republican Congressman elected in Kentucky is Caleb Powers, three times convicted of murder and twice sentenced to be hanged. He was never acquitted of the charge of complicity in the assassination of Governor Goebel, but was pardoned and restored to citizenship by Governor Willson. His election to Congress from the feud district is no credit to Kentucky or the Republican party, and will precipitate a row when the new Congress meets, for an effort will be made to exclude him on the ground that he is an unfit person to sit in the Congress of the United States, as he undoubtedly is. If a constituency persists in sending such men as Powers to Congress it should be rebuked by the rejection of the unfit Representative. The Republican party can gain nothing by having Powers in Congress, but decency will gain much by keeping him out of it.

It is disappointing (at Sagamore Hill) to run for dictator and be voted an undesirable citizen.

'HUNCH' OR CAUSE?

An authority on woman suffrage proclaims that it is not a "cause," but a "hunch." As we understand the meaning that comparatively new and unlovely word, it signifies merely a belief in success. "I have a hunch," says the poker player, "that I shall fill this hand. Give me two cards." The fact that he has a hunch does not necessarily enable him to win the pot. We apologize for drawing our illustration from a pastime so ignoble as poker, but hunch has hitherto been associated chiefly with ignoble things.

The woman suffrage man who has a "hunch" that women will get the ballot has a right to the hunch. He and his feminine co-laborers will not be at all discouraged by the array of facts gathered and well set forth by Mr Richard Barry in the Ladies' Home Journal and quoted at length in this newspaper. That woman suffrage, when it has been tried, has not unlifted politics or the women has nothing to do with the case, as the woman suffragists look at it. They demand equal rights with men, on the ground that they are the equals of men. Men vote, and these women consequently demand the right to vote. The best arguments against them are that votes for women are unnecessary; that the doubling of the number of ballots cast would be an expensive and perplexing proceeding; that women already have all the rights they are entitled to; that nothing whatever would be gained in the way of good government by the extension of the ballot.—New York Times.

The Place to Begin

By REV. CHARLES R. BROWN, Pastor First Congregational Church

"Beginning at Jerusalem." — Luke xxiv 47.

Rev. Charles R. Brown

The one who is more widely known today than any other in history is speaking here. He is planning an enterprise which will be worldwide in scope. He is thinking perhaps of that day when all the nations of the earth which really count will be dating their history, their daily papers, their contracts and their correspondence from the day of his birth. 1910—we write it every day in the week—it is that long since he was born in a little town known as Bethlehem of Judea.

He was so tall that when he stood up he could see a long way off. He is making his plans here in seven figures you might say—he seems to be able to think more readily in millions than in dimes. "It behooved me to suffer and to rise from the dead," he says, and as a result of these experiences "repentance and remission of sins shall be preached in my name among all nations."

Then he added, and this is the place where I wish to rest my whole weight this morning, "Beginning at Jerusalem." "The place to begin this world-wide, age-long enterprise is right here where we are," he seemed to say, "Go finally into all the world and disciple all nations, baptizing them in the name of the father and of the son and of the holy ghost, teaching them whatsoever things I have commanded you, but begin here." The place to inaugurate any great movement even though it is to extend throughout the world and to move in majestic fashion down the ages is not away yonder in the distance somewhere, but right here where a finer form of fidelity and a new spirit of consecration may work at once beautiful and benficent results.

You all know how faithfully the disciples observed his wise word of counsel. When he said, "Go ye into all the world for repentance and remission of sins shall be preached in my name among all nations," they did not begin by having one disciple mount a camel to start north and another take a donkey to start south and others take ship and sail to the west. They gathered together the Christians who were within reach—only a dozen or fifteen of them it appears from the narrative—and went into an upper room to hold a prayer meeting. They continued in prayer and supplication in one place with one mind and one accord for days together. Finally, when the right moment came, the spokesman of the party, whose name was Peter, stood up and voiced their conviction and their desire in a noble sermon. Then came the great outpouring from heaven and the splendid response from the people which resulted in the notable ingathering on that day of Pentecost. Many were added to the Lord and many were added to the little church because they were being saved and so the world-wide movement we call Christianity was under way. It began right because it began in obedience to the word of Christ—they started in right where they were, there in the city of Jerusalem.

I wish to discuss that familiar principle with you this morning—the place to begin any important work is the place where you stand. It would have been easy for some of those faultfinders, who can always see the flies on the barn door without seeing the barn door itself, to have pointed out numerous objections to the plan of beginning at Jerusalem. The Lord and the Master of this movement had just been put to death on the cross between two thieves at Jerusalem faded out."

20 YEARS AGO IN OAKLAND

The Southern Pacific passenger train which left Portland last night and which was due in this city at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow morning, was wrecked after being two hours on the road. The trestle at the north end of Lake Labash broke down as the engine reached it, and the whole train went into the mud. Every person on the train was more or less injured. John McFadden, the engineer, E. Finneal, the fireman, and an unknown man who was riding on the front platform, were killed outright. Among the passengers on the train were the Misses Eckfeld, formerly of San Leandro.

Edward Hackett, E. S. Clement and H. P. Smith, who were appointed to appraise the estate of Samuel Merritt, deceased, have been at work for the last three weeks, preparing an inventory of the vast estate. This morning they called at the office of the County Clerk for the purpose of getting the value of some property in Brooklyn township. The appraisers have not as yet made any estimate of the value of the estate, but believe that it will amount to $2,250,000.

The town of San Leandro is trying to secure title to the property in that place known as the "Estudillo square," which is claimed as public property. It has brought suit to compel W. D. Orders have been issued by the Southern Pacific that hereafter cameras will not be allowed to be taken aboard any of the ferry steamers unless the owners promise not to use them while aboard the ship. It is said that the order has been occasioned by the fact that many of the patrons of the company have been greatly annoyed by the industry of the camera fiends while crossing the bay.

Timely and Interesting Topics

New York is not the only place where people have custom house troubles. Two men went to Nice lately from Italy to attend a funeral, and took with them a wreath of flowers, to which was fastened a silk ribbon bearing an inscription. They were informed at their destination that they would have to pay a duty equivalent to $25. The mourners protested, saying that the wreath was made of natural flowers, on which there was no duty; but they were informed that the dutiable part was the silk, and that, according to the tariff laws, duty must be collected on the gross weight of the memorial emblem. Then the men agreed to throw the ribbon away, but this could not be done on French soil, and so they journeyed back to the frontier, where they disposed of the ribbon, boarded a train for Nice with the ribbonless wreath, and arrived too late for the funeral.

"The arrest in Paris of a swindler with an international record," says a St Petersburg letter, "is one of the final scenes in the career of a remarkable man. Ten years ago the young Belgian came to Russia, a fine looking young man in whose blue eyes one could see only honesty and good humor. He worked his way into exclusive society, married the daughter of an aristocrat and amassed a fortune and promoted many monster industrial enterprises before it was discovered that gambling and cheating at cards were the source of his income. An Englishman who was a member of the English club of St. Petersburg, speaking of the man, said: 'He was a bridge enthusiast, and before his fall and expulsion from the club arranged games with the wealthier members at high stakes and always won. His undoing was "the luck" with which he doubled and redoubled several times in one evening no trump hands which looked invulnerable. He was so clever and so fascinating, however, that one of the men who asked that he be spared criminal prosecution was a Moscow banker who had lost a fortune to him.'"

The Lancet publishes a statement by its China correspondent that it has been found that since the laws were established restricting the sale and use of opium many Chinese have found consolation in cocaine. The usual mode of taking cocaine among Chinese is by snuffing it, or in catarrh snuffs. It is to be hoped," says the Lancet, "that the new regulations will be sufficient to prevent the easy purchase of cocaine, though in the absence of any coast preventive service there is no country in the world into which it is less difficult to smuggle goods or drugs of any description than China."

BUSINESS SITUATION

There was never a time when the statement that the conduct of business is largely a matter of sentiment was more justified than at present.

Business is in a normal, healthy volume, but is practically only for immediate wants and for replacements and repairs. Of flotations of new enterprises there are practically none, and the differences between normal conditions and abounding prosperity is the difference between buying for wants only and the undertaking of new wealth-producing enterprises.

The truth is that capital—in the language of Myra Kelley's Little Citizens—"has 'fraids from things."

'Fraids from supreme court decisions lest they make legally impossible the only feasible method of conducting great enterprises and produce commercial anarchy and paralysis.

'Fraids from Interstate Commerce Commission rulings lest railroads be denied sufficient revenue to earn a fair return upon their investments.

'Fraids from utterances of ex-President Roosevelt lest the man on horseback assume a tangible shape and the Constitution, that ancient and revered instrument, be cast aside into the limbo of discarded fetiches. There are still more 'fraids, but these are the worst, and they are one and all in future and purely things of the imagination.

Great changes are doubtless in store, but it is a sure prophecy that in the end they will make for the general welfare. In demanding honesty in public life and in business—in legislating for the general public rather than for the special interests—we are laying broad and deep the foundation of a general uplift in public happiness and well being and the beginning in the not far distant future of such an era of prosperity as will eclipse all experience of the past.—St. Louis Times.

RUIN OF THE FARMERS

The census bureau makes timely announcement of a forthcoming bulletin on agriculture in the United States. During the last decade acreage has declined and expenses have increased. No more laborers are employed, but wages are higher, and the total is a half more. But there are compensations. The crops are larger, and are worth more, and so are the lands. An aggregate yield of some $9,000,000,000 of crop values this year is reflected in an increase of value in farm lands from $20,000,000,000 to $50,000,000,000 since 1900. The farmer is not without his worries, but there are those who envy him.

These facts are especially interesting in connection with the testimony given before the interstate commerce commission to show that the farmer's ruin is attributable to the railways, and that an increase of rates would be extortionate. One honest agriculturist testified that average farmers in Iowa got their living, to be sure, but ran from $208 to $305 behind each year. Land he admitted, advanced in value every year, and crops brought more money, but he was sure that the farmers who were buying automobiles would be unable to pay any more freight money and live. The only reason the farmers are able to get along at all is that they sweat their children. As fast as they reach 14 years, a hired man is discharged for each one of them. The profits of child labor are banked, and Iowa is further ruined by the money drifting to Wall street. The horny-handed tiller of the soil who gave this testimony is editor of a farmers' weekly newspaper and president of the national conservation congress.—New York Times.

CALHOUN'S CASE ONCE MORE DELAYED

ut Over for Two Months by Judge Lawlor Despite Defendant's Protests

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Once again this morning, over the vigorous objection of Attorney Stanley Moore, the case of Patrick Calhoun was continued for two months before Superior Judge Lawlor, the hearing going over until January 16, with no probability then of the president of the United Railroads either securing a trial or dismissal of the action.

Two months ago the hearing on the indictments was put safely away until after election, and this morning when they came up and Assistant District Attorney Berry moved for a continuance, Attorney Moore was ready with a protest.

"It is now six months, your honor," he said in part, "since we gave notice that owing to the sixty-day limitation we are entitled to a dismissal. We were not granted one at that time and we think now that these cases ought to be dismissed and that no more continuances be had."

CASE IS PUT OVER.

Attorney Berry responded in reply to a question from Judge Lawlor, that as far as the district attorney is concerned their position was the same. "Big Jim" Gallagher is out of the State, and if they are ever to proceed without him he announced that they were ready now. His honor, however, inquired as to the status of the habeas corpus proceedings which the several defendants, including General Tirey L. Ford, Thornwell Mullally William M. Abbott and Calhoun, have before the Supreme Court. He was informed that the matter had been submitted and after quoting at length from the authorities, he stated that he thought the higher tribunal should have an opportunity to pass upon the matter and so put the case over without further argument.

In a similar manner the indictments against Eugene E. Schmitz, Eugene De Sabla, John Martin and Frank G. Drum were put over until the same date

DE BEAUFORT MAY REGAIN HIS WIFE

Count Has Conference With Kilgallen and Divorce Rumor Is Denied.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Street fights with chauffeurs and escapades of a like character are taking their small part now in keeping the Count de Beaufort before the limelight, and although he emphatically asserts that there will be no divorce between himself and wife, he is still denied the privilege of seeing the countess, who is at St. Luke's hospital suffering from a broken knee and fractured wrist, the responsibility for which the counteses' father, H. H. Kilgallen, places at the count's door.

The street fight, the true story of which is told by G. B. Kennedy, who happened to be passing and who refereed the bout, took place in front of St. Luke's hospital, where the count and the Kilgallen chauffeur, John A. Rouse, had their recent quarrel. It started, Kennedy states, over the chauffeur telling the count that the countess had complained to him about her husband's treatment of her.

COUNT FELLS CHAUFFEUR.

Resenting the remark, so the story goes, the count called the chauffeur a cur and threatened to thrash him Then Kennedy suggested they have it out in an adjoining alley, but without further parley the count pulled off his coat and put on a pair of light gloves, rushing the chauffeur and sending him sprawling. The chauffeur called lustily for help and Kennedy pulled the count off, but the angered nobleman was not to be quelled and again rushed the chauffeur, felling him

Regaining his footing, the chauffeur landed a stinging blow square on the count's face and another in the chest The count returned the punishment with a neat uppercut on the chauffeur's chin, which finished the bout.

The latest development in affairs De Beaufort would indicate that the count is gaining in favor with the Kilgallens. He met them Saturday afternoon at the Lexington hotel and had a conference that lasted two and one-half hours, despite Kilgallen's statement Saturday night to the effect that he never wished to see the count again and that on Monday he would bring divorce proceedings in behalf of his daughter.

AMICABLE DISCUSSION.

His talk with the count yesterday was much more amicable than on any recent occasion and indicated that a strong influence in the count's favor had been brought to bear over night. The influence is believed to be Mrs. Kilgallen, mother of the countess

However, for all appearances were outwardly so amicable the count refused to see his wife's father alone. Kilgallen was waiting alone to see him in the afternoon in a suite which he had rented on the third floor of the hotel, but the count emphatically declined to talk with him without the presence of Mrs. Kilgallen.

COUNT FEARED BEATING.

"I have had too many beatings from him already," he said, mentioning something about his attorneys. "I decline to see him alone."

Throughout the talk the main trend of the count's part of it was to protest his innocence as to the cause of the countess' injuries and to ask that they let him see her.

When the count wanted to know about the divorce proceedings, Mrs. Kilgallen simply answered "nonsense" and when he asked further if Irma, his wife knew anything about it, he seemed greatly relieved when her parents indicated that she did not.

'200 MILES FROM BROADWAY' IS BIG 'SCREAM' THIS WEEK AT BELL THEATER

MISS EMERIN CAMPBELL and Aubrey Yates in one-act Comedy "200 Miles From Broadway," at the Bell.

One of the big feature offerings at the Bell theater this week is by the well-known comedy stars, Miss Campbell and Aubrey Yates. It is a delightful one-act musical comedy, entitled, "200 Miles from Broadway," and is both novel and effective. The scene represents a near hotel in a small village in Vermont. Miss Campbell portrays the character of a stranded actress whose destitute circumstances forces her to enact the role of a waitress. Yates is seen in the character of a bookmaker, who has been driven out of New York.

It is during the actress' first experience as a "biscuit shooter" in the village hotel serving the New York race man, that she reveals in her something which other waitresses do not possess. After weighing the situation for a moment, the bookmaker bursts out with this remark: "Say, lady, you don't work here all the time, does you?" In reply the actress relates her tale of woe The two characters are presented with artistic execution. Their comedy is not only brisk and funny and immensely entertaining, but affords Yates an opportunity to display his excellent vocal talents.

Amy Leslie, the Chicago critic, says of the little skit, "The piece is written with a quiet slam for the disconsolate soubrette and a rattling good idea of a hero in any place "200 miles from Broadway."

Bush and Peyser, "premier eccentrics," are European pantomimists who combine sensational acrobatic work with their pantomime antics They run the gamut of absurdities and offer a number of sensational feats A most enjoyable interlude, combining music, song and mirth, is presented by the Three Imperials They are singers and musicians of rare ability and accomplishment and comedians also of the original sort. They present a very cheery act for all their work is of the catchy character and full of animation.

The great big laughing hit of this exceptional bill is supplied by Pistel and Cushing and partakes of the character of an old-time minstrel "afterpiece." They are well-known burnt cork comedians and it was near-hysterics for many at yesterday's performances as they sat and listened to this comical team.

Little Johnny Busch Jr; billed as "The Midget Harry Lauder," is a great little actor. He appears in regulation Highland costume, puts over a Scotch song or so cracks some good jokes and altogether makes a very creditable showing. Then there is a Japanese Prince, Americanized as Prince Yourturkey, who does some startling tricks on the slack wire and ends his act by giving a very thrilling bit of balancing by sliding on a wire stretched from the topmost portion of the gallery to the stage.

Excellent motion pictures are interspersed throughout the bill.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 14.—There were at least three deaths in the smallpox-stricken districts of Michigan yesterday, and several new cases were reported. One death occurred at the home of the Feeble-Minded at Lapeer, making six deaths since the epidemic started in the institution. There are now 17 cases in the home Militia patrol the grounds to prevent the escape of inmates.

At Saginaw, where the epidemic was most serious, two deaths and one new case were reported today. One new case also developed at Flint, making 14 in that city, and other cases were reported at Carsonville, Chesaning and in Huron county. Rigid quarantine laws are being enforced throughout the inflicted districts.

MEMORIAL SERVICE IN HONOR OF MARK TWAIN

MRS. ALICE BATCHELDER.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of November, A. D. 1910.

A. A. ROGERS,
Deputy District Attorney in and for the County of Alameda, State of California.

BATCHELDER'S STORY.

Batchelder's affidavit states the following:

State of California, county of Alameda, ss:

J. O. Batchelder, being first duly sworn, deposes and says: I reside at 613 Nineteenth street, in the city of Oakland, county of Alameda, state of California. My occupation is that of a special agent. On Monday, October 31, 1910, I was detailed by Mr. William H. Donahue to visit a resort known as Hunters inn, situated on the Foothill boulevard near the city of San Leandro, to make an investigation as to whether or not the liquor ordinance of Alameda county was being violated. I engaged Mr. Charles L. Hough, who is the owner of an automobile, to take a party, including myself, out to said Hunters inn.

I left Oakland Tuesday morning, November 1, 1910, at 1 o'clock a. m. of said day, in company with Mr. Leonard Chapman, Mrs Alice Batchelder and Mr. Charles L. Hough We arrived at Hunters inn at about 1.35 a. m. of said day. At my request, Mr. Leonard Chapman left the automobile and entered Hunters inn and ordered four glasses of whiskey In a few moments a waiter in uniform came out of said inn, having in his hand a tray upon which rested four glasses of whisky and four glasses containing water.

WAIT IN AUTO.

I, in company with the other members of the party, sat in the automobile The waiter passed the tray around, and we each took therefrom a glass of whisky and a glass of water. Mrs. Alice Batchelder said that she did not want whisky. I said that I would take both whiskies and ordered the waiter to bring Mrs. Batchelder a glass of beer. The waiter went back into the inn for the glass of beer for Mrs Batchelder, and while he was inside of the inn I poured the contents of the two glasses of whisky into an empty bottle which I had in my possession, and Mr Leonard Chapman poured the contents of his glass of whisky into another empty bottle which I had provided. Shortly thereafter the waiter returned from inside of the inn with the glass of beer on a tray, and handed it to Mrs. Alice Batchelder, and she drank the beer. Mr. Leonard Chapman then tendered the waiter a $5 bill, lawful money of the United States, and the waiter examined said bill by the light of the automobile lamp, and handed to Mr. Chapman the change. We then made preparations to leave said Hunters inn, and, as we were leaving, Mr. Leonard Chapman asked the waiter how long the inn remained open. He replied "We never close" I said to the waiter that we would be back later.

ORDERED DRINKS.

We returned again to said Hunters inn at 2 48 a m of said day Mr Leonard Chapman again left the automobile and entered said Hunters inn, at my request, and returned shortly, saying: "I have ordered the drinks." A waiter in uniform, a few moments thereafter, brought out to our party in the automobile three glasses containing gin and one glass containing whisky and four small glasses containing water Mrs. Batchelder refused to drink gin, and the waiter offered to change the gin. I asked the waiter to change my gin also, and ordered from the waiter two drinks of brandy. The waiter went back into the inn with the two gins, and shortly thereafter returned with the two drinks of brandy, which we drank. I handed to Mr. Leonard Chapman $1 in lawful money of the United States, and he passed it to the waiter in payment for said drinks, and received from said waiter 30 cents in change We then left said Hunters inn and returned to Oakland.

SECOND VISIT.

On Saturday morning, November 5 1910, in company with Mrs. Alice Batchelder and myself and Mr Charles L. Mrs Batchelder then left the automobile and came into the inn, going into the main dining room of said inn Mrs Batchelder and myself sat at a table in said dining room I examined the bill of fare, and, while waiting for the waiter to take my order, I left the table in the dining room and went outside and called Mr. Charles L. Hough into the bar room of said Inn He entered the bar room and I ordered two whiskies from Mr. George P Maloney, who was then behind the bar of said Hunters inn Mr Hough drank one whisky and I drank the other I tendered $1 in lawful money of the United States in payment for said whiskies, and received 75 cents in change. I then went back into the dining room to the table where Mrs. Alice Batchelder was sitting, and ordered a small lunch and two beers Mrs Batchelder drinking one glass of beer, and I the other After we finished our lunch, we left said Hunters inn and returned to Oakland

She is the mother of a son 18 years of age. Judge Reed died August 15, and less than two months after his widow married the son.

BABIES CHECKED IN PITTSBURG CHURCH

Fashionable Congregation Has Nursery Attached to House of Worship.

Artist Christy and Wife Separated Beyond Reconciliation.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 14.—"Please check your babies," is in substance the notice given in the fashionable Second Presbyterian church of Pittsburg with its 1100 members—among them the best people of the city. And, what is more, the church has provided a practical checkroom, or rather, a real nursery, with real nurses to take care of the babies while the mothers attend the church. One of the floors of the Sunday school building attached to the church has been fitted up as a playroom and nursery for the tots from the babe in arms to the sturdy 5-year-old. "The nursery is just far enough away that the mothers cannot hear the babies cry—if they ever do," said Rev. George Shelton, pastor of the church, who is responsible for the nursery idea.

Christys Separated

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 14.—"I hoped she would return, but from what I have learned in the last few days I hardly think she will come now."

So spoke Howard Chandler Christy, artist, yesterday, of his wife, who is now in New York.

"Mrs. Christy has made no arrangements to be here for either Thanksgiving or Christmas; I have made no arrangements to be away so far as I know she has made none to return at all," he continued. "I'm afraid that nothing will ever come of our attempts at reconciliation."

Robs for Sister

RENO, Nov. 14.—A pathetic story of youthful wrongdoing was brought to the office of United States Attorney Driscoll, who had been called to examine into the rifling of a postoffice box in that city. His investigation proved that an 11-year-old girl had watched Banker Henderson open his postoffice box, which is locked with a combination lock, until she was able to work the combination and then she opened the box and took a number of letters containing checks. She did not know that the checks were of value and destroyed them.

She has confessed that she had opened the box and took the papers, and stated that she was hunting for something of value, as her sister needed money. She thought that she would be able to help her out, as the banker was always getting money in his letter box.

The child is a half orphan, her mother being dead and her father, who is a Montana ranchman, is away from home much of the time. The government will not prosecute the child, but will turn the case over to the state officers and it is thought that she will be placed in some home.

Diamonds Lost

RENO, Nev., Nov. 4.—The loss during a road house social evening of diamond earrings valued at several thousand dollars, and their subsequent recovery, has caused a commotion among the few members of the divorce colony who knew of the episode. The diamonds were the property of Mrs. Katherine Mitchell, said to be the wife of David Mitchell of New York, and daughter of John F. Parrott, who is associated with Flagler of the East Coast railroad. In the roadhouse party was Mrs. Chrysler, said to be the daughter of a New York bishop. The loss of the diamonds created a panic for 24 hours, when it was found that they were in the possession of one of the men of the roadhouse party who had put them in his pocket and forgotten all about the matter.

Bernhardt Season Pays

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt broke existing records for this season's gross takings during a two weeks' engagement at the Studebaker Theater, which was concluded last night. The receipts for the period were $54,000, of which the French actress received 30 per cent, or something over $10,000. Her earnings, indeed, were limited only by the capacity of the Studebaker, for countless orders for seats had to be refused and hundreds of checks returned with the management's regrets. About 25,000 persons saw Mme. Bernhardt during her engagement.

Those who surround Sarah Bernhardt remarked last night upon the tireless ardor of this woman and her indefatigable zeal in the cause of art. Not once during the two weeks of her engagement did she allow herself any relaxation. She never was out of doors, declining scores of invitations, and refusing even proposed motor drives.

Gipsy Queen Dies

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14.—Jessie Habersham Michels, "Gipsy Queen," who died in a Cincinnati hospital, after giving birth to a girl baby, was the daughter of A. W. Habersham, a millionaire broker of this city and a member of one of the oldest families in Maryland. She some time ago married "King" Jorgas Michels, leader of a band of Gipsies. Surprise was expressed at the time by society folk that Miss Habersham should give up the luxury of a beautiful home to take up the uncertain life of a nomad. But Miss Habersham explained it all in a few words.

"I am tired of leading the corseted life, that of a member of society which, in the end, means so little; I have made my choice and I'm satisfied with my life."

Mrs. Jessie Habersham Michels was the great great grandaughter of Francis Scott Key, who wrote the "Star Spangled Banner." She was the great granddaughter of Mrs. Martin Lloyd Key, famous beauty of the south; grandniece of Roger B. Taney, justice of the Federal Supreme Court; cousin of Lloyd Lowndes, former governor of Maryland; great great grandniece of the first postmaster general of the United States, and a niece of a commander in the United States navy. Miss Habersham became a Gipsy of her own free will.

She left home and was gone four years before her father heard from her, although he had searched the country. She then wrote she was the Gipsy king's wife and loved the Gipsy life.

Tell Story of Their Imprisonment

BRINGS COOK WITH HER

MME. LYDIA LIPKOWSKA, who is here for a tour.

NEW YORK.—Mme. Lydia Lipkowska has just reached the United States to sing in grand opera as a member of the Metropolitan Company. Her husband objected to her leaving Russia, but she made a personal appeal to the Czar and won a passport. The singer brought a Russian cook so that she might have Russian food instead of Dutch fare while she traveled on the Nieuw Amsterdam of the Holland-American line. "Well, did he cook for you on the voyage?" reporters asked as she stepped from the ship. "No, he did not cook for me, nor for himself, either," she answered. "He had enough trouble taking care of his own stomach. Never before has he been on an ocean voyage, and he says that unless he can go back by land he will remain in the United States."

English Nuns Are Home After Going Through Revolution

LIVERPOOL. — Five English nuns who, with 300 other nuns, were cast into prison at Lisbon and, after being ill-treated, were expelled from the country by the republican government, arrived in Liverpool recently.

They are the first of the religious refugees from Portugal, and they came by the Pacific liner Ortega, which reached Prince's Landing Stage at 8 o'clock.

Only two, Miss Clayton and Miss Murphy, wore their conventional habit. The remaining three—Miss Cochrane and Miss Amelia Urbani, and her cousin, Miss Caroline Urbani—wore a modest style of secular dress.

TELLS HER STORY.

"Our habit was taken from us in prison," explained Miss Amelia Urbani, "and these are the sole garments we have. We were refused access to our own boxes, and even denied the slightest momentary assistance. But for the British consul we would probably not be here now."

"We belong to the Dominican Order," said Miss Clayton, "and our convent is at Bem Fica, on the outskirts of Lisbon. Last Monday afternoon we were all turned out of the convent by the revolutionaries and given six hours to pack up our trunks and get out of the country.

"We were taken in motor cars to the prison in Lisbon, and 300 of us were put in a sort of covered yard, where we were told we should have to eat and sleep.

BADLY TREATED.

"While in prison we were badly treated. The food was miserably poor. For breakfast we had coffee without sugar or milk, and dry, hard biscuits, and for dinner very thin soup was served to us.

"We had to take turns drinking the coffee and soup, as there was not enough tin mugs for us all. There was also a deplorable lack of washing accommodation."

Girl Stole So As to Get Good Clothes

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 14.—She forged checks to the amount of $200 just to get pretty clothes, according to the statement of 16-year-old Charlotte Pooler, 508 John street, St. Paul, who faced a charge of forgery in the St. Paul municipal court today before Judge Hugo Hanft. She was sent to the juvenile court for disposition of her case.

"I just took the names I signed right out of the telephone directory," said Miss Pooler to the court.

"What did you do it for?" she was asked.

"Well, I was always fond of good clothes. It seemed the only way I could get them. I lost my job, you know, last Thursday. I had been employed by one company from the beginning of August until last Thursday. I don't know why I was discharged. There was no one in the deal with me," continued the girl. "I was all alone."

Here Is Just What a Wife Should Do

KANSAS CITY.—What is a wife's part? Of course, a man would have to answer that. The answer was given yesterday afternoon in the circuit court and accepted without challenge.

John H. Fox—and he is a plumber, too, admitted on the stand that he is a model young man. His friends testified that he neither drank, smoked, chewed or used bad language and further insisted that he really is a model young man. On that testimony he was given a divorce from his wife, Delle Fox, whom he married four years ago.

"My wife didn't play the wife's part," Fox told Judge W. O. Thomas to whom he applied for divorce.

"What do you consider a wife's part?" Judge Thomas asked the young husband.

"Well, a wife should think something more of her husband than she does of other fellows. She ought to show her husband her letters and correspondence —which my wife refused to do. She ought to speak sweetly and kindly when she is addressed by her husband and she ought to be willing to rear a big family."

While these married life commandments as outlined by the husband might, on some occasions, be just a little hard to obey to the letter, Judge Thomas did not see fit to challange the definition of the part a true and dutiful wife should play and appeared to be satisfied the model young man know what he was talking about.

A FEW WOMEN SMILED.

The attorneys in the courtroom remained solemn faced and dignified. Several women, litigants in other divorce suits, and their witnesses, smiled broadly, while others looked longingly toward the young man as if they only wished their husbands from whom they were seeking divorce had been such model men.

"More than that," added Mr. Fox "she wanted to restrict the size of our family to just us two."

"Decree of divorce granted Mr. Fox," the judge ordered the clerk to enter of record.

Standard Oil Magnate Is Sued for Divorce

NEW YORK.—Catherine F. Burke has brought suit for separation against Charles Russell Burke. Mrs. Burke has asked for $250 a week alimony pending the trial of her suit. Her counsel, Parker, Hatch & Sheehan, will argue the case in her behalf on Monday in the Supreme court. Turner, Ralston & Honan will appear in opposition for Mr. Burke.

Burke is one of the most prominent oil men in the country and is at present in Chicago, where he is managing one of the subsidiary enterprises of the Standard Oil company. He has won considerable publicity by his ventures into politics and literature.

A few years ago Burke, who is manager and director of the Bayway Refining company and director of the Tribal Oil company, wrote a novel, "The Thistle Sifters." One of the reviews of the novel, published at the time the book was issued noted with surprise that "A Standard Oil millionaire advocates that labor men shall unite and fight capital." The book was pronounced decidedly socialistic in its tendencies. It depicted the working class overthrowing the great corporations by starting great co-operative concerns with their savings, with which the trusts were unable to compete. The result was the establishment of a communistic Utopia.

Before he wrote the book Burke had been a politician a tached to the Platt machine in the Twenty-seventh assembly district and in 1893, when the Platt machine was being contested in this city, Burke was chosen as a man on whom the organization could rely to hold the vote in line. Burke, however, suffered defeat because sixteen of the election districts in the assembly district bolted his nomination. He made a hot campaign nevertheless, and the fact that he was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and a nephew of Senator Redfield Proctor of Vermont were widely advertised. His campaign managers also said he was a descendant of Edmund Burke, the great English statesman, who was a friend of America.

Forces Children to Leave Girls' Academy

NEWBURG, N. Y.—The unusual sight of a deputy sheriff taking two girl students from the Ladycliff Academy at Highland Falls was witnessed when Deputy Sheriff Hurd, of Haverstraw, made his appearance, having in his charge two daughters of David Butler, a retired brick manufacturer of Haverstraw. The sheriff was desirous of taking a third with him, but for some reason she couldn't be found.

David Butler married a daughter of Terrence McGuire, a wealthy brickmaker. Mr. and Mrs. Butler and their seven children lived with Mr. McGuire at Haverstraw. Mrs. Butler died prior to her father. On the death of Mr. McGuire last May he left a will bequeathing $5000 and some real estate to each of his grandchildren. His will stipulated that his grandchildren could live at his residence if they wished. But there was no such clause relative to their father and he soon afterward was obliged to leave the place. His children were left in charge of their cousin, Mrs. Gordon, who had succeeded the late Mrs. Butler as housekeeper.

Soon after Mr. Butler left the house his four daughters, Anastasia, 17; Mary Adelaide, Catherine and Veronica, all under 14 years, were placed in the Ladycliff Academy. Several months ago Mr. Butler applied to the courts to be appointed guardian of the three girls under 14 years old, the law preventing him becoming such for the other daughter, unless she should first signalize her desire to have him appointed.

Armed with a court order, Mr. Butler appeared at the Ladycliff Academy for his children a short time ago. At that time Mary Adelaide, Catherine and Veronica left with their father. They went to Haverstraw. Leaving the train the three children got into a cab. The driver suddenly whipped up his horse and the children were out of sight before Mr. Butler realized that he had been tricked. For a time the children could not be found. Then it developed that they had returned to the Ladycliff Academy.

Mr. Butler again appeared at the Ladycliff Academy and asked for his children. He was told that they refused to see him. He returned to Haverstraw and procured warrants for his three children. He charged them with being disobedient and ungovernable. Deputy Sheriff Hurd served the warrants.

The authorities at the convent said they couldn't find Mary Adelaide. The two girls were taken before Justice Myers, found guilty of the charges made and paroled in custody of the father, who placed them in Mount St. Vincent convent, New York city.

Reward Offered for Girl Believed to Have Eloped

NEW YORK.—Failure to locate Maud Blaisdell, the 17-year-old daughter of John W. Blaisdell, a wealthy Brooklyn coal dealer, through a private search has led the family to offer $1000 for news of her.

Miss Blaisdell disappeared from home last May and her relatives declare their belief that she eloped with John T. Havens, 28 years old, the Blaisdell chauffeur and a married man.

Havens had left the employ of the Blaisdells eight months before he disappeared, and he earned a large sum of money while operating a concession on the boardwalk at Palm Beach.

"Maud covered her trail so completely that we have not been able to find the smallest clew of her whereabouts," said her sister.

"My sister's last message was a brief note in which she said that she had gone to Liverpool and asked her family to forgive her for leaving home. Since then the child has remained mute. My father and brother never had the least suspicion that Maud and Havens were friendly.

"The Saturday my sister left our home she told us that she had an appointment with a friend and that she intended to stay over night. We believed that it was one of her former school chums and, of course, did not object. In her handbag she carried one dress besides other articles. She promised to let us hear from her Sunday afternoon at the latest.

"When Maud had not returned Sunday night we became worried and made inquiries at the homes of all her friends, but none of the girls had seen her. Then we found the note which my sister had written before she went away. A few days later we learned that Havens had left his wife."

Would Alter English Custom

LONDON.—Although American women are so adaptable those of them who have strong personalities resent the manner in which they are bound, hand and foot by traditions in this country. No one has more to say on this point than Mrs. George West, who remarked the other day that she hopes, when she has time, to band together a group of her friends who will move heaven and earth to break down some of the absurd conventions of English women.

"There is no scope for originality in England," says Mrs. West.

"One has to submerge all one's personality," grumbled Lady Willoughby de Eresby recently, "if one is to live without shocking one's neighbors in England."

"I am never so happy as when I am shocking some of my prim and prosy guests," says the Marchioness of Dufferin. She is fond of telling her compatriots about an incident which took place at a restaurant dinner she gave some time ago. She was eating a cutlet and asked someone to pass her the mustard, whereupon her guests exclaimed with one voice—

"But you can't eat mustard with mutton?"

"Why can't?" demanded Lady Dufferin.

"Well, because it is never done!"

"Good heavens," exclaimed the hostess, "If I want to eat mustard with my ice I shall do it."

It is such women as these who keep up the standard of the American woman's reputation for charm and individuality, for although Britons may criticise them they admire them, nevertheless.

New Clew to Los Angeles Explosion Fiends

MINE DISASTER VICTIMS ARE BURIED

Throngs in Cortege Which Escort Bodies of Men Killed in Explosion.

Memorial Services Are Held for Those Who Met Death in Cherry Coal Pit.

SEATTLE, Nov. 14.—The funeral of eight of the men killed in the explosion in the Lawson coal mine at Black Diamond last Sunday was held in the little mountain town yesterday, 1500 people marching on foot in the cortege. The only hearse in the village held one coffin and the others were carried on the shoulders of the miners who have been engaged for a week in the work of digging out the bodies of their unfortunate comrades.

BODIES NOT REMOVED.

Three of the bodies discovered yesterday have not been removed to the surface. It is probable that they will be taken out tomorrow. It is doubtful if the bodies of the men in the car caught near the sixth level, 2200 feet below the surface, will ever be recovered. Coroner J. C. Snyder will hold an inquest next Sunday.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The first anniversary of the state's greatest mine horror—the Cherry disaster, a year ago yesterday—will be commemorated today in the little mining town with memorial services for the 310 victims of the underground accident

An all-day open-air program, which will be participated in by survivors of the mine fire, and other speakers, including clergymen and labor leaders, will be given between the two cemeteries.

MINERS GET HOLIDAY.

The mine of the St. Paul Coal Company, which was the scene of the fire tragedy, has been opened again only recently for work. The 250 men who are now employed there will be given a holiday today and the mine will be closed.

The mine fire which caused the entombed miners to die was started by hay coming in contact with a lighted torch.

Eleven of the victims met death in a heroic struggle to carry their comrades to safety. In a cage they took 186 companions to safety at the top of the shaft and on the last trip—the seventh—the rescuers were overcome by the fire gases.

FEW WERE SAVED.

A week later the first band of rescuers got to the entombed men, all but twenty of whom were dead. A number of those rescued alive succumbed to weakness and disease after they were taken out of the mine. They had subsisted on the meat from dead mules, and for water had sucked the seepage from the coal.

About $800,000 was raised by subscription for the families of the miners left destitute.

TOLSTOI'S WIFE WOULD JOIN HUSBAND

Countess Anxious to Share the Hardships of Spouse's Self-Imposed Exile.

Aged Writer Makes Pilgrimage With Physician, But Refuses to Disclose Destination.

TULA, Russia, Nov. 14.—No effort will be made by his family to induce Count Tolstoi to abandon his self-imposed exile and return to the peasant hut at Yasneya, which he recently deserted with the avowed purpose of spending the remainder of his days in solitude. His wishes are sacred to the countess, who, however, has sent a message to her husband, imploring that she be permitted to join him and share the hardships which he is determined to experience.

AUTHOR'S PILGRIMAGE.

Little by little the story of the author's pilgrimage to date has been known. In company with his physician, Dr. Makovetsky, he went from Tula to Shamardino, in the province of Kaluga, where he remained the guest of his sister, Marie. The latter for many years has been a nun at the cloister, which was founded 500 years ago. The nuns mingle with the world, devoting themselves to good works. Tolstoi plans to stay one week as the guest of his sister, after which he purposes to resume his wanderings with Dr. Makovetsky. His destination he refuses to disclose.

STOPS AT MONASTERY.

On the way to Shamardino Count Tolstoi stayed overnight at the monastery of Optinan. Before entering he announced:

"I am the ex-communicated and anathematized Leo Tolstoi. Is there any objection to my staying here?"

The reply was:

"It is both a duty and a pleasure to offer you shelter."

Tolstoi spent the day in the discussion of religious subjects with an aged monk whom he had met on a visit to the monastery 17 years ago.

DRESSED LIKE SERVANT.

The following morning the count resumed his pilgrimage. He is clad in a peasant's suit of rough material and wears high boots. He carries no passports and when he left home he took only $17 with him. However, his daughter, Alexandria, who had learned her father's intentions, contrived to secrete $150 in a pocket of Dr. Makovetsky's clothes, and if the count suffers for the necessities of life it will be because he elects to do so. Alexandria has since joined her father at Shamardino.

MAY GO TO CANADA.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says it is reported that after a brief stay in a monastery Tolstoi will proceed to Canada to join the Doukhobers, followers of his teachings.

LITTLE REVOLUTION IN HONDURAS ENDS; LEADER TO LEAVE COUNTRY

OPERA BOUFFE AIR PERMEATES THE CLOSING DAYS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The closing days of the little revolution in Honduras initiated by General Jose Valladares on the island of Amapala, are characterized by something of an opera bouffe air.

The valiant general who a week ago was truculently threatening everything American on the island, has been obliged to implore Captain Anderson of the United States gunboat Yorktown to protect him from his own people and the naval officer, forgetting all that has gone before, has placed a guard of American bluejackets around the house of the rebellious leader.

This information comes to the State Department from United States Minister McCreery at the Honduran capital, who also confirms the press reports that Valladars has offered to surrender. President Davilla has directed Valladares to turn over the command of affairs at Amapala to a successor, who will arrive soon. Valladares then will leave the country in exile.

The rebellion is now at an end, according to McCreery, 150 of Valladares' following having laid down their arms last Saturday. These arms are being guarded by sailors from the German warship Bremen, the commander of which apparently is acting in harmony with Captain Anderson. Town of Amapala is quiet and well protected by the foreign sailors.

The landing of American bluejackets at Amapala was precipitated by a drunken officer of the revolutionary forces shooting a telegrapher in the foot, which led to a disturbance.

WHITE HOUSE GETS NEW CULINARY EXECUTIVE

Young Woman to Supervise Cooking for President and His Many Guests

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The culinary department of the White House has another chief executive. After romance and ill-health had removed the last two incumbents of that position, Miss Flora Hamilton, a young woman of Scotch-Irish descent, was obtained from the kitchen of a prominent New York family.

Miss Hamilton has arrived to take up a most important post. Beside supervising the cooking of food for President Taft and his family, she will direct the maneuvers of the kitchen force which prepares food for about 1200 persons during the winter season of entertainment at the White House.

Prior to the coming of Miss Hamilton, Miss Amelia Howard presided over the White House kitchen, but ill-health caused her to abandon the work.

It was Miss Howard who succeeded Miss Martha Peterson several months ago, when the latter took Cupid's advice and married James Mulvey, one of the blue-coated corps at the executive mansion.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM ASSEMBLY CONTROL

Close Fight Marks Political Battle Waged in Montana Legislature.

HELENA, Nov. 14.—There is little change in the political situation today, both sides professing to have control of the legislature on joint ballot. Returns from Custer county indicate that Freeman, Republican, has gained twenty votes in five precincts, over Ferrett, Democrat, and that he is now only twelve votes behind with thirteen precincts containing 140 votes to hear from.

The Republican county chairman telegraphed to the state chairman that Freeman would win beyond a doubt, as the missing precincts were strongly Republican.

The official canvass was begun today in all counties, and it is believed that it will be completed by tomorrow evening at the latest. Until then the result must remain more or less a matter of conjecture.

ATTEMPTS MURDER IN QUARREL ON BOAT

During a quarrel last night over the division of a bottle of whiskey, Christian Nelson, a seaman aboard the British collier Farfarshire, attempted to kill John Galbraith, a shipmate, by stabbing him with a pocket knife. The fight took place on the deck of the collier, Nelson cutting Galbraith four times in the chest and on the head. The wounded man was taken to the receiving hospital for treatment, while Detective Green and Policeman Ely arrested Nelson and took him to the central police station, where he was booked for assault with a deadly weapon. Galbraith's wounds are not serious.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 14.—M. Leganeux, who made a flight with a passenger from Paris to Brussels yesterday in 3 hours and 16 minutes in competition for the $30,000 prize for the fastest round trip through the air, abandoned the return flight to Paris today because of a storm.

WATCHMAN BOUND AND SAFE CRACKED

Bandits Tie Officer to Post and Dynamite Treasure Box.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Overpowering Seymour Nolan, the night watchman, and detailing one of their number to stand guard over him where he was tied to a post, three bandits at an early hour today blew open the safe at the office of the D. P. Flory Company, wholesale hay and grain dealers, East Seventh street. They secured less than $100 in cash, several checks and a number of notes and escaped without being detected.

The watchman was found at 6 o'clock still tied and helpless.

EL PASO, Nov. 14.—Robbers dynamited the vault of the bank at Texline, Tex., early today, but the explosion aroused the town and citizens drove the robbers away before they had opened the safe. The explosion wrecked the vault and bank building.

TINY BANTAM WINS HONORS AT EXHIBIT

STOCKTON, Nov. 14. — Of 1300 birds on exhibition at the San Joaquin poultry show held here yesterday, Susan, a game bantam hen weighing exactly eight ounces, belonging to J. Hildreth Crow of 858 Thirty-eighth street, Oakland, was awarded highest honors. The bantam scored 96¾ points and not only took the grand prize, but took the cup for the highest scoring bantam.

Susan is 3 years and 7 months old and has two pullets, each weighing 6 ounces, that have never been in the sunshine nor walked on the ground, as the sun and soil tend to cause larger growth.

William A. Ingram of Fruitvale took the John D. Gallup cup for largest entry from outside exhibitor.

So successful has the association's first show been that it has been decided to make it an annual event

Disgusted Republican Will Seek Consolation In Voluntary Exile

ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 14.—An advertisement which appears in the current issues of the country weeklies throughout this part of New Jersey is exciting wide interest. It reads:

"Disgusted Republican offers his beautiful country house to some victorious Democrat and intends to leave the land that TURNS DOWN TEDDY."

The name of the owner of a well-known East Orange estate is signed to the advertisement. He declares he is in earnest and plans to go abroad to await a return of Republicanism throughout the country. He hopes to see this result two years hence

LAWYER ARGUES GRANT IS GUILTY

Insists Doctor Should Not Have New Trial for Murder of Eva Swan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—For almost two hours this morning Assistant District Attorney Brennan argued, protested and quoted authorities to support his contention that Dr. Robert Thompson, alias James Grant, should not be granted a new trial for the alleged murder of Eva Swan, and at the noon adjournment Judge Ferral, representing the defendant, had had no opportunity to reply.

Brennan repeated all the facts and rehearsed the evidence of the witnesses, which he claimed proved circumstantially that Thompson was guilty of the murder and subsequent mutilation of the girl's body and corroborated the testimony of Marie Messerschmidt, the admitted accomplice.

The disappearance of the girl, the testimony relative to Thompson's being seen at the Eureka street house, the evidence of Paul P. Parker, the alleged mis-statements of the defendant, were all represented as an admission of guilt, which Brennan claimed was sufficient to establish a corroboration of Miss Messerschmidt.

Murderer Eludes Posses in Pursuit

Governor Haskell Takes Precautions to Prevent Lynching if Optet is Captured.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 14.—Posses seeking Oscar Optet, the Mexican wanted for the murder of William C. Temple of Anadarko, have been unable to find any trace of him this morning.

Governor Haskell has taken every precaution to prevent the lynching of Optet should he be caught.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 14.—Oscar Optet, who is charged with the assassination of Wm. C. Templer, chief of police at Anadarko, Okla., is not a Mexican, in the opinion of Leon Gomez, Mexican consul here. Consul Gomez said:

"I am not familiar with that name and I am unable to translate it into the language spoken in Mexico."

Consul Gomez said he had received no advices from Oklahoma or from the Mexican ambassador at Washington since last night. He said he had wired Mexican friends at Guthrie to watch developments in Oklahoma and report to him.

"Whether Optet is a Mexican or not I hope he will be dealt with in accordance with the instructions sent to Governor Haskell by the American authorities at Washington," added the consul. "To subject him to violence would only complicate matters."

TRIES MURDER TO DEFEND MOTHER

George Cameron Chokes His Father in Court Room for Attack on Wife.

Hurls Himself at Parent Who Swears Away Woman's Honor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Hurling himself at his father's throat in defense of his mother's honor, refusing to let go even though he placed at defiance the solemn dignity of a court of law, George Cameron, the son of William J. Cameron, of 2112 Devisadero street, created an exciting scene in Police Judge Shortall's court this morning, and was practically exonerated and allowed to go without the stigma of being held for contempt.

No more dramatic incident has ever taken place in a local seat of justice, no more thrilling denouement could ever have been conceived by a playwright, and no more spectacular and yet tragic interruption could have been possible.

COURT REPORTER HURT.

When the atmosphere cleared after the fracas, Court Reporter Walter Trefts was bleeding from several wounds, received in trying to separate father and son, the trim front of his honor, the court, was in disarray and the bailiff John Brock, was seriously perturbed.

Cameron had been arrested for threats against life and battery. Several days ago his wife Letitia had testified that he had failed to support her for ten years and that her son George, employed by M. J. Torres, was the only person she had to lean on and to aid her. This morning the case was reopened. Mrs. Cameron sat with her thirteen-year-old daughter, and after her son had corroborated her testimony he stood near her.

BARBER SAVES HER.

Cameron was replying to her allegations that he came home several days ago and choked her, and he made a counter charge. At that time, according to Mrs. Cameron, a barber living in the neighborhood, had interfered and saved her from her irate spouse. This morning, solemnly, Cameron declared that he had come home from the country, had climbed up on the roof of the house, looked down through a skylight and had seen the barber in his wife's room under compromising circumstances.

"You lie," hissed his son George, as he sprang at his father and proceeded to choke him as he stood on the witness stand. Mrs. Cameron screamed; her little daughter yelled "How dare you!" and the spectators gasped in breathless silence at the interruption to the stern and orderly court proceedings.

TREFTS TO AID.

Trefts was closest to the witness chair, but he had not reckoned on George Cameron's strength and in his efforts to separate the two was sorely wounded.

Judge Shortall himself went to the rescue, but it was not until Bailiff Brock came in that the day was saved, and father and son were pulled away from a death-like clutch.

The court, of course read the riot act, promptly found Cameron guilty of battery, but allowed the son to go without even a conviction of contempt.

Men Suspected of Blowing Up Times Building Said to Be Bound for Peru.

Ship's Officer Writes That Suspicious Trio Took Passage on Liner.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—A letter received yesterday by a local newspaper man from Panama says that on the arrival there of the steamer Acapulco three men left the vessel and purchased passage for Peru before the ship's officers received word the men supposed to be the Times dynamiters were suspected of being aboard. The men were traveling together and were plentifully supplied with money. They had boarded the vessel at San Francisco.

The letter giving this information was written by John V. B. Perry, chief engineer of the Acapulco, November 2. He says no attempt was made by officials at any of the Mexican ports at which the ship stopped to search the boat, nor were any questions asked concerning the passengers.

The men were steerage passengers and answer to a degree the description of the dynamite suspects.

SUSPICIOUS REMARKS.

They were overheard, Perry writes, to remark that "it would be safer to go to Peru than to cross the isthmus to Colon." Perry says the news that the trio might have participated in the plot in Los Angeles was first received by the ship's crew after the men had left the vessel.

"The action of these men," writes Perry, "which might be deemed suspicious, was that they apparently had no plans laid as to what they were to do after they arrived in Central America. They represented themselves as interested in mining ventures. They were plentifully supplied with money and made no effort to conceal it

TICKETS FOR PERU.

"One of the men had suggested making their way to Colon across the isthmus. We afterward learned they purchased tickets to Peru.

"When we touched at Mexico no one approached us in regard to the affair and we were in absolute ignorance of it until our arrival at a Panama port."

The Acapulco left San Francisco for Panama four days after the explosion in the Times building and figured in the press as being the probable bearer of the dynamite suspects.

NEW WITNESS SOUGHT.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Having given at least a preliminary examination to all the witnesses so far assembled, the special grand jury which is investigating the Times explosion held no session today, but decided to await the coming of a score of new witnesses for whom subpoenas were issued last Thursday and Friday. Some of these witnesses live in and about San Francisco, and the servers stated that they could not get them down here before Tuesday.

Excepting Olaf Tveitmoe and Anton Johannsen, none of the northern witnesses who have been in attendance since the inquisitors began their inquiry have been permitted to leave here. Their testimony, it is understood, opened new leads which occasioned the issue of the additional subpenaes, and the witnesses summoned by these have told their stories. The original witnesses will be recalled to the stand

REV. C. R. BROWN MAY HEAD UNIVERSITY OF BOSTON

Oakland Preacher Will Leave for East the First Week in December to Meet Trustees of Institution

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Everything indicates that Boston university, which has been for some months looking for a president, would offer that position to Rev Charles R. Brown of Oakland, Cal. He is coming here next week to confer with the committee of the trustees assigned to the task of picking out the man. Thus far they feel decidedly favorable to him, and if further acquaintance, now assured, discloses no reason for reversing their opinion, he is pretty sure to be tendered the appointment.

Rev. Mr. Brown also wants to look into the university's affairs before making a decision and it is the desire of the committee that he should have the fullest opportunity to do so.

Rev. Mr. Brown is a Congregational clergyman, although a graduate of Boston university School of Theology (Methodist). He has been a college lecturer in ethics at Leland Stanford university, besides holding in 1905 and 1906 the Lyman Beecher lectureship at Yale. He is the author of several well known works in ethics and sociology.

"I am going east the first week in December," said Rev. Charles R. Brown, when seen at his residence, 322 Twenty-second street, this morning. "Nothing can be definitely announced until then."

With these words the Rev. Brown referred to the report that he would go east next week to confer with the trustees of Boston university in regard to the offer of the presidency of that institution.

"After I have been there and looked over the ground with the trustees," said Doctor Brown, "the matter will be decided one way or another, but until then nothing can be said."

Indian Shoots Stepfather; Saves Mother From Abuse

EUREKA, Cal., Nov. 14.—Emmett Frazier, aged 19, is in the county jail here and W. J. Brown, his stepfather, is lying near death in his home at Happy Camp, as the result of the boy's effort to protect his mother, an Indian woman, from the abuse of Brown.

The mother of Frazier became Brown's wife about twelve years ago. Thursday Brown returned home in an intoxicated state and is said to have abused his wife. The boy took up the quarrel and ordered Brown from the house. Brown went to the Maddox saloon, where Frazier followed, and the quarrel was renewed.

Frazier fired two shots, one taking effect in Brown's breast. Brown then started to leave the building, when the youth fired again, hitting Brown in the thigh.

SON OF WEALTHY CLUBMAN IS ARRESTED AS BURGLAR

Philip D. Wheatland Caught Near Santa Rosa and Being Brought to Oakland Charged With Robbing Residence

Philip D. Wheatland, son of Major G. W. Wheatland, a wealthy resident of Salem, Mass., formerly a well-known clubman of Boston and member of the exclusive social set of that city, a graduate of Harvard university and a relative of the late Joseph Choate, is on his way to Oakland in the custody of Detective H. E. E Green to face a charge of burglary in the local police court. This is the third time the young man has been in trouble with the authorities, and according to Captain of Detectives Walter J. Petersen, a strong case has been built against him here.

Wheatland, who was educated for the consular service, and speaks five languages fluently, besides having been cultivated in all the graces of society and the career as a diplomat planned for him by his family, is charged with having looted rooms in a local rooming-house. Taking a room about ten days ago at 805 Fourteenth street in a house conducted by Mrs. B. Holby, he remained about three days reconnoitering the place, and a week ago suddenly disappeared. At the same time jewelry and other articles valued at $150 disappeared and the police were notified.

Clever detective work led to his being traced to Santa Rosa, and he was captured yesterday at E. Verano, a nearby town, on a description furnished by the local detective bureau. Detective Green was detailed to bring him to Oakland for trial.

July 9 of this year Wheatland was captured in Berkeley after an exciting chase, his arrest being brought about by the presence of the woman whose house he had entered, and who held him until the policemen came in sight, when the man broke away and was run down after a chase through the streets of the college community. The facts of his life were brought to light during the trial, and partly on account of insufficient evidence to convict on a burglary charge, as well as on account of his pitiful plea that he be released on account of the disgrace to his family, he was given his freedom.

At that time the account of his life as a young society and clubman in Boston, when his name was on the roster of half a dozen exclusive clubs, and when his marriage to Miss Jeanne Pratt, grand-daughter of Ambassador Joseph Choate, was one of the big society events of the year, was made known. It also came to light that he had been in trouble in San Francisco, and was out on probation from the Superior Court. No information was gleaned as to the cause of his fall, or the reason why his family had deserted him.

In 1888 he was sent to Australia to represent an English syndicate and there gained the title of the John Hays Hammond of the Antipodes. He retired from active work in 1906 and took up his residence in Los Angeles.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS — BOYS AND GIRLS — AMATEUR ATHLETICS

WILL TEACH YOUNG BOYS HOW TO BE SCULPTORS

Victor Salvatore to Open Class in Modeling at the Garden Settlement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Victor Salvatore, the sculptor, will open a class in modeling at the Home Garden Settlement, No 405 E. One Hundred and Sixteenth street. Eight children who have shown artistic promise have been chosen out of the two or three thousand who attend this settlement.

None of them will be over twelve, and three boys are only five and have so far confined their efforts to the sand pile. Mrs. Guinnes and Joseph B. Thompson Jr., who knew Mr. Salvatore at Newport, are the financial backers in the experiment.

"The old fellows began young," said Salvatore, as he worked in his studio in McDougal Alley, "some of them were only six when they started. My idea is that when these boys are twenty they will have a good foundation. When they are fourteen they ought to be able to work as helpers in a studio. It is the idea of the grammar school and then the college. They must be prepared. When they know the technical side thoroughly they can create better things.

"The room in the Settlement will be just like a studio. Each one will have his own table and clay. I want them to learn to make good skeletons for their work, to put up clay and cut marble, too. Nowadays people start too late to be sculptors and they let the mechanical side of the art go.

"I shall be able to give only one evening to the class, but one of the college boys is to be there every evening to help them. There will be no school discipline, but when they see an older boy behaving I think they will do so too. I did not mean to take any girls, but two of them have shown so much promise that I have decided to try them out."

Original Stories By Young Authors

(By MARIE HIMMERLY, aged 12.)

"Little Citizens" was written by Myra Kelly, now dead.

It is a biographical story, written in Miss Kelly's humorous way.

The scene is laid in East Side, New York. It describes the home and school life of the future Jewish citizens of New York city.

It is a modern story and in reading the book one can even see the poor homes and clothes of the immigrants.

The story is written in such a way as to make a person sympathize with Constance Bailey, the Irish school-teacher. She has many trials with her Jewish pupils, some of whom can speak only their native language, but Morris Moglewsky, her favorite, interprets everything for her.

Martin, superintendent of the undenominational Sunday-school of the Church of Piedmont, will be the leader.

The junior scouts will range in age from 8 to 12 and will include the little fellows of Piedmont, who have expressed a desire to become affiliated with the movement.

Rev. J. E. Stuchell, pastor of the Church of Piedmont, organized the boy scouts about two months ago and the movement has become very popular in that vicinity, as well as elsewhere throughout Alameda county. He acts as chief scout master and accompanies the boys on all their tramps.

SPIRIT REVEALS DEATH MYSTERIES

Such Is Claim of Prof. James' Friends Who Produce Ghostly Messages.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—M. S. Ayer, head of the large grocery firm of M. S. Ayer & Co., and an intimate friend of the late Professor William James of Harvard, vouched for a series of spirit messages from the late professor.

There are four of the messages, dated October 17, 24, 31 and November 7.

The first message says:

"And this is death, only to fall asleep, only to awaken in the morning and to know that all is well. I am not dead, only risen."

AWE OF DEATH.

The second tells of the author's awe of death as a child and the realization in later years that death was "only the passing of the old into the new."

"I was hardly conscious when the change took place," the message reads. "When I awakened I found myself standing beside the old body that had served me faithfully and well. Suddenly I became conscious that my body was surrounded by many of my friends. Drawing a little nearer to that which was so like and yet so unlike myself as I had been, I called them by name and stretched forth my hand and touched them. But they heeded not."

STILL ALIVE.

The third message tells of the realization that "an impenetrable barrier separated me from my loved ones on earth. I seemed to be transported through space and I lost consciousness to akaken in a land so different and yet so similar to the one that I had lately left. Though I was dead I was still alive."

In the fourth message, dated November 7, the new world is described.

ENVELOPED IN MIST.

"All was still and no sound broke the silence," it says. "I seemed to be enveloped in a mist beyond which my gaze could not penetrate. Soon in the distance I discerned a faint glimmer of light which slowly approached me, and then, to my wonder and joy I beheld the face of her who had been my guiding star in the early days of my earthly life. She smiled upon me, stretched out her hand and at last I experienced the consummation of my strongest earthly hope that when the great gateway of death might be opened to me, sometime, somewhere, I might behold again her blessed countenance.

"This was my transition from the shores of earth to a better land."

ROCKEFELLER GROWS YOUNG ONCE AGAIN

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 14.—John D. Rockefeller is getting young again. He came down to the Baptist church yesterday with five friends, and while waiting for them to alight from the automobile hopped up on the step to open the door for a woman. Then he helped his guests out, showing remarkable alacrity. Mr. Rockefeller appears to be in better health than in many years and attributes the improvement to golfing and automobiling.

RAILROAD BLOCKS RIVAL'S CROSSING

Southern Pacific Chains Cars to Tracks and War Has Been Declared.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 14.—The Southern Pacific railroad and its most hated competitor in the Northern California field, the Northern Electric, are now engaged in a battle royal along the Sacramento city water front. Open hostilities are expected and in the meantime the Southern Pacific has a band of men on guard at the intersection of Front and X streets in an effort to keep the Northern Electric from crossing the Southern Pacific tracks with its freight line, which, to hold the company franchise, must be completed by the 15th inst.

To block the trolley road going across the steam tracks the Southern Pacific has had flat cars removed from trucks and spiked on the spur where the new road desires to cross. Old metal, pieces of machinery that weigh many tons and various other kinds of obstructions have been placed on the spot and a couple of engines are tonight moving to and fro along the disputed territory to prevent encroachments by the enemy. Workmen are provided with lurches and all-night vigils are on.

WANT INJUNCTION.

The Northern Electric desired to get an injunction to prevent obstruction of its track by the Southern Pacific, but was unable to do so on account of the day being Sunday. It will make the application today.

The Northern Electric is building its freight line down X street and must cross the Southern Pacific to get on Front street in order to get at the new Northern Electric bridge building across the Sacramento river at the foot of M street. No move was made by the Southern Pacific until today, when the trolley line reached the point of crossing. Then the Southern Pacific got busy and was unusually active in the vicinity of the crossing place.

Besides having piled on the tracks thousands of pounds of junk and running a switch engine backward and forward, there are several State policemen on the spot. These are supposed to be stationed there to prevent hostilities of personal nature among the workmen.

'OLD NASSAU' COMPOSER DYING OF PARALYSIS

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.—Professor Carl A. Langlotz, writer of "Old Nassau," the sacred college hymn of Princeton, is dying of paralysis at his home in Trenton.

Professor Langlotz is a native of Munich. He came to America many years ago and taught music in Princeton. It was while he was thus engaged that he composed "Old Nassau," loved by every Princetonian and classed as one of the best college hymns ever written. Last year the alumni took up the matter of raising a fund for him in his declining years.

Paralysis struck him down a short time ago.

MAY RAISE INSURANCE RATES.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 14.—Unless better fire-fighting apparatus is provided for Sacramento, this city will experience a sudden rise in its insurance rates. This is the ultimatum handed down by a committee of the fire underwriters which has been investigating conditions here for a week or more.

HERE IS A REAL DYSPEPSIA CURE

Settles Your Out-of-Order Stomach and Ends All Indigestion Five Minutes Later.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.

If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more Indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food. Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and, besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved in five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

BUMPER CROPS ARE PREDICTED BY WILSON

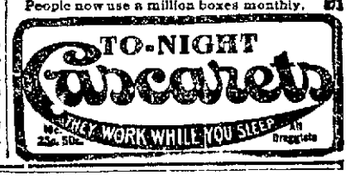

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson joins Charles W. Armour in the prediction that falling prices soon will give the American consumer cheaper foodstuffs.

"We have had bumper crops, and meat prices should come down," says Secretary Wilson. "The crops have been such that falling prices should be an inevitable result. The only thing that can defeat this will be that too great a toll is taken after the products leave the hands of the farmers, and before they reach the consumers."

A big decline in the price of grain is regarded as the keystone of the supply problem.

NEWS OF THE OIL FIELDS

CANADIAN PACIFIC TO BURN OIL ON SYSTEM

Independent Agency Enters Into Contract With Big Road; Need of Surplus Is Now Urged

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Offers of 35 cents and sales of storage certificates at 36 cents, with 41 cents asked, at the Saturday session of the San Francisco Stock Exchange, are a promising indication of the condition of the market, as these certificates represent oil actually on storage. In addition to this cheering augury comes the news that the market is extending by way of increased demand. The latest information is to the effect that the Independent Agency has entered into contract with the Canadian-Pacific Railroad to deliver all the fuel oil required by it for its boats and on its western division at a price which is said to net the producer 50 cents per barrel. The quantity called for by the contract is 2500 barrels per day, and an option has been given the agency on all that may be called for above that quantity.

All the locomotives of the Canadian Pacific running in and out of its Pacific terminus will be converted into oil-burners. One of its ships, the Princess Marie, has been already converted into an oil-burner, and the experiment proved so profitable that it was determined to close the contract with the agency for all the fuel oil the road and its Puget Sound and coast vessels may consume.

NO ALARM OVER SUPPLIES.

The California Oil World of Bakersfield publishes the following timely editorial on the matter of the present surplus:

"We do not believe that there is any occasion for any one to feel alarmed at the announcement that close to 29,000,000 barrels are today in the storage tanks of producers and marketing companies. To be sure this is the largest amount yet accumulated in California, but, on the other hand, the volume of business is several times greater than it has ever been before and it is growing. Five or six years ago a storage amounting to about 80 per cent of this forced prices down to 12 cents, but then so small was the volume of business, as compared with the present, that the 16,000,000 barrels on hand constituted a much larger relative surplus than the present 29,000,000.

"In the Mid-Continent field a much larger surplus than this was accumulated. It beat down prices to 35 and 40 cents, but then conditions are entirely different in the Mid-Continent from what they are here. Be it remembered that not only has California many advantages over Oklahoma, such as the total absence of coal and proximity to tidewater, but in this state nearly half the surplus is owned and controlled by the producers themselves through their organization, which is marketing its own oil and is not depending upon the Standard or any other big marketing concern.

NEED OF SURPLUS.

"As we have said again and again, moreover, there is need of a big surplus, if consumers at a distance and the United States navy are to be induced to use oil on a big scale. This truth is so elemental that there is hardly room for any discussion. Big surpluses have always preceded any large extension.

"California has one great advantage over any other large fields in the world, and that is its proximity to tidewater. Not a barrel of oil is produced in this state that cannot reach the ocean by a haul of 300 miles. Over 100,000 barrels every month is produced within 50 miles or less of the ocean, a large part of it within 25 miles and less. The Texas and Louisiana wells are the only ones that can compare with this in nearness to tidewater in the United States. The wells of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Oklahoma are far inland. True, some of these are right in the midst of a larger population than California, but this condition is changing rapidly with the growth of the Pacific Coast.

NEARER TIDEWATER.

"Not only is California's oil region nearer to tidewater than the others of the United States, but it is also nearer than any of the leading foreign districts. Baku's oil is piped 480 miles to Batoum, on the Black sea, for shipment. Russia's oil field is on the Caspian sea, but that is simply an inland lake, and its waters reach only a very small portion of Russia and Persia. The Roumanian fields are comparatively small, and are inland, as are those of Galicia, and these are the only ones worthy of mention in Europe. Mexico's field is close to the gulf—closer, in fact, than any oil production that exists outside of Louisiana and Texas."

ARTIST'S FRIENDS BUILD HIS HOME

Surprise Painter by Constructing Pretty Brick Cottage for His Mother.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 14.—"Going to build a house for the mother," remarked Edward Gamble, a young painter of this city to his friends last week. "A little frame cottage she can call her own. Wish I could give her a brick house, but I haven't got the money."

Gamble's friends, practically all of whom are engaged in building trades, got their heads together with the result that yesterday thirty bricklayers, comrades of Gamble, descended on the site of the proposed cottage and by night the brickwork of a compact little house was completed. Next Sunday a similar force of Gamble's friends among the carpenters will get the cottage ready for the plasterers, who will donate their labor the following Sunday.

The brick house, with the labor donated, will cost Gamble about what he expected to pay for a frame cottage, his only outlay being for material. The house will have a value of about $2500.

WHEELMEN TO HAVE CLEVER BOXERS IN RING THIS EVENING

Dell and Moore Well Trained for Tonight's Meeting; Wolgast Cannot Box Nelson at Present; Gossip of Roped Arena

By EDDIE SMITH.

MATCHMAKER MEL MOFFITT of the Oakland Wheelmen Club spent the day yesterday in visiting the men who are to appear in the contests the club is to stage at the Piedmont Pavilion tomorrow night. This morning Moffitt was reached on the phone and said: "I have seen Moore and Dell as well as Harris and Dennis and I am sure that the condition they have trained to will enable them to put forth their best efforts.

"I believe that the card we will stage tomorrow night will be one of the best that the club has offered. I have come to the conclusion that the fans want fast and snappy work from the boxers who are to appear on this side of the bay as well as variety. The card of tomorrow certainly has plenty of that. Some of the contests will be affairs in which cleverness will count the strongest and some of the others bring together men who will have to stand toe to toe and slug from the first tap of the gong to the end of the contest to win.

MAIN EVENT A GOOD ONE.

"In the main event I fully expect to see Dell and Moore stand and slug each other from the start and if the contest goes the full ten rounds the fans will find both men right on the job as busy as they were when the first round ended. In this contest I would not be a bit surprised to see a knockout, however.

"The seats are in good order for the show and the tickets have been placed on sale at the usual places, so we have nothing left but to hope for a good night's sport."

All that Moffitt has said about the Harry Dell-Roy Moore contest is true. It would indeed be surprising if this contest did not prove one of the liveliest bouts to be staged on this side of the bay in many a day. Both Dell and Moore are rated as the hardest hitters in their division and with their eagerness for victory and willingness to mix matters the battle is sure to be a warmly contested one.

Ray Boughman is to meet Kid Barnes in the first of the six round events and with two four round bouts as preliminaries the card looks like a well balanced one.

WOLGAST-NELSON MATCH IS OFF.

Adolph Wolgast has sent word to Toule Blot to the effect that he will not be able to meet Battling Nelson during the month of December. Not only did Wolgast say that he would not meet Nelson before December, but he made the very bad break ow saying that in his opinion Nelson would not be a good drawing card. Of course, Ad says that the injury to his arm is the principal cause for his having to call the match off and lucky for him that he did.

To say that Battling Nelson will not be a good drawing card is like saying that the boxing game will be dead. Just so long as Nelson elects to stay in the game of boxing as an active participant he will be a great card.

No one has ever been able to say that the Dane failed to give the people the run for their money that they expected when the tickets were purchased. That sort of a boxer will always remain a great drawing card. Wolgast is the fellow who had better look to his drawing ability for if he insists on having Ellis as he has during the past six months and criticizing his fellow lightweights the public will turn on him, and he will be the recipient of criticism that he will not appreciate. Another thing is definitely decided by the turn that Wolgast has taken. Blot carried on all his business with Wolgast and when Tom Jones, manager of Wolgast, heard of the match being made he issued a statement at Chicago saying that Wolgast would not be ready to fight.

BLOT IS FOOLED BY WOLGAST.

Blot smiled at this remark and said that Wolgast had thrown Jones over. The result shows that Jones is still the master of the situation and Blot is out for a match. It is now the intention of Blot to try and match "One Round" Hogan with the winner of the Nelson-Moran contest, but as Hogan has repeatedly said that he will make his first start in the real professional game over the ten-round route this match looks out of the question.

Blot would do well to sign Anton LaGrave and Packey McFarland for a twenty-round contest. LaGrave is willing and anxious and McFarland will come to the coast if there is the least chance to make a little money.

ABE ATTELL MEETS A TARTAR.

Abe Attell in his round-the-world trip picking up easy money run again to a tartar yesterday at New Orleans, in the person of Frankie Conley, who only a few short months ago put the rollers under Abe's brother Monte. Abe imagined he had another soft one, but judging by the accounts Conley carried the milling to Abe at such a rapid clip for the fifteen rounds they were in the ring that many of the spectators thought he should have had the decision.

Frankie is greatly boosted in the eyes of the boxing public by securing a draw with the clever Abe, however, and he should be satisfied. It may be that Attell was not at his best, but this is certain, he played his old game of stalling the first two minutes of the round and then, opening up the last minute, leave the best impression on the fans and referee.

That is just what he did in the Nelson contest a few years ago. Suppose both men stalled this first two minutes the contest would not be at all interesting. For that reason the opponents of Attell are often entitled to a little the best of it. They try to give the people what they pay for and this is more than can be said for the champion.

JOHNSON LIKES SHORT BOUTS

While Jack Johnson has not said so, it is understood that he will not accept the offer of the Paris promoter for a battle with Joe Jeannette at the French metropolis. Johnson has made up his mind to stick to the short route game, and as the offer of the Paris promoters calls for a long fight, Jack will refuse to take a chance. Johnson is well fixed and needs nothing more, and with his wonderful cleverness he knows that he will be able to hold on to the title for many years.

On the other hand in a long battle most anyone has a possible chance and Johnson is undoubtedly guarding against that chance, slight though it may be.

Defeat Soldier-sailors team in Fine Style by 19 to0 Score.

The football team of the Marine Corps from Mare Island was defeated by the Century eleven at the Grove-street grounds yesterday by a score of 19 to 0. The soldier-sailors played a strong game in the early part of the game, but the speed and skill of the Centurys told later and the club scored three touchdowns, two of which were converted into goals by Kiser. A safety made the other two points.

Incell was the star of the club team. He scored two touchdowns and played a brilliant game all through. The third touchdown was made by M. Bruzzone from a forward pass. The safety was the result of Miller being forced behind the line after catching a punt.

The following were the teams.

Century.	Position	Marine.
Sierras	Full	Snyder
Kiser	Right half	Miller (C)
W. Moir	Quarter	Harkness

The Central Association is the latest to put the kibosh on "farmed" players. It is said that accepting players on optional agreements is death to observance of the salary limit.

At an increased salary Scout Larry Sutton has signed with the Brooklyn League Club to dig 'em up for another year. Larry has picked up some players for his employer this year who bid fair to develop into stars of the first magnitude.

ELLIOTT, STAR OF SATURDAY BIG GAME, ELECTED CAPTAIN

Blue and Gold Rugby Heroes Will Have Clever Player to Guide the Next Season's Football Squad

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—So enthused were the California Rugby players following their victory of Saturday, when they trailed the Cardinal to the tune of 25 to 6, that they demanded of the coach that he immediately call a special meeting in the training quarters in Harmon gymnasium in order that they might elect a leader for next year.

Amos W. Elliott, who played a star game, was unanimously chosen captain of the Blue and Gold team. He is a junior in the college of civil engineering, registering from Oakland, where he attended the Oakland High school, and is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

As it is the usual custom to elect a captain at the football banquet which is given a week following the big game, the honor accorded Elliott by his team mates was heartily in accord with the universal college sentiment that he should have the place, and meets with the approval of the entire student body.

Before the game last Saturday it was believed that the popular player would not be able to compete, owing to an injury which he had received in the California-Nevada game the preceding week, but the coaches finally relented and it was owing to his clever work in a large measure that California players heaped up the points on their adversaries. Elliott kicked five faultless and difficult goals, having made one of the five trys.

When he entered the university three years ago he had but a slight reputation as a player of the old game. He immediately took to Rugby, however, and seemed a natural-born Rugby man, showing up to such an extent that he was selected captain of his freshman team, playing half-back and also during a five-eighths position on the Varsity squad. Last year he made a sensational 60-yard run and was also one of the stars of the game played on Stanford field.

This year he was looked upon as one of the mainstays of the California team and that he lived up to his reputation is conceded by all who witnessed his clever playing in last Saturday's contest.

PHOENIX AND BEATSOLS PLAY GREAT BALL GAME

In one of the best pitchers' battles seen on St. Mary's Campus for several years, Benham for the "Beatsols" and Leonard of the Phoenix fought twelve innings to a 0 to 0 tie yesterday afternoon.

Leonard fanned nineteen while Benham sent eleven to the bench. Leonard walked one, while Benham gave three free tickets.

Miller's catching for St. Mary's was a feature. Neither Simpson, catcher, nor Leonhardt, captain appeared with the Phoenix yesterday, as both are prominently connected with the Rugby team now in training. The score:

RUNS AND HITS BY INNINGS

Phoenix	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Base hits	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	1	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	4
Base hits	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	4

Summary: Three-base hit—Wilkinson. Two base hit—Benham. Sacrifice hits—Burns, Wallace. First base on called balls—Off Leonard 1, off Benham 5. Struck out—By Leonard 18, by Benham 11. Hit by pitched ball—O'Connor. Time of game—2 hours and 15 minutes. Umpires—Campi and Wrinkle.

SPAULDING ATTACKED

Mr. A. G. Spalding is annoyed because a Chicago paper seems to have put him in the light of favoring a third major league. Mr. Spalding denies any such idea vigorously and unqualifiedly asserts that no greater misfortune could befall the national game. "Anything that tends to disrupt the present splendid system of organized ball would be a detriment to the sport," he says, "and should be discouraged. There is no room for a third major league. There are not enough high-class players in the country to man one. The public is satiated with baseball now and another one would not only cost from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000, but would take ten years of hard work to bring the game back to its present popularity. The masterly way in which the national commission has handled baseball affairs is a guarantee to the public that the game will be kept clean and above reproach—an assurance to the player that he will continue to receive a princely salary and a business confidence to the club owner that will warrant the construction of more million-dollar grounds and grandstands."

OAKS WIN A DOUBLE-HEADER FROM MODESTO TEAM IN FINE STYLE

Bill Harkins Pitches First Game and Willie Hogan Handles the Other.

PORTLAND, Nov. 14.—The Portland team of the Pacific Coast League won a benefit game of ball arranged in recognition of their league pennant victory.

Eugene Krapp pitched for Portland and was hit only three times, one of these, however, being a home run knocked by Speck Harkness.

Although the amount secured from admissions fell short of expectations, it was still sufficient to net the pennant winners about $ 25 each. Fielder Jones umpired the contest.

OAKS DEFEAT MODESTO.

MODESTO, Nov. 14.—The Modesto Reds and the Oakland Coast League nine played two exceptionally fine games here yesterday, the leaguers winning both game 3 to 1 and 2 to 1. The league players were unable to do much with the offerings of the Reds' pitchers, Mobley and Jensen, but showed their superiority in running bases.

In the morning game the score was even until the seventh when a home run by Maggert scored two runs and another homer by Harkins made the third. The Reds scored in the eighth.

In the afternoon game Willie Hogan climbed the mound for Oakland, and the Reds took kindly to his offerings, but were caught on bases. Summary:

Morning game—	R	H	E.
Oakland	3	7	5
Modesto	1	6	1

Batteries—Modesto Jensen and Palm; Oakland Harkins and Thomas.

Afternoon game—	R.	H.	E.
Oakland	2	5	1
Modesto	1	9	1

Batteries—Oakland, Hogan and Thomas; Modesto, Mobley and Palm.

Umpire—Jakey Baumgartner.

OLD CHAMPIONS WIN.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—The champions of 1907 in the Pacific Coast League got together yesterday and played an exhibition game with Vernon, trimming their opponents by a score of 4 to 1. With the exception of second base, where Jean Howard cavorted, the lineup of the old times was complete.

Cravath, Ellis and Dolly Gray, now big league stars, were in their respective positions and Hap Hogan and Kitty Brashear were forced to desert the Villagers to get back in their championship places.

San Leandro Team Takes Measure of Alameda Champions

The champion Alameda Club of the Central California League took the count yesterday afternoon when it went up against San Leandro in a post-series game. The contest was a fast one from start to finish, but San Leandro outplayed the boys from Alameda all the time, and there never was a chance for them to win.

Arlett, the lad who beat the Seals last Tuesday afternoon, pitched a grand game for San Leandro, and though he was hard hit at times, he always pitched himself out of the tight places. The score:

RUNS AND HITS BY INNINGS.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Alameda	0	0	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	—3
Base hits	0	1	0	0	2	1	3	0	1	—8
San Leandro	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	0	*	—5
Base hits	1	3	4	2	0	0	0	0	*	—10

Summary: Two base hits—W. Bartell, Sparks, Merritt, Jackson. Stolen bases—Priester, Driscoll. First base on called balls—Off Arlett 3, off Sparks 8. Struck out—By Arlett 6, by Sparks 4. Passed ball—Jackson. Wild pitches—Sparks (2). Time of game—1 hour and 45 minutes. Umpires—Peralta and Hennessey.

OUTLAW LEAGUERS BUY BIG PITTSBURG PARK

PITTSBURG, Nov. 14.—Recreation park, situated on the north side of the city and used as a National League ball park several years ago, has been sold by a realty company to a Western capitalist, acting for the new "outlaw" league of D. A. Fletcher. The price paid was $160,000.

The purchaser announced the new circuit would include Chicago, Cleveland, Louisville, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis and possibly two other American Association cities. It was stated that the American Association is interested in the scheme and is lending its support. Local business men have been asked to subscribe for stock.

The sale, coming on the heels of Promoter Fletcher's announcement in Chicago that he has 9 old league players under contract, indicates that Pittsburg is to have opposition baseball next spring.

RACING PROSPECTS LOOK BRIGHT FOR PATRONS OF GAME

Brilliant Opening of California Jockey Club Gives Promise of a Highly Successful Meet This Season

THE manner in which the 1910-1911 racing season of the California Jockey Club was ushered in at the Oakland race track last Saturday afternoon has been most gratifying to the horsemen and of the followers of the pastime. While it had been predicted taht the coming meet would bring out a goodly crowd, few of the horsemen looked for the outpouring that was in attendance when the bugle blew, calling the thoroughbreds to the post for the Opening Handicap. The fact that this race was a slashing good one added zest to the meet and every indication points to the coming season being as successfull as any in previous years.

The big football game at Berkeley no doubt kept many hundreds away from the races for they figured that this annual struggle of the two rival colleges is but a yearly event, while there will be a hndred days of racing at least.

MANY MORE HORSEMEN WILL COME NOW.

Eastern horsemen who were dubious of bringing their stables West will no doubt be much pleased with the glowing reports of the conditions here, and it is thought that many more will begin to hie for the Oakland race track with their strings.

As to the card for Saturday, it is the opinion of the majority of horsemen and followers of the ponies that Arasee was the best in the handicap under the conditions. Spellbound was not fit and it is doubtful, even if he was off to a better start, whether he would have succeeded in overtaking Arasee or Bubbling Water. As for the mare it is believed that had the Molera-Joseph entry been a little better conditioned that the result might have been different. As it is, the mare ran a slashing good race and can be counted on from now on.

* * *

This week's card will have the usual six races a day, with a handicap sandwiched in now and then, the first being the Encino this afternoon.

Wednesday the Crescendo handicap will be run. The latter event is at a mile and 70 yards for all ages.

The attraction Thursday will be the Yo Tambien handicap at five and a half furlongs. It is also for all ages.

The Volante handicap at a mile for all ages is announced for Saturday.

Carroll Schilling, the crack jockey, will not report at Emeryville for at least two weeks, as he is off on a hunting trip, and is having too good a time. He reports himself in first-class shape though, so will be ready to hop into the saddle as soon as called on.

George Berry has the call on Schilling and with Callahan, the lightweight, fit, the Berry string should receive good handling.

Dave Henry, who has Barney Schriber's old-timer, Dargin under his wing, reports the old trick in good fettle, and will have him in front of the barrier before long. Last season Dargin won three out of four that he was entered in.

CHANCES FOR WINTER MEET IN LOS ANGELES NOW BEING DISCUSSED

John Brink and Associates Planning to Have Ponies Run Sixty Days There.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—John Brink, vice-president of the Los Angeles Racing Association, is authority for the statement that there will be a sixty-day race meet held at Santa Anita Park this winter. J. L. Holland, president of the local racing organization, is now on his way here from New York, and on his arrival active work will be commenced in preparation for the meet.

The tentative plans, which call for sixty days of racing, beginning early in January, were laid at a meeting of the board of directors of the association held last week, at which Mr. Brink, Secretary Randall H. Unruh and George Rose were present.

The decision to hold the races was said to have been reached only after a spirited discussion, in which Rose opposed the meet, saying he regarded it as certain that the Pacific Coast Jockey Club, of which Thomas Williams is the moving spirit, would not grant dates for the local meet, in which event horse racing here would be outlawed. He was finally won over from his stand by the other directors, and a determination was expressed to hold the meet irrespective of the action of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club.

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—The Detroit baseball team yesterday defeated the Almendares team by a score of 3 to 0.

OLD SORES
DUE TO DISEASED BLOOD

Every symptom of an old sore suggests diseased blood. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that local applications have no permanent effect toward healing the ulcer, shows that deep down in the system there is a morbid cause for the sore. But more convincing proof that bad blood is the cause for these places is furnished by the fact that even removing the sore or ulcer by surgical operation does not cure; they always return. Nature will heal any sore if the blood is pure and healthy, but until the circulation is cleansed of all impure matter and supplied with nourishing and plasmic qualities the infected condition of flesh is OBLIGED to remain. S.S.S. heals Old Sores in a perfectly natural way. It goes into the blood, removes the impurities and morbid matters, adds nourishing qualities to this vital fluid, and brings about the very conditions that are necessary before any sore can heal S.S.S. is a perfect blood purifier, acting directly on the circulation through the stomach and digestive members. Its use makes rich, red, healthy blood, which nourishes all flesh tissues instead of infecting them with the virulent matter which keep old sores open. BASEBALL HEADS IN CONFERENCE

California Seeks Sanction for San Jose, Stockton, Vallejo and Oakland.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The board of arbitration of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues took up today the consideration of disputed games and disagreements among players and their managers.

The California Baseball League, which disbanded last year, wants sanction for a four-club circuit—San Jose, Stockton, Vallejo and Oakland.

The chief discussion tomorrow will be over classification. Leagues are classed according to population to draw attendance from.

This year's census is the first since the organization and the leagues hit by this cause probably will fight for the elimination of the rule.

Thinks Two Salaries Too Much for Berry

J. H. Todd Springs New Surprise on Berkeley Municipal Government.

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—James H. Todd, who is attempting to enforce a state law in Berkeley compelling boards of education to display flags inside and outside all school houses, sprung another municipal sensation today by announcing that he would start an investigation into the question of Councilman R. A. Berry, commissioner of finance and revenue, receiving two salaries, one of $15 a month as a member of the board of education, and another of $150 a month as commissioner of finance and revenue.

Todd claims thta Berry should not receive more than the regular salary of $1800 a year as commissioner and is not entitled to receive further remuneration from the school trustees.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—W. F. Cowley, sleeping comfortably under a detached baggage car with his head on a rail as a locomotive was about to back into the car, assaulted Postmaster Reimer when the latter grabbed him by the hair and cheated the coroner of an inquest.

"I did not have a fraction of a second to lose," said Reimer in court today, "and yanked him out by the hair. Then he sailed into me with both fists and abused me for interrupting his slumbers."

Reimer entered a charge of trespass and disorderly conduct aaginst Cowley.

TIP O'NEIL ELECTED PRESIDENT FOR FIVE YEARS

Western League Gives Him Boost in Salary and Awards Topeka Pennant.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Managers and team owners of the Western League met here yesterday, re-elected Norris L. ("Tip.) O'Niel president for five years, practically settled the question of the Topeka franchise, awarded Sioux City the 1910 pennant and made an 168-game schedule for 1911.

O'Niel was voted an increase of salary and was praised by the owners for the success of the 1910 season in the Western Baseball League.

The position of the Topeka team, which failed to report a successful season, practically was settled when a notice was received that the franchise had been purchased from D. C. Cooley by Topeka business men. The price was said to be $10,000, and it was said unofficially the deal meets with the approval of the league.

Fear that other Class A leagues will attempt to reduce the classification of the Western, in order to make its players eligible to draft will be the chief subject of the meeting.

OAKLAND NEWSIES 14, OWL CIGAR CO. 5

The Oakland newsboys' nine defeated the Owl Cigar Company nine yesterday afternoon at the East Fourteenth-street diamond by a score of 14 to 5. The newsies knocked three pitchers out of the box. The Owls got four hits and the newsies fourteen. Cinnamond, of the newsies, pitched a splendid game and was well supported by the newsies. Scotty, H Harris and Tuffle were the features of the game by their heavy stickwork. Each one of them got four hits out of five times at bat. The newsies have won twelve out of fifteen games. They will play any team on the coast Sunday. Address all challenges to Ed Morris, Golden West Hotel, Oakland.

The lineup of the two teams follows: Newsboys—H. Cinnamond, pitcher; E. Cinnamond, catcher; R. Cinnamond, first base, Scotty, second base; Red, third base. Dr. Tuffle, shortstop; P. Harris, left field, H. Harris, center field; Stevens, right field.

CURRY SLATED FOR HARBOR BOARD

Governor-Elect Johnson Plans to Make Him President of Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The gossip in political circles is to the effect that one of the first official acts of Hiram Johnson as Governor will be to remove W. V. Stafford, the president of the Board of Harbor Commissioners and to appoint Secretary of State Charles F. Curry as his successor.

It is Curry's ambition to succeed P. H. McCarthy as Mayor of San Francisco and he wants the job of the presidency of the harbor commission as a stepping-stone to aid him in its gratification.

KEESLING TO CONTEST.

However, Francis V. Keesling, who came so near capturing the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, will contest Curry's candidacy for the mayoralty. James Rolph Jr. is also mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor at the primaries.

Gossip says that Charles R. Detrick will be appointed Governor Johnson's private secretary. Detrick became secretary of the State Central Committee when the Lincoln-Roosevelt League obtained the party control.

Charles E. Snook is also said to be slated for the position of attorney to the university board of regents, vice Governor Gillett's former law partner, Judge Fletcher Cutler.

It is rumored that an open rupture has occurred between Meyer Lissner of Los Angeles and G. T. Earl, the proprietor of the Los Angeles Express, and Johnson, on the ground that both were too busy during the campaign making enemies instead of friends for the governor-elect.

The terms of Jake Transue of Los Angeles and Al Lindley, building and loan commissioners, will expire on January 7. Lindley placed his resignation in the hands of Governor Gillett some time since, as he is rich now and does not need the $200 a month salary.

State Mineralogist Lewis E. Aubury will only hold his $3000 a year salary a few days after Governor Johnson takes office, and many are already after the job. John D. McKenzie, labor commissioner, can hang on till July 1, at $3000 a year. Code Commissioner J. W. Wiley and his $3600 will run to October 1, when Grove L. Johnson may perhaps fall heir to the place.

Nat Ellery, state engineer, goes out of office on May 11. His salary is $4800 a year. With him will go out George C. Sellon, state architect, at $4000 a year, and Paul M. Norboe and Ralph Barker, assistant engineers, at $3000 each, and various deputies and clerks.

Jim Gillis can hold on as state librarian until 1914, and the same is true of Insurance Commissioner E. C. Cooper. Alden Anderson and his $10,000 a year as superintendent of banks and banking also holds along till the third year of Governor Johnson's term.

MAN COOKED TO DEATH IN BOILING SULPHITE

GLENN FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Immersed in boiling sulphite, a pasty material from which news print paper is made, Peter Christian was cooked to death yesterday at the paper mill at Port Edward, of which he was night superintendent.

Christian was standing behind a receptacle containing sulphite when a plate blew out.

$12,000, IS SOUGHT ON CHARITY DAY

Berkeley People Plan to Help Poor With Food and Medicines.

BERKELEY, Nov. 14. — "We ought to raise that $12,000 in one day, and we expect to do it," said Commandante Arthur Arlett today in reviewing the progress of the work that is planned for Berkeley's Charity Day, which falls on Saturday, November 19. "We don't have to get all that money in one day, but we want to, and we give our promise that if the people come through with the full sum needed they shall not hear another word from us for a year. But we must have the money, and we are determined to get it if it takes all winter. From past experience, it is certain that the good people of Berkeley are able and willing to support the three charities for which we are raising this fund, as the money hitherto has been forthcoming. Now the question is whether they would rather have it done and through with in one day, or do they prefer to have us calling on them and importuning them for a month or more.

"It is absolutely necessary for the general public to give the money to sustain the Berkeley Charity Organizations Society, the Berkeley Day Nursery and the Berkeley Dispensary, because they are not connected with any church, fraternity, club or other organization. So it is simply up to charitable people, no matter what their other relations may be, to help these deserving institutions.

PINCH COMING NOW.

"Berkeley has some who need assistance, and the pinch is coming right now during the rainy season that is upon us."

From all parts of the city encouraging reports are received, indicating that the annual Charity Day in Berkeley will be a grand success.

The Charity Organizations Society takes care of the deserving poor of the city, irrespective of race or creed. All who need help are given immediate relief.

The Berkeley Dispensary supplies medicines to all who are unable to obtain what they need.

The Berkeley Day Nursery appeals to many kind hearted people. This institution takes care of smal children whose mothers are compelled to earn a living. The little ones are given the best of care and are fed and put to bed for their daytime naps, just the same as if they were at home. There are lots of toys for the tots, and a good lot with sand piles, swings, etc. This is the only day nursery in Alameda county, and several deserving women who work to support themselves and their children have moved to Berkeley to take advantage of this opportunity, because without this they would be compelled to place their babies in an orphan asylum.

PRISONER WRITES BOOK OF ANTHEMS FOR CHURCH

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A book of anthems for church choirs is being composed by Alfred Dalby, a prisoner in the Tombs prison here, and will be finished, he hopes, by the time his term has expired.

The first of the anthems was sung at the prison service yesterday. It is called "Entreat Me Not," and is founded upon the first chapter of Ruth, which describes the decision of Ruth to cling to Naomi.

Dalby accompanied the singers on the organ of the little Tombs chapel and the prisoners showed their satisfaction by congratulating him at the close of the service.

BIG APPLE SHOW ON IN SPOKANE

Millions of Orchard Specimens Are Placed on Exhibition.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 14.—The shrieking of ferry and railway whistles at 10 o'clock today announced the opening of the third national apple show at the Spokane Armory.

Close to thirty carloads, estimated to contain 2,000,000 apples, have been arranged with all the skill their 3200 owners possess in competition for nearly $20,000 in prizes. For the world's championship carload exhibit, with a prize of $1000, twenty-one straight cars are competing.

EXHIBIT IN CHICAGO.

At the close of this week's show the prize winning apples and thirty-six district displays are to be shipped to Chicago by special train to be placed on exhibition in the First Regiment Armory for the week beginning November 28.

The apple show opened today with the "live wire" convention, made up of representatives of Chambers of Commerce and other development organizations. The "live wires" were guests at luncheon of President Elliott of the Northern Pacific Railway, who is president of the apple show.

Miss Mary Idell Ide of Colville will be crowned as "Apple Queen" tonight, Governor M. E. Hay being her prime minister. Apple packing contests, a country life convention, a "college day" and special musical and vaudeville features will be features of the show during the week.

FINANCIERS EXPECT ALDRICH TO ACT

Conference Delegates Think New Currency Reform Bill Will Be Enacted.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Financiers who have returned from the national monetary commission's conference held in New York last week, expressed the belief today that Senator Aldrich would attempt to accomplish at the coming short session of Congress the enactment of a currency reform bill and that the central bank idea would be one of its features. Such a bill, it was said, was now in course of preparation.

A subject of much speculation was the question as to what disposition of the $700,000,000 of 2 per cent bonds now held by the national banks will be proposed as the basis of note circulation in a central bank scheme. The market value of these bonds is now much below their purchase price.

While one plan of caring for these securities has been to take up with the postal savings, as is allowed by the postal savings bank law, it is now considered that such a process might be too slow, and it is supposed some other plan will be provided in the bill which it is expected will be introduced soon after the session opens in December.

OFFERINGS SCARCE IN THE WHEAT PIT

Rains in Argentine Have Bullish Influence With the Chicago Speculators.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Scarcity of offerings led to a rebound in the wheat prices today. Receipts in the Northwest showed a big decrease and there were reports of large shipments of flour to the Orient.

Rains in Argentine, interfering with the harvest there, formed another bullish influence.

Weakness at the start was attributed to heavy world shipments.

The market opened ⅛@¼c lower to ⅛c higher. First sales of May were at 95¼c to 95⅝c, a loss of ⅛@⅜c, to a shade advance. On the ensuing rise 96⅛c was touched, with a reaction later to 95¾c.

Heavy selling, due to a huge increase in the visible supply, caused weakness, but Duluth exports and Kansas City and Minneapolis milling purchases renewed the strength of the market. The close was steady, with May wheat at 96⅛c, a net gain of ⅛@⅜c.

Corn was easier on fine weather. May opened unchanged to a shade off at 47¼c to 47⅜c, rallied a sixteenth, and settled down at 47⅜c.

Later the market strengthened with wheat. The close was steady, with May up a shade and steady at 47⅞@48c.

Purchasers by local trade kept oats comparatively steady. May started unchanged to ⅛c off, at 34¼@34¼c to 34⅛c, and held within that range with much persistence.

Fairly general selling weakened provisions. The opening was a shade to 10c down, with January at $17.32½ for pork, $10.20 for lard and $9.12½ for ribs.

The closing quotations were as follows:

Wheat—December, 90⅝c; May, 96⅛c; July, 93⅛c.

Corn—December, 46⅛c; May, 47⅞@48c; July, 48⅝c.

Oats—December, 31¼@31⅜c; May, 34¼@34⅜c; July, 34¼@34⅜c.

Pork—January, $17.32½; May, $16.30.

Lard—November, $11.10; January, $10.27½@10.30; May, $9.82½.

Ribs—January, $9.30; May $9.05.

Rye—Cash, 77c.

Barley—Cash, 60@83c.

Timothy—Cash, $8@9.25.

Clover—Cash, $10.18@13.50

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The Inter Ocean says: The wheat situation has reached a point where leading holders of cash wheat at terminal markets are indifferent about selling, have their wheat profitably hedged, they do not care to lose the carrying charges unless they are well paid. This condition has resulted in a strengthening of December, and a narrowing of the discount under May. In Chicago there developed a congested condition in December, owing to large holdings by commission houses, who have the wheat bought for long interests at much higher prices than the present level and are not disposed to take their losses. For this week it is anticipated by close observers of market conditions the action of values will be erratic. Eastern millers are picking up hard winter wheat in the southwest and shipping it by lake and rail through Chicago and Milwaukee to take advantage of low rates to the east and cheap storage in boats during the winter. This caused an advance of 2c to 4c in Kansas City, but this demand will be over in another week, which will necessitate the application of normal conditions and then most of the trade look for receding values. All estimates of a bumper corn crop have been confirmed by the official announcement of the preliminary estimate by the government of 3,122,000,000 bushels or 349,000,000 bushels more than last year and 194,000,000 bushels in excess of the record crop of 1906. A feature in the increase of 177,000,000 bushels in the surplus states as compared with last year and 118,000,000 bushels in the leading Southern States, giving the South, exclusive of Texas and Oklahoma, the largest crop in its history and one to thirty per cent over last year and apparently a surplus for the first time on record. This means that the commercial corn States who have heretofore supplied the South will have to look elsewhere for a market.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 14.—Broomhall says: The wheat market opened steady and ⅛d to ¼d lower, being influenced by the lower cables on Saturday, increasing local stocks here and the unexpected heavy world's shipments. Russia and the Danube shipped 9,996,000 bushels, against 7,876,000 bushels the previous week, and the amount on passage showing an increase of 1,800,000 bushels. The undertone, however, was steady in the face of these bearish influences and following the opening the market advanced ⅛d to ¼d. There was a good class of speculative support and some buying by La Plata houses here on the reports of rains in Northern Argentina. The continent continues to make good inquiry for both cargoes and parcels, notwithstanding reported liberal supplies. At midday the market was dull and the advance was lost and prices were unchanged from the opening and ⅜d to ⅝d lower than Saturday.

TORPID FEELING IN STOCK MARKET

Few Deals Feature Opening and Changes Made Are Small.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The opening dealings revealed a torpid feeling in the stock market. Only a few dealings were made and the changes were small. Prices were higher throughout, American Smelting rising 1 and Reading and Interborough-Metropolitan Preferred ⅝.

With only a slight decrease in the volume of business prices rose strongly, a score of stocks gaining a point or more. These included all of the recognized market leaders and a sprinkling of the less active issues. Delaware and Hudson and Colorado and Southern advanced 2 points and Union Pacific and American Smelting 1¼. Sears Roebuck dropped 4½.

The light demand which sufficed to advance prices pointed to the withdrawal of selling orders. Operations for the advance came from a few sources.

The Saturday bank statement was called favorable. Union Pacific and Reading took the leadership over United States Steel, with advances of 2¼ and 2⅝. Delaware and Hudson rose 4½. Canadian Pacific 1⅝, National Enameling 2 and Southern Pacific and Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 1⅝.

Bonds were firm.

The substantial gains made by all classes of stocks induced profit taking and there were recessions of ½ to a point. Business was light also on the decline. The market closed steady and dull.

The reactionary tendency of prices encountered resistance and the market came almost to a standstill. Dealings fell to a low ebb. Soo Line rose 2.

PRESIDENT GOMPERS READS REPORT AT BIG CONCLAVE

Federation of Labor Meets in Thirteenth Annual Convention and Interesting Statements Heard From Officers

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—The thirtieth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened here this morning. Twenty-two years ago the federation held its annual convention in this city before. The principal business of the day was the reading of the reports of President Gompers, Secretary Morrison and Treasurer John B. Lennon.

President Gompers' report was a review of the progress of the federation.

For the fiscal year ending September 30, 1910, there were issued by the American Federation of Labor 334 certificates of affiliation (charters) as follows: International unions 2, state federations 1, city central bodies 83, local trade unions 152, federal labor unions 96; total, 334.

At the close of the fiscal year there were affiliated to the federation: International unions 120, state federations 39, city central bodies 632, local trade unions 431, federal labor unions 216; total, 1438.

The international unions enumerated have approximately 28,000 local unions under their jurisdiction. Attention was called to this fact, so that the error into which many persons have fallen as to the make-up of the federation may be corrected. During the past year the affiliated international unions reported they had issued 2157 charters to local unions and thereby and by adhesion to existing locals have increased their membership for the year 218,229 members.

PRAISES UNIONISM.

Speaking on the subject of trades unionism, which he described to be as broad in its uses and influence as the steam engine or electric motor, President Gompers said:

"The spirit of combination in the wage-workers has as a motive power many points of resemblance to that of steam (or for that matter electricity) in the mechanical world. One of these points is that the machine to be moved must not be too big or too complex for the engine. Theorist social reformers beyond enumeration have in vain offered their utopian inventions to the masses because the latter, endowed with common sense, have, on due observation, refused to supply the needed wasteful power to make the invention go. If they had done so for a time, they could but have exhibited the folly of going to greater pains and troubles than the present social machinery requires. The history of the United tStates is plentifully illustrated with millennial experiments, illusory for the reason that their maintenance in some way overtaxed their supporters, accustomed to making progress in the freedom and opportunity of America even as it is.

"No other mechanism for carrying out the will of the wage-workers in the domain in which they can especially benefit themselves has equaled the trade union and the trade union movement in bringing desired results. No other has equally stood the test of time. No other has thrown anything like the light upon the state of mind of the masses with respect to their economic education. No other has been able to show how intensely practical the workingmen are—nor how devoted they can show themselves to a clearly defined principle, nor how ready they are to trust to their own leadership, nor how they invariably refuse, as a class, to embark in fiction born utopian ventures. The trade union has been broad enough for all practical purposes.

HAS SOUNDEST BASE.

"And yet trade unionism is the soundest base yet laid for every project that gives promise to the working class for a firm and solid advance. Moving step by step, trade unionism contains within itself, as a movement and as a mechanism, the possibilities for establishing whatever social institution the golden future shall develop for the workers as the predestined universal element to be in control of society."

The address discussed at length the strikes of the iron, steel and tin workers, ladies' garment workers, miners and others; contained a comprehensive summary of labor legislation by congress and of the litigation in the higher courts, in which the Federation is concerned; the status of bills governing the issuance of writs of injunction and the status of the case in which Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison are under sentences imposed by the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, for violating court injunctions and which has been carried on appeal to the United States supreme court.

Pending the filling of the vacancies on the bench of that august body, the pressing of the appeal has been deferred until a full bench can hear the argument and determine the principles involved. Says the address:

ORIGIN OF CASES.

"The origin of these cases was in the dispute between organized labor and the Buck's Stove and Range Company, which, under its old management and policy, sought the injunction and obtained the decree in the contempt proceedings. It is gratifying to report officially that the industrial dispute between organized labor and the Buck's Stove and Range Company was, in July last, adjusted upon mutually honorable terms. The decease of the president of the company, Mr. Van Cleave, gave the opportunity for the new manager of the company to carry out his lifelong policy of friendliness toward and co-operation with organized labor.

"And now the opportunity is afforded to disclose the correctness of the position which we took in the contempt proceedings; that is to say, the American Federation of Labor's representatives made earnest efforts to an honorable understanding and adjustment of the matters in dispute between the Buck's Stove and Range Company and organized labor before the company's products were placed on the "We Don't Patronize" list. The negotiations were conducted then, as they were later, by Vice-President Valentine, who being president of the International Molders' Union, was authorized to make, and did make, efforts to bring about an adjustment. At that time we were not warranted in making public the names of the men either directly or indirectly associated with the company through whom such efforts were made. Since labor's agreement of last July with the company we feel justified in stating that the efforts were made through Messrs. Hogan and Cribben, the then executive officers of the National Stove Founders' Defense Association, of which the Buck's Stove and Range Company was a member, and J. W. Gardner, the present chairman of the board of directors of the company. This fact disproves the position taken by Justice Wright when he declared that no such effort had been made by us."

"There are three suits for damages now pending in the federal courts under the Sherman Anti-Trust law:

"1. Loewe & Co. against the United Hatters of North America.

"2. A. Sitomer against the Shirt-Waist Workers and the Ladies' Garment Workers' Unions and others.

"3. C. W. Post against the officers of the American Federation of Labor, the officers of a number of affiliated organizations and the new management of the Buck's Stove Range Company."

DISCUSSES ANTI-TRUST LAW.

The address then discussed at length the effect of the application of the Sherman Anti-Trust law to labor.

"In New Orleans seventy-five workmen were indicted by the federal grand jury under the provisions of the Sherman Anti-Trust law, because the men authorized a strike in sympathy with fellow-workers engaged in a dispute with their employers.

"A few months ago six farmers in Kentucky were indicted, tried and convicted and sentenced to various forms of imprisonment under the provisions of the Sherman Anti-Trust law, their offense being that they had co-operated to obtain better prices for their product.

"Let any right-thinking, liberty-loving American read these cases and he will become convinced of the great injustice done to the workers by the interpretation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law. By that interpretation its provisions have been extended to the voluntary organizations of the working people, and by it the toilers are and may be mulcted in damages for the exercise of their personal endeavors to protect and promote their own interests. Further, by that interpretation, at the whim, fancy, or pique of a federal administration, its officers or subordinates may proceed criminally against the men of labor because of efforts they may make in furtherance of a fair standard of wages, hours and conditions of employment by withholding their labor power and their patronage."

CRITICISED PRESIDENT.

Gompers criticised President Taft severely for his attitude toward organized labor and his efforts to secure the passage by Congress of legislation unfriendly to it.

The extension of the eight-hour law, child labor, labor of convicts, immigration—general and Asiatic, Asiatic exclusion, employers' liability, the bill before Congress to create a department of labor, industrial education, second-class mail rates, insurance laws and trades unions, Oklahoma constitution, the constitutions of Arizona and New Mexico, the operation of the initiative, referendum and recall in Oregan, labor's practical political action, labor's rights and economic power, police oppression as illustrated in the "third degree," labor Sunday, vital statistics in which child labor particularly cuts a big figure and other subjects in which federated labor unions are more or less interested, concluded the address.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Secretary Morrison's report deals chiefly with the statistics relating to the membership of the federation and its growth from 1897 to 1910. During this period charters have been issued to 109 international organizations, 4 departments, 39 state, 1061 central bodies, 1903 local trades unions, and 1926 federal unions, making a grand total of 7175. During the year ending September 30, 1910, 2 international charters were issued, 1 state, 83 central, 96 federal unions, and 152 local trade unions, making a total of 334. Secretary Morrison says:

"Reports from the secretaries of 106 of our national and international organizations furnish us with the information that 2157 charters have been issued during the past year and 1550 surrendered—1384 of the charters surrendered were locals of the national and international unions and 166 affiliated direct with the American Federation of Labor.

"The gain in membership reported by the secretaries of 62 international organizations over the membership on the first of September last year is 218,221.

"Reports from 80 international organizations and from a number of local unions show that there were 827 strikes in which there were 341,415 involved. Of that number 302,996 were benefited and 12,309 not benefited. The total cost of the strikes reported on was $3,727,277.18. Adding to that amount the donations made by local unions to other unions, we have a grand total of $3,860,994 expended to sustain members on strike during the past year."

FEDERATION'S FINANCES.

During the year the various organizations in the federation have paid $1,320,-664.52 in death benefits; $52,192 for death benefits for members' wives; $719,466.66 for sick benefits; $42,999.55 for traveling benefits; $6945.51 for tool insurance and $197,808 for unemployed benefits.

The present paid-up membership of the American Federation of Labor is placed at 1,561,151.

Treasurer Lennon's report shows that the total receipts of the federation during the year was $358,774.30, expenses, $177,859.34, leaving in the treasury October 1 the sum of $180,914.66, and in the hands of the secretary $2000, or a total surplus of $182,914.66.

STEINDORFF BAND WILL FURNISH MUSIC

Noted Band Leader Arranges Elaborate Musical Program for Motor Car Show.

C J Heeseman of the Oakland automobile show committee announced yesterday that Paul Steindorff had made preparations to render one of the most elaborate programs he has ever undertaken with his big band during the week of the exposition of motor cars at Idora Park

Commencing next Saturday night his complete program includes ten selections each afternoon and ten each evening

Steindorff's band is unquestionably about the best organization of its kind west of the Rockies That the music to be rendered will be of the highest order goes without comment.

BUICK TROPHIES TO BE SHOWN.

Among the most interesting features of the Oakland automobile show will be a display of racing trophies by the Buick Auto Sales Company. These trophies have just been expressed out by the Buick factory expressly for display at the Oakland exposition, and while but a portion of those possessed by the Buick Company aggregate $50,000 in value.

Probably the most notable of these trophies is the famous G & J cup won by Louis Strang in the 100-mile free-for-all at the Indianapolis speedway. Strang made the distance in 92 minutes, 48½ seconds

Almost as distinguished is the Vesper trophy of solid sterling silver won by the Buick in the Cobe race There is included also the trophy won by Chevrolle in the Lowell road race, the first mile of which was made in 59 5-10 seconds from a standing start

Taken in combination with the trophies already won by the Howard Automobile Company in contests on this coast the total exhibit will include 73 pieces.

COMPLETE HUPP LINE AT SHOW.

The Oakland Hupp Motor Company has just been advised by the Hupp Motor Car Company that they have succeeded in shipping a full line of Hupmobiles on the special show train from Chicago for display at the Oakland Automobile show This shipment includes among others the torpedo body and four-passenger touring Hupmobiles The arrival of both these models is being awaited with great interest by the local automobile fraternity Even before announcement of either was made local auto experts, basing conclusions on the showing made last season by the Hupmobile roadsters, foresaw a great possibility for an enlarged Hupmobile line this season. This enlargement came in the coupe, torpedo body and four-passenger touring car.

PIONEER WILL HAVE BIG EXHIBIT.

Among the largest exhibitors at the Oakland Automobile Show at Idora Park will be the Pioneer Automobile Company, who have just been assigned a 1500-foot exhibiting space Because of the enviable line of cars sold by this company more than usual interest attaches to the announcement that theirs will be numbered with the displays at the Idora pavilion

The Pioneer concern handles one of the most comprehensive lines on the coast, from the moderately priced Hudson to the Lozier, which is the embodiment of highest automobile class Among the most interesting of the Pioneer exhibits will be the Hudson "33" This car is credited by Eastern authorities with having created a genuine revolution this season in the possibilities of the smaller-priced car Among the Hudson exhibits there will also be a roadster

The Chalmers will be another of the Pioneer displays to attract wide attention The genuine popularity of this car with the American public is established beyond a doubt Among the Chalmers "36" will be a pony tonneau runabout and a touring car The Chalmers 40 line will also be shown.

For elegance and spectacular effect the Lozier will be one of the show's strongest drawing cards Added to its undisputed beauty is the interest created by his car's sensational victories during the past three or four seasons in long-distance racing The Elgin and the 250-mile Atlanta races are among its victories this year In both cases new American records were established A 7-passenger touring car, a Briarcliff model and a Lakewood will constitute the Lozier exhibit

VENISON CHEAPER THAN BEEF MEAT

Vermont Students Wax Fat on Deer Killed in Hunting Season.

MONTPELIER, Vt, Nov 14—The students at Middlebury College Middlebury, Vt have been feasting on venison for the last week with prospects of continuing that diet for some days to come this in spite of the fact that the price of board at the college commons is $3 a week The explanation is that just at present Vermont venison is cheaper than Chicago beef

During the open season for deer hunting which closed last Saturday, the students devoted their leisure afternoons to hunting, and as a result the college ice house became well stocked with deer meat while the local market was overwhelmed.

During the hunting season when a college youth wishes to pay a graceful attention to some young woman he does not send flowers but trusses up a haunch of venison and presents it with his compliments

More than 3500 deer were killed according to the estimate of the fish and game commissioner, to whom report must be made of every killing, and to whom the head of the animal must be sent It is only in the last few years that Vermont has had any open season for deer hunting

Twenty-five years ago the deer had been so nearly exterminated by ruthless hunting that a twenty years' ban was placed on the sport Five years ago hunting was permitted again No serious inroads have as yet been made on the stock.

Timothy Kennedy, 1428 East Ninth street, East Oakland Cal, says: "I consider myself justified in vouching for the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills, as I derived great benefit from their use About two years ago I first took Doan's Kidney Pills and was relieved of pain in my back and other symptoms of disordered kidneys The pain in my loins was very annoying and I was also bothered by a too frequent desire to pass the kidney secretions Doan's Kidney Pills acted promptly and effectively and the use of a couple of boxes improved my condition in every way Some time ago I felt a slight recurrence of kidney trouble, but on that occasion I took Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon had the desired effect"
